TEN KNOWN TO BE DEAD, LOSS OVER A MILLION IN BIG GULF STORM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29 (via wireless steamships Excelsior and Creole)—Ten persons are known to have been killed and 150 injured and property loss exceeding a million dollars caused by the destructive West Indian hurricane which struck this city at 6 o'clock tonight. At intervals a terrific gale swept through the city at a velocity of 120 to 130 miles an hour, according to the figures of the local Weather Bureau and the average prevailing velocity between 5:30 and 7 p.m. was in excess of eighty miles an hour.

Many schools and churches have been damaged. The Masonic Temple is a partial wreck, the roof of the tower having collapsed. More than 8000 telephones are out of order.

Owing to precautions taken on receipt of warnings yesterday, damage to shipping was slight, except to small craft. The downtown hotels and public buildings were filled with residents seeking refuge from the gale, who were marooned there throughout the night.

At 9:30 o'clock the hurricane had subsided.

JACKSON (Miss.) Sept. 29.—Dispatches from McComb City (Miss.,) at 11 o'clock tonight reported a fifty-mile wind and a heavy storm sweeping over that section.

MOBILE (Ala.) Sept. 30.—A wireless dispatch received here early today from the steamship Creole at New Orleans said that both sides of the Mississippi River had overflowed south of that city as a result of yesterday's West Indian hurricane. No details were given but it was feared that there had been loss of life.

GALVESTON (Tex.) Sept. 29.—After being held in port seven days on account of the uncertain path of the West Indian hurricane which today struck the Louisiana coast, the United States Army transport Buford, with the Twenty-seventh Infantry on board sailed today for Manila via the Panama Canal.

HOUSTON (Tex.) Sept. 30.—At an early hour today no information had been received here of the whereabouts of the Sunset Limited, the Southern Pacific's fast California train, which left New Orleans at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and was due here tonight.

The Galveston station of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company received the following message tonight from the Morgan Liner Comus at New Orleans:

OBREGON HAS COMMAND OF VILLA RAILWAY LINES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 29.—The occupation of Torreon by Carranza forces under Gen. Obregon gives command of the southmost end of the main line of the Villa railways to Jaurez and of the line running to Durango City. It brings with it the task of feeding a civil population of about 25,000 which has been subsisting on practically starvation rations for more than a month. Telegraph communication between Torreon and Juarez was cut tonight.

The occupation comes at a time when the huge cotton crop of the Laguna district is ready for harvest.

Although the crop is reported to be only 25 per cent. of normal it is estimated at a value of $11,000,000. With the unusual export war tax the financial benefit to the Carranza government of the occupation of Torreon through the control of transportation via Monterey to the border at Laredo is of some magnitude. In the last days of the Villa government occupation the war tax on cotton shipments was $1000 per carload and $15 per bale on less than carload lots. Most of the large foreign cotton shippers refused to pay these rates and delayed harvesting. Thirteen carloads, however, reached Juarez last week assigned to a representative of the Villa government.

The command of Gen. Raoul Madero, scattered after the defeat of that general in his attack on Monterey, is reported making its way to the Sierra Mojada, from which point it expects to connect with the main line railroad at Escalon, about seventy-five miles north of Torreon. Unless the retreating Villa troops have destroyed the railroad they will be cut off by the advance of Obregon's men at Chihuahua City, 220 miles north of Torreon.

CANAL TO REOPEN SHORTLY.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.] (30)

PANAMA, Sept. 29.—The Panama Canal will be reopened to traffic Oct. 9. This announcement was made today by Lieut.-Col. Chester Harding, engineer of maintenance.

Col. Harding said it had been planned to open the waterway October 1, but that there had been another earth movement which made a postponement necessary.

There are now sixty-four ships waiting to pass through the canal and, counting those now on the way to each end of the waterway, there probably will be one hundred vessels in the Panama waters by October 5.

Every effort is being made to remove all traces of the slide in the canal. The dredges yesterday took out 45,000 yards of mud and

Radio Voice Across the Continent.

Still Further Developments Predicted by the Secretary of Navy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Wireless telephone communication across the continent was accomplished for the first time today when experiments extending over several months culminated in successful transmission of the human voice by radio from the great naval plant at Arlington, Va., to the station at Mare Island, Cal., 2500 miles away.

The experiments were conducted under the direction of Capt. Bullard, chief of the navy's radio service, in co-operation with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company.

Secretary Daniels in announcing the result today, predicted that further development of wireless telephony would make great changes in long-distance communication both for military and naval service and in commercial usage.

Successful operation of a device for automatically transferring to the radio telephone conversations originating on metallic circuits also was accomplished in today's tests. President Theodore N. Vail and other officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at New York talked easily with the Mare Island station, the conversation traveling over an ordinary metallic line from New York to Arlington and thence by radio across the continent.

"The fact that the voices can be started on a land wire and automatically transmitted to a voice radio transmitter," said Secretary Daniels, "holds out hope that persons inland readily could be put in touch by telephone with others at sea through some central transmiting station."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT.

"Secretary Daniels is pleased to announce the successful outcome of experiments which have been carried on for the last few months by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Western Electric Company in co-operation with radio stations under jurisdiction of the Navy Department by which long-distance wireless telephony has been made possible.

"Today, September 29, speech successfully was transmitted from the Arlington radio station to the radio station at Mare Island, Cal., and there successfully received, thus making possible conversation without wires over a distance of approximately 2500 miles, the first time this great distance has been covered by wireless telephony.

"In the first experiments today the voice was successfully transmitted by radio to Mare Island from Arlington, the return answers and communications being made over the transcontinental 'and telephone line.

"This was accomplished successfully in the presence of officials and engineers of the Western Electric Company, a representative of the Signal Corps of the army, representatives of the technical and operating departments of the Navy Department, and a few other interested parties.

"After this successful demonstration conversation originating in New York was transmitted over the land line to Arlington, there automatically connected to the radio transmitter which carried the voice to Mare Island, where it was clearly and distinctly received, and answers and other conversations were from there transmitted over the transcontinental line to the originating office in New York.

"The conversation was carried on by the president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Mr. Vail; the vice-president, Mr. Bethel, and Mr. Walterbury, one of the directors, while at Mare Island were officials of the Navy Department. Mr. John C. Carty, chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and representatives of the Western Electric Company.

"Every official taking part in this demonstration is enthusiastic about the results and the possibility of developing this system as an extension of the telephone system to the ships at sea.

"The use of such long-distance wireless telephone communication in naval or military operations is still in an undeveloped state, but it is said valuable use can be made of this wonderful demonstration, but aside from such considerations, the department and its officials may well feel proud that they have been interested co-operators in the first practical demonstration of this latest march in the wonderful science of radio communication."

BRINGS SUIT FOR MILLIONS.

FORMER ROCK ISLAND MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FRAUD.

Receiver Dickinson in Petition, Says Reid, Moore and Others Conspired to Secure $7,500,000 from the Railroad, Giving Security They Knew was Insufficient.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Jacob M. Dickinson, receiver of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company, today brought suit in the Supreme Court here to recover $7,500,000 from the directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company.

The $7,500,000 is alleged to have been unlawfully diverted from the funds of the railway company to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company in connection with loan transactions involving stock of the "Frisco" lines.

The defendants named are Daniel G. Reid, William H. Moore, Richard A. Jackson, Francis L. Hine, William T. Graham, Ogden Mills, Edward S. Moore, Henry U. Mudge and the executors of George G. McMurty, deceased.

The complaint sets forth that in December, 1909, Benjamin F. Youkum, head of the St. Louis & San Francisco system, purchased from the Chicago & Rock Island Railroad Company 289,402 shares of Frisco stock for $10,852,612. This stock the railroad company had previously pledged as security against its own bonds issued in part payment for the stock when it was originally purchased by the railroad company from the Frisco company.

In order to redeem these bonds, so as to release the stock, the company was obliged, it is alleged, to put up the total sum of $18,167,272, representing the total issue of the bonds. It was therefore necessary to procure practically $7,500,000 in cash. In order to do this, the complaint alleges, the defendants as directors in both companies "unlawfully, without authority and in violation of the rights and interests of the railway company and of its creditors and stockholders" caused the railway company to loan the required sum to the railroad company. As security for the loan, it is alleged that the defendants caused the railway company to accept unsecured debentures of the railroad company which they knew were "worthless and of no value and that the same did not afford proper or adequate security for the repayment to the railway company of the money diverted from its resources as aforesaid."

The transaction is described in the complaint "as a fraud upon the railway company, its stockholders and creditors and upon the public."

Messrs. Moore and Reid and William B. Leeds, the latter deceased, are described in the preliminary matter of the complaint as having "combined, agreed and conspired" in 1902 to secure control of the railway company and its assets "to further the personal and selfish interests of themselves and of such persons as should, from time to time, become parties to such conspiracy."

NEW DIRECTORS.

The two stockholders' protective committees engaged in the reorganization of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company have agreed, it was announced in their behalf tonight, on a common slate for the seven vacancies in the directorate of the road to be filled at the annual stockholders' meeting on October 14.

The candidates are: Edward D. Hulbert, president Merchants' Loan and Savings Bank, Chicago; Charles G. Dawes, president Central Trust Company, Chicago; John G. Shedd of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago; John R. Morron, president Atlas Portland Cement Company, New York; Judge Nathaniel French, Davenport, Iowa; William B. Thompson, director Federal Reserve Bank, New York City, and Joel W. Burdick, president of the West Penn Steel Company, Pittsburgh.

Wonderful Scenes Enacted when the Soldiers, Tired of Their Long Wait and Idleness, Leaped Forward from Their Shelters to Grapple with the Enemy—British Tear Through Withering Fire.

BY GUGLIELMO MARCONI.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Mr. Marconi, the inventor of wireless telegraphy, a lieutenant in the Italian army, has just returned to London from a five weeks' sojourn in the French and British lines. For six days Mr. Marconi was eyewitness of the offensive now under way in France and which has forced back the German lines.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The armies of French and Joffre are making a veritable hell for the Germans. The onslaught of the allies' guns has been terrific.

I agree with Lord Kitchener that the Germans have shot their bolt. The events of last week show beyond doubt that the allies are now able to take the offensive with every sign pointing to the ultimate victory of their arms. After all these long weeks of living in the trenches while the Germans have gradually driven their way into Russia, the reverse in the allies' favor in the west is inspiring to every one who is hopeful of Germany being crushed. The spirit of the allies to beat the enemy was brilliantly reflected in the momentous charge that began the morning of September 25. The advance is still on; and from the way it was going when I left the lines yesterday it is pretty sure to keep up. One might say the allies have the Germans on the run.

And it is well to reflect that while the British and French are pushing the Germans out of France their big ally, Russia, now appears not only to have stopped the German advance in the east, but is regaining lost territory. It all augurs for the ultimate success of the arms of all the allies.

I went to the British-French lines to inspect the operation of wireless outfits, and while I was nearing the completion of this work came the dash of the allies upon the German trenches. I was in the battle zone when the advance started.

TENSE FEELING IN CAMP OF ALLIES.

There was a tense feeling in camp the night before the British-French attack. Whispered word went around that soon the time was arriving when the allies, tired of waiting in the trenches, were to spring at the enemy. While the soldiers did not know exactly when the dash would happen, they were on the keen edge of expectancy, convinced that it was only a matter of a few days or even hours.

Just after daybreak came the order of "forward." The effect on the men was electric. While the soldiers, with faces eager for the fray, jumped from the trenches, the great guns in the rear began belching out a rain of shells. Soon the roar was taken up by smaller guns, until the air was simply filled with smoking, screeching shells driving deadly fire straight into the German trenches. I want to say that the aim of the British and French gunners was magnificent. They hit exactly where they wanted to and with telling effect. The German trenches were literally blown to bits.

While this inferno was going on the British and French soldiers, under command of cool and courageous officers, were tearing their way through the barbed wire entanglements and making for the trenches from which the Germans were trying to scramble. The attack so surprised the Germans that

BRITISH RECKLESS IN CHARGE UPON GERMAN ENTRENCHMENTS

BY PHILLIP GIBBS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRITISH HEADUARTERS, France Tuesday, Sept. 28.—I am now able to write a straight, clear story, with many interesting details, of the fighting which began Saturday morning last and still continues on the same ground. For some time it was practically impossible to get anything like a connected narrative, as divisions, brigades and battalions disappeared into the deep smoke and could only send back disconnected messages telling how the day was going, how severe was the ordeal and how great the success. Now, however, that the first rush is over, there is time to tell the story of one of the greatest achievements gained by British troops in this war.

NEW MEN FIGHT WELL.

There were many battalions of the new army men among those who led the Scottish regiments, who had their full share of honors in the first assault. Many of them, though belonging to regiments with famous old traditions that have already won glory on the western front, were recruits but hardly arrived in Flanders. These splendid boys listened through the night of Friday last to the intense bombardment which preceded the assault that in itself was a tremendous test of nerve, but at 6:30 a.m., Saturday when their officers gave the word the battalions leaped out of their trenches with a wild hurrah.

BARBED WIRE NO BARRIER.

They reached the enemy's lines of trenches without suffering many casualties and found the first two lines of barbed wire had been effectually broken down by the artillery bombardment. The third line was uncut and was very strong wire, with great barbs.

The first two trenches were carried with a rush at the bayonet point, a large number of Germans being killed. The uncut wire made the first check, but the British, reckless of their lives, attacked it desperately. They stood up under the deadly fire of machine guns and forced a way through the entanglements.

One of the most extraordinary incidents among the grim scenes which took place in the smoke and mist came when a company of Kilties advancing at the charge came face to face with a very tall German who although dead with a bullet through the brain, stood erect, wedged in some way in the trench. It was so startling and uncanny that with one accord the wave of men parted and swept on each side of him as though some obscure spectre barred the way.

Rank after rank streamed up and at last the great tide of men poured through and swarmed forward to the village, and then three-quarters of a mile further on. As they ran, shouting hoarsely, they were faced by fire from an enormous number of machine guns, and from every part of the village there came the steady rattle of these weapons pouring out streams of lead.

MACHINE GUNS EVERYWHERE.

There were machine guns in the

FRENCH IN DESPERATE CHARGE TO TAKE RAILWAY OF GERMANS

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The allies' great offensive in Artois and the Champagne is still being persevered in, and, according to French accounts which, however, are contradicted by the German official reports, further progress has been made in both areas.

In Artois the French claim to have reached Hill 140, which lies directly east of Vimy and is the culminating point of the crests named after that town. The importance of the hill lies in the fact that it commands the plains to the east, the network of roads and the railway which runs from Lens southward.

So far as Champagne is concerned, the French appear at present to be making their chief effort toward the railroad junction north of Massiges, which accounts for the desperate efforts of the Germans to stem the tide and for the Crown Prince's counter-stroke in the Argonne, as this railway connects the German army in the Argonne with its base at Vouziers.

AT LA BASSEE CANAL.

Perhaps the heaviest fighting since the offensive began now is going on, for the British are attacking the German third line of defense south of La Bassee Canal, and the Germans have brought up reinforcements against both the British and the French, and are making every effort to retrieve the lost ground. Belgium, dispatches from Holland say, has been denuded of troops, while German detachments are even being removed from the eastern front to meet what is now known to be the greatest effort made in the west since the armies took up their present position from Belgium to Switzerland.

The Germans are trying to divert the allies by a heavy artillery bombardment north and south of the Aisne, but plans having been made by Gen. Joffre, the French are striking with all the forces at their command at the points selected. It is reported that the German Emperor has arrived at the western front and that he has already dismissed some of his generals for allowing their lines to be pressed back to almost the breaking point.

Despite the transfer of some troops to the west, the Germans continue to strike hard at the Russians practically all along their front. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is delivering heavy strokes against Dvinsk, while his colleague on his right is pushing forward to the east of Vilieka and Molodechno in an attempt to turn the Russian position, and has now reached a point to the north of Minsk, which another army is advancing on from the southwest.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen and Prince Leopold of Bavaria apparently are inactive, owing doubtless to the marshes, which are now impassable, but Gen. Von Linsingen is still pressing hard on the Russians in Volhynia.

It is expected that the weather will

Captured Trooper Mutilated, Tortured by Mexicans Across Border.

Member of Attacking Party Makes Affidavit as to What Occurred to Capt. McCoy—Sequel to Progreso Fight Comes to Light in Grewsome Story Told American Officer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 29.—The Carranza commander as Las Pelados, Mex., headed the attacking party of Mexicans who crossed the border last Friday night and in a fight with American soldiers captured Trooper Richard J. Johnson, whom they then shot and mutilated by taking his head and ears for souvenirs, it was reported today to the southern department headquarters by Capt. Frank R. McCoy.

Guadalupe Cuellar, a Mexican, who said he was one of the attacking party, gave the details of the fight to Capt. McCoy in a sworn statement.

Cuellar was arrested several days ago by civil authorities and is held in connection with the investigation of the Progreso fight, during which Johnson disappeared. Unconfirmed reports said Cuellar had made a complete confession to the Sheriff's office, but until Capt. McCoy's report, made public at army headquarters here today, there was no verification. Johnson's body has not been recovered.

Capt. McCoy, who commands the border subdistrict of Mission, summarized the affidavit of Cuellar as follows:

"Under command of the Carranza officer stationed at Las Pelados with his troop, recently arrived from Matamoros, a crossing was made during the night in their boats. The detachment of American solodiers at the crossing was shot upon and overpowered. Presumably Richard Johnson was made a prisoner and taken across to the Mexican side, where he was, without provocation, shot five times, his ears and head being cut off and carried away as souvenirs, and the remains thrown into the Rio Grande.

"The horses and arms captured from the American detachment were taken across and held in the cuartel of the Carranza soldiers at Las Pelados, which is only a quarter of a mile from the crossing and scene of the fight."

Unconfirmed reports have told of the parading of the head of the American soldier, stuck on a pole, through the small villages on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. Johnson's home was in Mount Morris, N. Y. He was 21 years old.

MEXICANS AGAIN FIRE ON AMERICAN CAVALRYMEN.

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Sept. 29.—Three shots were fired today at a patrol of twenty American cavalrymen near La Feria pumping plant, about twenty-five miles up the Rio Grande.

Two shots came from the Mexican side of the river and the other from someone hidden in the brush on the American side. The troops saw no one, but fired about sixty shots in an effort to beat up the brush in the direction of the concealed "snipers" in an unsuccessful effort to see whether Mexicans were gathering for an attack.

La Feria pumping station is just below the lower end of the zone where the presence of 500 Mexicans, gathering with apparently hostile intentions toward the American border, was reported yesterday.

A party in four automobiles was fired on twice near Mercedes last night. Capt. Garrison McCaskey of the Twenty-sixth Infantry at Mercedes sent out a detachment to investigate the shooting, but they found no clews.

Evidence that Mexicans who are said to be planning to make an independent republic of South Texas have taken a more complete organization than when the outbreaks began two months ago, came to the notice of army officers here today. The Mexican spy service is said to have caused American troops considerable trouble, especially in the cutting of army telephone lines just before raids and, as a result, requests have been made for five or six sets of field wireless outfits.

Col. Robert L. Bullard, in command of the infantry patrol work, and Col. A. P. Blocksom, commanding the cavalry patrols, have issued orders tending to concentrate larger bodies of troops than heretofore at points whence reinforcements can be distributed speedily. A bag of about 200 rounds of ammunition, dropped by the Mexicans in the Progreso fight, with noses of each bullet cross-filed so as to make them "dumdum" missiles, has been delivered to Col. Bullard.

Maj. Edward Anderson of the Twelfth Cavalry, whose troops are doing most of the patrol work in the Progreso section, where the presence of 500 Mexicans on the Mexican side of the river has been reported, has arranged for every available river point to be visited by cavalrymen eight times each twenty-four hours. In order to hamper the work of Mexican spies, periods when these patrols go out are never consecutively at the same hour.

for a moment they seemed confounded by it. But, after leaping from their trenches their officers checked the panic, and the Germans tried to make a stand for their lives. They turned their heavy guns upon the onrushing allies, plowing into the very heart of the attacking force. For just one instant the allies' lines trembled under the deluge of iron; then, with their artillery roaring behind, they pushed on up to the muzzles of the guns. Brave men were mowed down in the ranks of the allies in this amazing onslaught, but the loss to the Germans was infinitely worse. The British and French soldiers pushed ahead in face of a blistering, withering fire until they reached the trenches, where they used their bayonets on the enemy. This hand-to-hand attack was too much for the Germans, who were forced to draw back to save themselves from utter destruction.

ALLIES PUSH ADVANTAGE.

When the allies saw the enemy retiring, they went at the fight with fresh energy. While the German guns poured out a hurricane of shells and the aircraft rained down bombs, the allies with sublime heroism pursued the attack until the Germans were chased clear out of their trenches, and forced to retreat away beyond them.

In the early period of the war and up to only a short time ago it was apparent the allies were not fully equipped with munitions. This advance in the western theater has proved that, whatever lack there was before, it no longer exists. It may be taken as assured that the allies have enough shells and heavy guns now to maintain their offensive. One cannot say that the supply is inexhaustible, for nothing is inexhaustible; but they have all they need. If they hadn't they never could have routed the Germans from the trenches, where the Kaiser's men thought themselves snugly secure to the end of the war. The latest guns of the allies are more powerful than before, and they have shells enough to keep them going night and day without a let-up. Doom has sounded for the Germans.

With a staff officer of the Italian army, I climbed a tree one day of the fighting and witnessed the efforts of the German aircraft to fight off the French and British aeroplanes, which were dropping bombs upon the German lines.

THRILLING AIRCRAFT BATTLE.

It was a thrilling spectacle to see that air fight while the German and allied guns engaged in their terrific duel below. The allies showed themselves to be superior with aircraft. While the Germans managed to drop some bombs on the British and French fighters, the allies' aircraft chased them away and kept the supremacy of the air while their men afield drove the Germans to retreat.

The wireless apparatus is now working perfectly in the field.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—Eben Takashi Takamine, a Japanese chemist, and Miss Ethel Johnson, daughter of an English clergyman, were married today at the Hotel Vanderbilt. Mr. Takamine is 26 and lives at No. 334 Riverside Drive. He was graduated from Yale in 1912, after which he studied abroad for a year. He is connected with the Takamine Laboratory, Inc., as chemist and biologist.

"Before you fell in love with Mr. Takamine did you have any pronounced views on the question of inter-racial alliances?" Miss Johnson was asked.

"Yes, perhaps I did," the bride-to-be answered, after a moment's hesitation.

"Were these views shattered or strengthened?"

"Why, of course they were strengthened or I would not be marrying a Nipponese," she answered.

"But do you mean alliances between Americans and Asiatics," she asked of her interrogator. "Because if you do I must say that I do not consider the Japanese people Asiatics."

"Why?"

"Because, don't you understand? They are so far advanced in every way over the other races in Asia, you know. I don't believe I would have considered a Chinaman," she said with a laugh.

"Western theater: The enemy's attempts to break through our lines continued with bitterness in the present region of attacks. A counter-attack, following another fruitless British attack, led to the recapturing of part of the territory we abandoned north of Loos.

"A fierce British attack from the region of Loos broke down with heavy losses.

"Repeated and stubborn French attacks in the region of Souchez and Neuville were partly repulsed by strong counter-attacks.

"In Champagne also all attempts of the enemy to break through our lines were unsuccessful. The only result has been that the enemy has not yet been driven out of our trenches again northwest of Souchez, extending over a distance of 100 meters.

"Constantly advancing waves of French attacking troops broke down before the inflexible resistance.

"The heavy losses which the enemy incurred during often-repeated storm attacks against the hills at Massiges were in vain. The hills have been maintained by our troops without a break. Attempts of the French to recapture trenches which they lost at La Fille Morte failed. The number of prisoners has been increased."

THE PARIS REPORT.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Continuous fighting has been in progress all day on the heights between Souchez and Vimy, where the allied forces have maintained all their positions, according to the official communication issued by the French War Office tonight.

The text of the statement follows:

"Throughout the day the battles have continued on the heights between Souchez and Vimy; we have maintained all the new positions conquered.

"In Champagne the struggle still is violent before the positions to which the enemy has fallen back, as well as for the reduction of a salient to the north of Mesnil, where parties of Germans still hold out.

"We have made progress on the Tahure Hill and in the neighborhood of the village and also to the north of Massiges.

"A bombardment, quite intense on both sides, has occurred in the forest of LePretre and in the forest of Apremont."

ON TO BERLIN, SAYS MACKENZIE.

ATHENS, Sept. 29 (via Paris.)—"I believe we are on the eve of the most important operation of the war, namely the landing of troops in Macedonia to begin the march not so much on Constantinople as on Berlin," said an officer attached to the General Staff of the British army on the Gallipoli Peninsula who has come to Athens from the Dardanelles front.

"The two offensive forces are gradually closing in. The Mesopotamia expedition is approaching nearer to Bagdad, and from the Suvla Bay-Gaba Tepe line an attack on Constantinople may begin at any moment."

The officer who gave expression to these ideas is Compton Mackenzie, who is attached to the intelligence department of the General Staff at the Dardanelles. He reached Athens yesterday from the front. Commenting on the situation further, Capt. Mackenzie said:

"It is my opinion that the co-operation of Greece with the allies will begin the last chapter of the war. One more gap in the iron ring around Austria and Germany is being closed. The final victory will be fought out on the plains of Hungary. The way to Berlin lies through Budapest and Breslau."

TRANSPORT SUNK BY MOHAMMEDAN.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 (via Sayville.)—The sinking of a British transport, with the loss of all but a few members of the crew, is reported in a dispatch from Constantinople to the Overseas News Agency.

"A special dispatch from Constantinople gives reports about Mohammedan troubles in India," says the news agency. "It says that a British transport was sunk by a Mohammedan engineer, who died with the troops. Only a few members of the crew escaped."

This is the second report of the sinking of a British transport with Indian troops. An Athens dispatch earlier today said that the Ramazan had been sunk by a submarine. It is possible that the two dispatches are different versions of the same incident.

ITALIANS LOSE A BATTLESHIP.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A dispatch from the Stefani News Agency of Rome says that the Italian battleship Benedetto Brin sank, following an explosion which resulted from the fire on board the vessel. The cause of the disaster has not been ascertained.

The announcement last night of the explosion on the Benedetto Brin did not make it clear whether the vessel had gone down. It was said eight officers and 279 marines had been saved. Something over 500 men are still unaccounted for.

FIXING DETAILS OF THE LOAN.

Entire Programme may be Made Public Today.

Sixty Per Cent. of Money to Come from New York.

Western Banks Only Lukewarm Over the Deal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Representatives of many banking and investment houses met today to formulate a definite programme for placing on the American market the $500,000,000 joint Anglo-French five-year bonds, soon to be issued to secure the credit loan to Great Britain and France. Such rapid progress was made during their meeting that the entire programme probably will be in shape to make public tomorrow.

Undetermined details concern chiefly the minimum subscriptions to be fixed for individuals, who desired to purchase large blocks of the bonds at 96, the price to the syndicate; the method of marketing the bonds; the date on which they will be offered; their listing on the stock exchange; the life of the syndicate and the terms to be offered purchasers who wish to pay by installments. Upon none of these points, it was said, had a final decision been reached.

Fully 60 per cent. of the issue, in the opinion of the president of one of the largest banks here, will be subscribed in New York City alone. This would leave $200,000,000 to be placed elsewhere. He thought that this could be readily done; although, in his opinion bankers in Chicago and other Middle Western cities would not subscribe heavily if at all.

In Chicago, he said, many bankers who otherwise would subscribe might be prevented from doing so by the large pro-German element among their depositors. Opposition had developed there, he said, on the part of certain large manufacturing interests also.

WHERE BONDS WILL BE SOLD.

The chief cities in which the issue will be marketed are Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Atlanta, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Denver and Louisville. Other cities, it was said, probably will be announced as participants within a few days. In each of the cities named, it is understood, a local syndicate has been formed or is in formation to conduct the sale of the bonds in its territory.

It was announced that any bank in any section of the country might join the syndicate.

A partial list of banks, trust companies and financial houses in New York City that will participate as syndicate managers for New York in the loan was made public tonight. These include thirteen of the largest national banks, a large number of trust companies and twenty-eight financial houses, which include August Belmont & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., Ladenburg, Thallman & Co., William Solomon & Co., J. & W. Seligman, Kountze Bros., Hallgarten & Co., Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co.

CANADA TO BENEFIT.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Sept. 29.—Minister of Finance White, discussing the allies' $500,000,000 loan in the United States, stated today that although the money probably would all be spent there, it would be of indirect advantage to Canada by reason of the beneficial effect on sterling exchange.

"New York is Canada's international exchange center," said Mr. White, "and any improvement in sterling exchange rates will benefit Canada as well as the United States."

Island and Arlington, Va., expressions of surprise were heard in every quarter. Some were a bit incredulous, others were bewildered. No item of its kind since the inauguration of wireless telegraphy has been received here.

Charles F. Mason, division commercial superintendent of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, said his office was besieged with inquirers who wanted to know about rates, how long it will be until there will be wireless telephonic communication with the war trenches, etc. Such questions cannot be answered until definite advices are received from the New York headquarters.

Mr. Mason declared that yesterday's test was merely the first step in the completion of one of the greatest inventions in history.

"Knowing Chief Engineer Carty personally and knowing something of his ability I would say that the present achievement is only the beginning," he said. "There are more than 500 experts working in the research department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and they will not stop until the new system is in a high state of perfection."

BAN UNIONISTS IN THE SCHOOLS.

CHICAGO TRUSTEES DEFY THE PROFESSIONAL AGITATOR.

Majority of Board Decides Teachers and Employees Cannot Belong to Organizations Which Employ Walking Delegates—Declared Detrimental to Efficiency.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—Union labor was put under the ban of the Board of Education at the board's meeting today, to the extent of its employment in the education department.

Trustee Loeb, author of the original anti-union rule adopted on September 1, and which was tied up by an injunction order issued by Judge John M. O'Connor, offered an amendment to the rule which is intended to meet some of the objections found by the court, and by a bare majority of the board the amendment was adopted.

By the terms of the amendment, membership by teachers in labor unions or in organizations of teachers affiliated with trade unions is prohibited. Also "membership in some teachers' organizations which have officers, business agents or other representatives who are not members of the teaching force," is to be prohibited if the board hereafter shall decide that such organizations are inimical to the discipline and detrimental to efficiency.

It is believed by the trustees who supported the amendment that its phraseology eliminates the National Educational Association, the State Teachers' Association and the Teachers' Pension Fund from the operation of the rule.

On the other hand, it was stated explicitly by Trustee Loeb and others that the amended rule would apply to the union labor teachers in trade schools, and, it is the understanding, too, it will apply to the Federation of Men's Teachers and to the Women's High Teachers' Federation, which joined recently in criticising the board for adopting the original rule.

By openly interpreting the rule to apply to the teachers in the trade schools who are members of unions, it is said the board has challenged all organized labor to a battle.

ORE THIEF PLEADS GUILTY.

NEVADA CITY (Cal.) Sept. 29.—Andrew H. Coggins pleaded guilty today in the Superior Court here to stealing ore, estimated to be worth $40,000 from the Empire mine at Grass Valley, and was sentenced to serve four years in the State penitentiary at San Quentin. The case against Archibald Boom, of Sacramento, Coggins's brother-in-law, was dismissed. The stolen ore was recovered by the company.

GREAT BRITAIN'S DRIFT TO PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 5:30 p.m.—The House of Commons today approved resolutions fixing the import duties on tea, coffee, cocoa, sugar and dried fruits at the higher rates proposed in the budget of Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Currants are excluded from the dried fruits schedule, the government having discovered the existence of a treaty with Greece which necessitated a year's notice before the duty can be increased.

Mr. McKenna announced in the House of Commons yesterday that he would propose exemption from the import duties on motor cars of all motor lorries and vans to be used exclusively for trade purposes and also of chassis and parts thereof to be so used.

After a discussion on the import duties levied by the new budget, during which the free traders charged the Liberal members of the government with going back on the principles of their party and with having been influenced by the tariff reformers in the Cabinet, Andrew Bonar Law, the Secretary for the Colonies, said that he and his Unionist colleagues had not known the intentions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer until Mr. McKenna informed the Cabinet of the details of his budget and that the taxes imposed in abnormal times would not have any effect on the tariff controversy when the war ended.

Josiah Wedgwood, Liberal and single taxer, protested against the duty on motor cars. He declared that nothing so helped to economize labor as the importation of cars from America.

Chancellor McKenna replied that the times were abnormal and it was obligatory to lessen unnecessary imports in order to secure a readjustment of the unfavorable exchange. However, in deference to the views of experts, he proposed to exempt lorries and vans used exclusively for trade purposes, their parts and all motor tires for the new duties.

BRITISH WIN BIG VICTORY; TURKS FLEE TO BAGDAD.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The British won an important success in Mesopotamia. The Turks are in full retreat toward Bagdad. The British are pursuing the retreating Turks.

Announcement to this effect was made in the House of Commons today by Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for India. Mr. Chamberlain read telegrams from Gen. Nixon, commanding the forces in Mesopotamia, relating the outcome of the recent fighting.

Gen. Nixon reported that one position carried by the British constituted a long line of defenses astride the Tigris River. At a point seven miles east of Kut two brigades crossed the river from the right bank and by a forced march reached the left wing of the Turkish position, carrying it by assault. By nightfall the whole position had been carried.

The Turkish losses in dead are described as very severe. The Turks clung to their trenches with the greatest tenacity, and they were filled with corpses when the British finally carried them. A number of guns, many rifles, several hundred prisoners and a quantity of ammunition were captured. Gen. Nixon gives the British casualties as "under 500."

A second dispatch from Gen. Nixon says:

"The enemy's position in advance of Kut-el-Amara was captured with many prisoners and guns. The enemy is in full flight toward Bagdad. Our forces are pushing in pursuit. Details will follow."

TO SEND VOICE ACROSS OCEAN.

Only Matter of Rigging up Gear, He Declares.

Passengers on Steamers May Call up Their Homes.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO (Cal.) Sept. 29.—"The problem of trans-oceanic telephone communication has been solved," was the first comment made by Chief Engineer John J. Carty of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company as he stood in the wireless tower at the Mare Island Navy Yard and recognized the voice of Theodore N. Vail, president of the company, who was speaking in New York and whose voice had been carried through the ether for a distance of approximately 2500 miles.

Standing beside Carty were officials of the Navy Department and civilian electrical engineers and in the discussion that followed the successful demonstration of a new scientific conquest, the statement was made that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had long ago established wireless telephone communication between Washington, D. C., and the Panama Canal, but that public announcement had been withheld until the greater goal had been reached.

The achievement of wireless transcontinental telephony, Carty pointed out, means that the telephone will bridge the oceans; that the day is near when it will be as easy to talk from San Francisco to London and Paris as it is today to talk over the wire from San Francisco to New York; that passengers on ships will be able to call up central and talk to their friends ashore.

The biggest thing about the achievement, Carty declared, was that it demonstrated the successful solution of what has been a baffling problem—a perfect connection between telephone wire and the wireless ether.

ACT FIRST, THEN TALK.

"We established successful wireless telephone communication between Washington and Panama August 27 of this year," said Mr. Carty. "Our objective from the start was Washington to San Francisco. President Vail would not permit us to make public the success of our Panama experiment. 'Get what you're after first,' he said, 'and do the talking afterwards.'

"From Washington to Panama is about 2100 miles and a much simpler proposition topographically than across the continent. We have now done that and to talk across the Atlantic is only a matter of putting up the necessary gear.

"There has been a lot of talk about the wireless telephone and we started out to learn its limitations and its possibilities. As an extension of the regular wire system the field for the wireless telephone is restricted.

"At certain times of the year, particularly in the summer, static conditions will make its use uncertain. Static interference is something we know very little about and is one of the big problems yet to be solved. We are going after it.

"The number of calls that can be handled simultaneously on the wireless telephone is limited, but for emergency use on long distance it will be invaluable and for use in inland areas it should prove a great boon. It will be possible, for instance, for fishing smacks and other small craft unable to afford a wireless operator to carry a wireless telephone and be in immediate communication with the shore and with each other.

"We have not yet the full report of today's test. One of our men in San Diego heard all the conversations and there were others from whom we have not heard."

Mr. Carty would not say which he others were.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 (via Tuckerton, N. J.)—The exploit of Flight Sergeant Boehm, mentioned in last Sunday's official war report for his assault unaided on French aviators, who attacked Freiburg, is described as follows by the Overseas News Agency:

Sergt. Boehm is a member of a Bavarian aviation corps. When five French aeroplanes approached Freiburg, Boehm rose alone to defend them. Having no companion, he had to direct his aeroplane and fire the gun.

"He killed the pilot of one French aeroplane and the observation officer of another. Both aeroplanes were forced to land and the surviving occupants were made prisoners.

"The Grand Duke of Baden congratulated Sergt. Boehm in the presence of the troops and later by order of the Emperor, decorated him with the Iron Cross of the first class."

NO "DUMPING" AFTER THE WAR.

Redfield Says Our Industries will be Protected.

Also Hints He will Oppose any Tariff Changes.

Cheap Foreign Goods to be Barred, He Declares.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—An indication of what the administration is planning to do for the protection of American industries built up as a result of the European war is given in an open letter written by Secretary Redfield of the Department of Commerce to Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, and made public today.

It is made clear the government will protect the new American industries from a flood of European competition at the close of the war, but the letter also shows that Mr. Redfield intends to avoid, so far as possible, any proposals for tariff revision.

This follows numerous conferences on plans for dealing with the situation expected to follow the war. The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and the Federal Trade Commission have inaugurated a detailed investigation of the subject. This inquiry will cover the operation of the laws of various countries which prohibit "dumping," or the sale of any product at a price less than the cost of production. The effect of the Canadian and Australian laws on the subject are being particularly examined.

American manufacturers, seeking to enter fields of production which prior to the European war were occupied by foreign firms, have been clamoring for assurances that they will not be subjected to a flood of foreign-made products when peace is restored. Manufacturers preparing to turn out dyestuffs have been especially anxious to assure themselves that the German dye works will not flood American markets with low priced products.

WHAT REDFIELD SAYS.

Secretary Redfield's letter says: "If the question arises as to the attitude of the Department of Commerce toward what is called 'dumping' after the war shall end, you may say that I shall recommend in my annual report that unfair competition from abroad shall not be permitted to injure a legitimate American industry any more than it is permitted to do so in our domestic field.

"Especially I should oppose action on the part of any foreign monopoly toward controlling the American market by unfair competition in an attempt to injure or destroy an American industry. There is no doubt in my mind that this should be done. The more serious question to consider is as to the method of doing it.

"Various plans have been proposed, some of which seem to permit reactions which are possibly undesirable. I am considering the methods used in different countries, with a frank preference for such as have nothing to do with tariffs or duties. I should be very glad to receive suggestions from practical commercial men as to the most efficient means of detaching and preventing this unfair competition.

"You may be quite sure of my earnest purpose to provide, so far as it lies in my power to do so, that American industries shall not suffer from a type of unfair competition at the hands of foreign producers which would be forbidden if it took place at the hands of American producers."

CONSTITUTION AN OBSTACLE.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 29.—Presenting some of the obstacles he believes the Constitution presents to the man who desires to interject the Federal government into the field of commerce as a comman carrier, George Sutherland, United States Senator from Utah, addressed the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Missouri Bar Association here today on "government ownership and the Constitution."

"To regulate commerce is what is authorized by the Constitution," he asserted. "Congress is as powerless to do something with reference to commerce other than regulation as it is to regulate something which is not commerce when dealing with that subject.

"Our word 'progress' has come to be the most perverted word in the dictionary, no longer synonomous with improvement, but merely signifying change.

"The building of highways and railroads by the government in my opinion falls in the category of regulation, as it merely provides a common carrier for the transportation of commodities. But when the government takes it upon itself to operate these carriers to its own profit, regulation then becomes transportation and outside of the meaning of the Constitution."

REBELLION SWEEPS ISLE OF CEYLON.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 (via Tuckerton, N. J.)—"Private reports from the British island of Ceylon," says the Overseas News Agency, "are to the effect that the entire island has been in a state of rebellion since June, and that all the tea plantations on the island have been destroyed, more than 2000 persons having been shot during the rioting.

"At Colombo the struggle was a terrific one, street fighting taking place and shacks being ransacked, the reports declare. The damage done amounted to more than 10,000,000 marks ($2,500,000.) Sixty persons were shot there and 2000 arrests were made.

"The monsoon was the worst the island had experienced in 100 years, and superstitious Mohammedans regarded its severity as a punishment by Allah. A comet also has been seen.

"The English press," says the news agency, "has been informed that the disturbances had no unusual significance."

JOHN D, JR., DENIES MERGER.

Has no Intention of Giving Up Control of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 29.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today said the Rockefeller interests had no intention of giving up control of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. He denied any knowledge of a prospective merger with the Hill or any other interests, and expressed the belief that the recent spectacular rise in the company's stock was due merely to war speculation.

Mr. Rockefeller's statement was drawn out by the latest flurry in Colorado Fuel common which yesterday touched 63½. Asked regarding the persistent New York rumor that the Hill interests were seeking to effect a merger with the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, he said:

"If there is any such movement on foot I know absolutely nothing about it. It is my opinion that this flurry is the result of war speculation."

"Have you any intention of voluntarily giving up control of the company?" Mr. Rockefeller was asked.

"Not the slightest," was the reply.

Mr. Rockefeller said he thought it unlikely that he would stay in Colorado long enough to attend the annual meeting of the company on October 18.

Mr. Rockefeller today continued his conferences at the offices of the corpration.

OBJECTS TO OIL FEES.

Standard Brings Suit to Compel Washington Officers to Return Money Collected on Imports.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 29.—Suit to prevent the collection of fees for inspection of oil products shipped into this State was filed today in the King County Superior Court by the Standard Oil Company of California, which seeks an injunction preventing the State Commissioner of Agriculture from collecting such fees.

The complaint alleges that the amount collected between June 30, 1905, and December 31, 1914, was $325,000, while the cost of inspection was only $80,000, leaving a profit to the State of $255,000.

This profit, the complaint alleges, makes the fees illegal, as they amount virtually to the imposition by the State of import duties of interstate commerce in violation of the Federal Constitution.

The court issued an order citing the Commissioner of Agriculture to show cause on October 14 why a restraining order should not be issued. Pending adjudication of the case inspection fees will be paid into the registry of the court.

RURAL CREDIT HEARING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—Almost without exception, the witnesses before the first hearing of the State Rural Credits Commission, bankers, farmers and shippers, declared that some system of easier and longer term financing for the farmers was essential; that failing such a reform new settlers would be forced into bankruptcy and unemployment.

Justice N. P. Chipman of the Appellate Court declared that the high prices of land now prevailing in this State, made it almost impossible for the farmer of small capital to succeed, and named several instances of colonization in which he had been interested.

F. B. McKevitt, president of the California Fruit Distributors, explained and defended the system used by his company in handling fruit, but declared himself in favor of rural credits. McKevitt asserted the cost of handling fruit had doubled in ten years, and the price was unchanged.

Glen Andrus, secretary of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, told the Rural Credits Commission it might as well disband until some marketing system had been devised.

"What is the use," he asked, "of growing two blades of grass where one grew before, if you cannot get a profitable price for the first?"

Scott F. Ennis, large landowner and produce dealer, declared only a checking of the leasing system could prevent the taking over of all farm land by orientals. For this reason he favored rural credits.

The commission concludes its hearings here tomorrow.

CALIFORNIA GOVERNMENT COSTLIEST IN THE UNION.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 28.—California's "Progressive" administration has established another new State record. It has boosted the cost of the State government until it is now the highest in the United States. For three years we have been running a close second to Nevada; but the figures just given out by the State Controller show that we are now leading the field by at least three laps and still gaining.

For the fiscal year ending July 1, 1915, the total cost of the State government, exclusive of transfers—the amount of warrants actually cashed by the State Treasurer—was $36,529,593.04. This is an increase of almost $8,000,000 over 1914, which held the high record up to that time. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the last under Republican rule, the gross expense of the State government was $18,573,720.

As our State population is less than 3,000,000, this makes the average cost per capita of the State government a little more than $12 a head. The average in the United States is less than $4 a head. That of Nevada, which is second on the list, is less than $9 a head.

TAFT PREDICTS G.O.P. VICTORY.

Bright Outlook for Next Year; Voters United.

Discusses Report He May Run for President.

Believes Action of Friends is Rather Premature.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—William H. Taft, former President, gave the Republican party a boost on his arrival here today from the Pacific Coast. His daughter, Miss Helen Taft, was with him.

"Some of your old Illinois friends are busy using your name as a possible Presidential candidate," was suggested to Mr. Taft.

"Well, you know, you should not blame me for foolish things my friends may do," he replied, and there was the Taft smile.

"Press dispatches from Topeka state that you said there that you would not be a candidate."

"I said I was out of active politics, but that does not mean I am not going to take an interest in politics."

"All evidences point to a Republican victory next year," said the former President. "The party is in good shape again, and all of its old elements will be united in the next campaign. I have some ideas on this that I would like to express if time permitted."

"They are negotiating the war loan here. What do you think of it?" was another question from a reporter.

"Well, you have shrewd bankers here, and I assume they know when a security is good and when it is not."

TAILOR IS SHOT IN STRIKE RIOT.

Proprietor of Chicago Shop Held as Assailant.

Minor Outbreaks Through City Keep Police Busy.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A striking tailor was shot and painfully wounded during a riot here today, which, the police say, grew out of the strike of garment workers. Joseph Sakalowski, proprietor of a west side tailor shop, was arrested and charged with doing the shooting. Joseph Marks and his wife also were taken into custody and charged with inciting a riot. The wounded man was identified as Samuel Lender. He was hit in the ankle.

Minor outbreaks in different parts of the city kept the police busy throughout the day. A number of arrests were made, and calls for protection from manufacturers and owners of small tailor shops were received at headquarters.

Leaders of the Garment Workers' Union tonight met to discuss plans for continuing the strike. They still maintained that 25,000 already are on strike.

MORGAN GIVES UP WASHINGTON WILL.

SENDS TESTAMENT OF THE FIRST PRESIDENT'S WIFE TO JUSTICE KEITH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RICHMOND (Va.) Sept. 29.—J. P. Morgan has sent to Justice James Keith, president of the Virginia Court of Appeals, to be disposed of by him at his own discretion, the will of Mrs. Martha Washington, taken from Fairfax Courthouse by a Federal soldier during the war and bought by the late J. Pierpont Morgan for his library.

Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, was the mediator between Mr. Morgan and Gov. Stuart and Justice Keith. The will probably will be placed by consent in a fireproof vault at Mount Vernon. The State of Virginia has a suit pending in the Supreme Court of the United States to compel Morgan to return the will. The suit probably will be dropped.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—S. P. Ware, one of the crew of the American schooner Sehome, which arrived here today from Sydney, Australia, was turned over to the police by John Kiltz, the ship's captain, who alleged Ware laid out the captain and crew with a belaying pin off Apia, American Samoa, and took command of the ship for twenty-four hours. [BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—There is no eugenic reason why first cousins and even brothers and sisters should not marry, in the opinion of M. J. Greenman, director of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy at the University of Pennsylvania.

After a series of experiments covering a period of four and a half years made by Dr. H. D. King of that department, with rats, Director Greenman has arrived at the conclusion that consanguinity not only had no injurious effects upon the offspring of such unions, but it would tend to produce types larger and more efficient physically than those which result from the marriages now universally recognized.

Dr. King did not hesitate to declare emphatically this morning that the laws forbidding inter-marriages and the traditions handed down from time immemorial that have made the union of close relatives repugnant, cannot base their existence on any scientific fact.

HE HAS THE PROOF.

"For twenty-one generations," the doctor declared, "I have intermarried a brother and sister rat. The result was that I got a rat larger and better physically in every way than the first ones. A rat is a mammal and man is a mammal; therefore, it is not too much to think that the same principle can be applicable to each.

"I firmly believed, though, of course, it has not been tried out, that if a brother and sister, carefully selected and of a higher type, were to marry, the result of the union would be a higher type of offspring than from the intermarriage of two other people. The opinion regarding the degeneracy of the offspring of such a union exists because the only races who intermarry are degenerate races and therefore you get a race of even greater degeneracy."

windows of many houses and on top of the "tower bridge," the tall mine cranes which rose 300 feet from the center of the village and in the narrow trenches dug across the streets. In the cemetery to the southwest of the town which our men had passed there were no less than 100 machine guns, so it was in itself a fort of great strength.

It was 8 o'clock when those who had not fallen reached the outskirts of the village of Loos, and for nearly two hours there was street fighting of terrible character. Many battalions were mixed up, many of their officers were killed and wounded, and the battle was made up of individual combats, or small groups fighting a way from house to house and separate encounters in rooms and cellars.

Although the town had been severely damaged by our shell fire and the church in the center was in ruins, no fire had broken out and the shells of houses still stood.

They were crammed with German troops, who used the cellars as trenches from which they could fire upon the British through apertures in the street. They also fired through windows and doorways, behind the shelter of the walls, and some of them had their machine guns in the garrets.

Here and there small parties of these German troops defended themselves with the courage of despair and would not yield until they were killed to the last man.

GERMAN OFFICER'S BRAVERY.

In one of these cellars an amazing incident happened which reveals the highest form of courage and self-sacrifice not to be denied the Germans. A colonel of a battalion which will be given high place in history for this day's work came into Loos after his men had already gone on to Hill No. 70. With signallers and other men he established quarters according to previous arrangement in a house practically untouched by shell fire. At this time there was very little shelling, as the artillery officers on either side were afraid of killing their own men, and the house seemed fairly safe for the purpose of a temporary signal station.

But the colonel noticed with surprise shortly after his arrival that heavy shells began to fall very close and the German guns were obviously aiming directly for this particular building. He ordered the cellars to be searched, and three Germans were found, but it was only after he had been in the house forty minutes that in a deeper cellar, which had not been seen before, discovery was made of a German officer, who was actually telephoning to his own batteries and directing their fire.

Suspecting the colonel and his companions were important officers directing the general operations, he had caused shells to fall upon the house, knowing a lucky shot would mean his own death as well as theirs. In any case he was certain to die, and he died bravely, having made this supreme sacrifice of courage. The telephone apparatus is now a trophy in the British hands.

FIGHT FOR HILL NO. 70.

Meanwhile some of the battalions which fought their way through Loos were now struggling ahead to gain Hill No. 70. It is nearly a mile farther on eastward and southward, and the road was swept with shrapnel and machine-gun fire as it rose steadily up to rising ground, which is really a slope rather than a hill.

On a further ridge is a village called Cite St. Auguste, held by the Germans, overlooking the advancing British troops. From the windows of the cottages on higher ground, and from intrenchments in the vicinity, there was an incessant storm of fire, which raked over the approach.

Nevertheless, the British held on and, finding a kind of ridge or parapet, dug themselves deeper in, so they had useful protection.

The first men to approach Hill No. 70 arrived about 10 o'clock and clung to their positions at all costs and with heroic endurance until 11 o'clock that night, when they were relieved by other troops who carried on the struggle next day. This concludes the chronicle of the battle in and beyond Loos until Sunday, when the position was organized and the advance continued with varying success around Hill No. 70.

FRENCH COVET GERMAN TRADE.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Gaston Thomson, French Minister of Commerce, introduced in the Chamber of Deputies today a bill creating a consulting committee on exports.

Explaining the purpose of the bill to the Temps, he said it was designed to facilitate French exports to markets previously supplied by Germany and Austria.

The Minister mentioned particularly Canada, India and Australia as desirable markets.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—At least 150 American machinists engaged in all parts of the country are leaving New York each week to work in the munition plants of the European belligerents.

English works, it was said today, are paying from $25 to $35 a week to mechanics. American manufacturers of war munitions for the allies are said to be paying as high as $7 or $8 a day.

FAVOR CREDITS IN MILITARY CAMPS.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 28.—Realizing the tremendous value of military preparation, the academic senate today voted that the summer camps conducted by the United States Army should be counted as "affiliated colleges."

This action is significant of the hearty approval of the faculty of the earnest steps which army officials are taking to educate men who can be used as volunteer officers in case of war. Satisfactory completion of a course at a summer camp will count as "credit" toward a degree for this work. Each summer course will be and one-half units of the five units prescribed as a minimum in the military department.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—The State Rural Credits Commission at its initial hearing today listened to the views of bankers and farmers on the needs of rural credits, backed by the State. L. M. Landsborough, a rancher of Florin, told the commission the Japanese in his district were the only people able to make a success by starting farming with only enough to pay the first installment and then earn sufficient to pay interest and principal and keep alive. This was possible, he said, because of their mode of living and their thrift.

Alden Anderson, former State Bank Superintendent, said he was for a rural credits system, and believed it would not harm the banks. George W. Peltier said he believed in such a system, but did not think the State should initiate it.

SEATTLE, Sept. 29.—Maj. Charles Clarke, officer in charge of the internment camp at Vernon, B. C., since the outbreak of the war, has been superseded by Maj. A. Rowan. Two weeks ago an armed guard was placed before Clarke's office and a secret investigation of his accounts begun. While the investigation was in progress Clarke disappeared. It was learned that he had crossed the border into the United States. The Canadian government is seeking the arrest of Clarke. It is charged that he withheld payment to Vernon storekeepers for supplies furnished to interned aliens, and that he placed false names on pay rolls. The amount of his alleged irregularities is not given out. There are many hundreds of Austrians and Germans in the camp at Vernon. Clarke was formerly a railroad man.

"There are two sides to the question," he said. "Some people say the lands ought to be sold at $2.50 an acre, the railroads say they should be paid for the timber in addition to that amount. Everything must be taken into consideration."

FAIR'S SURPLUS HALF A MILLION

Panama-Pacific Exposition Now on Easy Street.

Big Attendance of Farmers is now Predicted.

Several More Big Days on Future Calendar.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—With more than half a million dollars in sight in its treasury for a "rainy day," and with an attendance record of 565,647 when the gates opened this morning, the Panama-Pacific Exposition, officials estimate, will easily enjoy great patronage until the closing day, December 4.

Sixty-seven days remain of the exposition. The department of admissions estimates the average daily attendance for this period will approximate 50,000. This would bring the final attendance figures to more than 17,000,000.

The average daily attendance to date has been 61,352. During the last three months it has been 45,000.

With the falling off of summer travel exposition officials are not disheartened. They are depending upon the farmer to offset the drop in reported attendance from other sources.

Superintendent of Gates G. A. Goodman said today that "when the farmers finish their harvest, the exposition will begin harvesting."

Several big days are yet to come on the exposition calendar. The biggest event will be San Francisco Day, November 2. The department of admissions is so certain this will prove a record-breaker from point of attendance and features that it has ordered printed 400,000 souvenir programs.

Next Saturday is Cubs' Day and it is believed this will add more than 100,000 to the attendance figures. Other big days scheduled are Columbus Day, October 12; Fleet Arrival Day, October 16, and Thanksgiving Day.

The surplus is constantly being added to by the expositions concession office. It is believed the profit thus will stand at between $1,500,000 and $1,750,000 at the expiration of the exposition.

It is the opinion of exposition officials that the Middle West and the eastern farmers after harvest will be able to get away for the trip as well as his western brother. The late October and November stock shows are expected to prove a big attraction to these patrons.

Throughout California every commoting body and organization was asked to "forward the farmers." Counting the past three months as nearly as can be ascertained the exposition attendance at the exposition was from 40,000 to 45,000 daily. During the coming month is over the top the attendance, it is believed, will be completed and aside from the farmers and winter sojourners, eastern visitors will be few.

It is at this point that the Pacific Coast farmer and the eastern and Middle West farmer will prove a big asset.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Lotteries, which have flourished openly in San Francisco—probably the large city in the United States—have been permitted to their last drawings today, according to the police. An amicable agreement was arranged between the police and lottery officials whereby there would be no interference with the sale of today's drawing, it was said. Proceedings against continued operation of the lotteries resulted recently in a raid by the Police Commission of the police to clamp down the lid on gambling.

The M. & F., the most widely known of the lotteries, gave a capital prize of $20,000, according to its announcements. The drawings were supposed to be held in Mexico this week.

While being dragged from beneath the floor of the house he made a move as if to draw his revolver, and was shot by A. J. Long, a patrolman of this city.

HEIR TO RICH ESTATE IS SHOT TO DEAT

SANTA ROSA, Sept. 29. — Robert Linebaugh, one of three heirs to an estate valued at $200,000, was found fatally shot today at the home of Oliver Hall, twelve miles west of Petaluma, by Mrs. Hall, his sister, upon her return after an absence of several days. Robert Hall, her husband, was in the sitting-room, where Linebaugh lay. A shotgun with one shell discharged was on a table. Hall was arrested and is held in the Petaluma jail.

Linebaugh died within a few minutes after he was shot without making any statement. Hall said the gun was discharged accidentally, but refused to make any further explanation. Linebaugh was 55 years old. He was appointed executor of his father's estate recently. He and another sister were left all shares of the estate.

Hall and Linebaugh owned farms within a short distance of each other. When Mrs. Hall returned from a visit she heard a shot. On entering the house, she said, she found Linebaugh dying on the floor of the sitting-room, her husband standing by and a shotgun on a table.

Neighbors were summoned and Hall to a tree pending the arrival of the authorities. Later he was taken to the Petaluma jail, to be brought to the County Jail later. No charges have been filed against him.

ETERANS TREAD OLD-TIME TRAILS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Standing on the same spot where, fifty years ago, President Andrew Johnson reviewed the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, home from the war of the rebellion, President Wilson today reviewed the parade of the feeble remnant of that army, called by historians the most efficient fighting force the world had known.

Fifty years ago the Grand Army of the Republic came home from the war in the nation's capital numbered 200,000 strong. Today the aged and enfeebled veterans numbered approximately 20,000. Many of these marched with the aid of crutches and canes.

When the Grand Army of the Republic came home from the war in 1865 two entire days were required for the passing in review before President Johnson. Today four hours only were required for the veterans to pass before President Wilson, the first southern-born President since the Civil War.

Today in Washington was a day of cheers and tears. Cheers for the valiant men who offered their lives in the hours of their country's greatest need, and tears for the whitehaired heroes who will soon have answered the last roll call.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVATION.

Old inhabitants of Washington, who have witnessed many parades, asserted tonight that they never had seen such an enthusiastic ovation as that accorded the "Boys of '65." Cheer after cheer greeted the aged veterans as the parade moved slowly and with faltering footsteps along historic Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House, over the same route taken by the troops of Gen. Grant's remarkable army fifty years ago. Touched by the old war songs, sung by the veterans as they marched, thousands of people, along the way wiped tears from their eyes even as they cheered. The weather was ideal.

One drum corps was followed by a little old soldier marching, equipped just as he had marched fifty years ago. On his shoulder he carried the same musket he used throughout the war. From the standpoint of the old soldier, today's parade was the greatest event of the forty-ninth annual encampment. Having marched in the parade, he is ready to go home happy.

The cheering was loud and prolonged. The older of the veterans waved their caps or hats. Others answered the applause by skipping around the street every now and then to show that they were still spry and active.

The paraders themselves cheered as they rounded the corner at the north end of the Treasury Building, where a huge banner stretched across the street bore Lincoln's commendation of the soldier: "There is one debt this nation can never repay—the one it owes to the defenders of the Union."

The banner was a duplicate of one that hung across Pennsylvania in the same location during the review of '65.

Only a few of the veterans were forced to retire from the ranks because of exhaustion. The crowds almost rivalled those which gather for Presidential inaugurations.

Beside President Wilson in the White House reviewing stand were Mrs. David J. Palmer, Commander-in-Chief of the G.A.R. Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, grand marshal of the parade, took a place in the President's box after the head of the long procession had passed.

NOTABLES REVIEW PARADE.

Secretary Garrison of the War Department and Secretary Daniels of the Navy were in boxes on either side of the President. Chief Justice White, Confederate veteran; Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, and J. J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, occupied seats near by.

One section of the stand was occupied by Civil War nurses, whom the veterans saluted as they passed.

Tonight a number of reunions were held in Camp Matthew G. Emery. Besides a "dog watch" reunion of the naval and marine veterans, Secretary Daniels discussed the famous blockade and the effective service rendered by the navy during the war.

At the general meeting of the veterans at Camp Emery tonight addresses were delivered by Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt made plea that the veterans write their personal experiences for the Navy Department. The records of the department, he said, were dry, and he said that history could best be written from personal accounts. He offered to place the files of the depart-

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Standing on the same spot where, fifty years ago, President Andrew Johnson reviewed the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, home from the close of the rebellion, President Wilson today reviewed the parade of the only remnant of that army, called by historians the most efficient fighting force the world had known.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 29.—The I.W.W.'s and the K.O.D.'s, the latter described as a secret society of the I.W.W., the inner circle of the anarchist group, are leaving little if anything undone to create a reign of terror in Salt Lake City and the State of Utah to intimidate the authorities to intervene to save the life of Joseph Hillstrom, an I.W.W. song writer, condemned to be executed by shooting Friday for murder.

The situation here grows worse daily. It became known authoritatively today that a plot to dynamite some local bank has been hatched by the K.O.D. While it is not known definitely what bank this is, it is said that ten detectives disguised as workmen are watching the National Bank of the Republic. It is said that upward of fifty men are detailed to watch buildings in the business district, aided by a large force of extra city police and secret service agents.

The railroad yards are guarded and all incoming hobos are taken to the city limits and driven from the city. Gov. Spry today received a second letter from the K.O.D., threatening him with death if Hillstrom is executed. It is to this letter that secret service agents attach the greatest significance. They say that of all the 26,000 letters received this is perhaps the only one with a serious tone and one to be reckoned with.

DEATH WATCH IS SET.

Tonight Hillstrom was placed under death watch for the remaining time before his execution. Preparations for his execution have been completed and Gov. Spry remains firm that he shall die to atone for the heinous crime of which he was convicted. The State officials and the local Chief of Police are greatly worried over the situation. In a statement today, Chief Grant said that beyond doubt men of depraved minds had come into the city and there was great danger of their putting into execution one of their many threats.

It is improbable that Sweden will request a stay of execution for Hillstrom, who has refused to disclose to the Swedish Consul here any of the evidence which he claims to have to prove his innocence. Barring a miracle, for only a miracle can save him now, Hillstrom will be shot some time Friday morning.

Yesterday Hillstrom completed his dying statement, covering twenty-five pages of foolscap. This was turned over to the warden of the State prison who in turn gave it to the Board of Pardons. The board has refused to give the statement for publication. The statement is understood to be a violent attack on the judicial system of the State.

Another indictment charged the negroes with assault with intent to kill Miss Emily G. Burger. Each of the defendants pleaded not guilty.

HOW TO TELL ROAR OF GUNS.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]
LONDON, Aug. 31.—"Is it the guns in Flanders or the beating of their own hearts that people on the English coast and inland are writing to the newspapers about?" asks a London physician discussing the reports of gunfiring heard sixty, seventy and even ninety miles from the nearest scene of war operations.

"Let me suggest a trial experiment," he continues. "When anyone hears these sounds let him stop his ears with his fingers. Then if he really hears guns the sound will be diminished or blotted out altogether; if it is the heartbeat the sound will be increased.

"A great many people when they lie down at night hear their hearts beating. One correspondent at a shore resort says that he counted eighty-eight gunshots in a minute. I myself heard gunfiring while on the east coast, and not until my return to London, where I heard the guns just as plainly every night, did the explanation of the heartbeats occur to me."

SYRIANS SUFFER ACUTE DISTRESS.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]
ALEXANDRIA (Egypt) Aug. 31.—The latest throng of refugees to be brought here from Beirut by the United States collier Caesar state that the economic distress in Syria is becoming more acute every day. Lack of transport is in part responsible. Improper fuel has burnt out the locomotives so there is only one train a week between Beirut and Damascus and the Aleppo-Rayak service has been reduced to one train every three days. Meantime the number of horses, mules and camels is constantly reduced by commandeering. Outbreaks are feared as the result of famine. There is a credible rumor that the Turks are cutting down olive trees for fuel. Many of these trees are centuries old, and their loss will bring further miseries after the war is over.

The Syrian Protestant College, an American institution, not only has had the compulsory teaching of Turkish imposed on it by Djemal Pasha, but the refugees say Turkish is also made the principal language of instruction.

KING ALBERT AS AN ORDERLY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]
DUNKIRK (France) Aug. 31.—At Nieuport Hospital considerable alarm was caused recently by an outbreak of fire on an upper floor, and the nurses began with great energy to move the patients to a place of safety. In the midst of the tumult one of the nurses who was trying to lift a wounded Belgian soldier called out sharply for someone who could speak English.

"I can," shouted a voice. "What can I do for you?"

Without ceremony she handed the patient over to his charge, explaining in quick English what she wanted done with him. She did not learn until after order was restored that her orderly was King Albert, who had arrived with the Queen at the moment of the fire.

Many People Require Searching Blood Remedy

BODY WASTES CLOG SYSTEM AND CAUSE NEARLY ALL FORMS OF SICKNESS

TAKE

FOR YOUR BLOOD

S. S. S. Goes Into All the Dark Corners Searching Out Impurities

The human body is such a highly specialized digestive system that it is practically more or less out of order from infancy.

On this account S. S. S. has a marked influence in overcoming blood poverty since it circulates with the blood all over the body.

Digestion is not merely a stomach function. The word nowadays is used in the broad meaning of bodily and psychic energy.

There is a constant change going on every instant all over the body, and to preserve health every atom of our material existence should be replaced with renewed energy in the form of food and air.

But there is usually much more material in the blood than can be oxidized or taken up by the tissues, hence all sorts of conditions of blood poverty arise in the form and name of Rheumatism, Catarrh, Abscesses and so on.

It thus requires a searching antidote such as S. S. S. that will circulate with the blood and not lose its own characteristic identity.

When you jump at the explosion of a toy pistol don't rush for a "nerv-ine." Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store and fill your blood with its wonderful tonic influence.

If you feel stale and run down don't waste effort with food medicine. You can get all the food you require in an egg or a pound of beef. Just consider S. S. S. as entirely a medicine, but at the same time understand that it contains no strychnine, caffeine, or "dope" of any kind. And yet its influence in the blood is more healthful, more penetrating, more stimulating and more productive of noticeable results than anything else ever discovered for the promotion of pure blood.

S. S. S. is absolutely purely a vegetable product; it contains one ingredient, the active principle of which stimulates each cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment.

Thus, when the tissues break down and cause pimples, boils, carbuncles and abscesses, when the muscles become charged with acids that cause twinges of rheumatism; when the kidneys are weak, the liver sluggish and the stomach sour, the blood streams become loaded with all sorts of poisons.

S. S. S., by its stimulating influence in the cells, drives out all these poisons, and this is what is meant by the word tonic. S. S. S. cleans the stomach and thus paves the way for healthy pabulum to enter the circulation.

The relative medicinal values of the components of S. S. S. are just as essential to well-balanced health as the elements of meat, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

And when a condition of disease has invaded the blood the action of S. S. S. in the tissue cells enables them to resist their accumulation, each cell thereby helping its neighbor to throw off what would otherwise be a congestion to produce a boil, carbuncle or abscess.

That condition known as ennui or "all in," often precedes an attack of rheumatism, but the timely use of S. S. S. will so tone the blood that the attack may be entirely prevented.

And if you feel old, if the good old jokes seem flat, if the activities of the youngsters seem foolish to you, and if you are less inclined to participate in the activities of life, a bottle of S. S. S. will so reinvigorate your blood, so react upon your jangled nerves, that in eye, mind, step and appetite you will quickly get back into that keen, sharp, active condition where you will fairly hum with energy. Try S. S. S. It won't fail you. Get a bottle of this famous blood purifier, tonic and antidote of any druggist. Get it today. "FRAMERS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." NO. 7

Thomas Jefferson "Father of the Declaration of Independence"

THIS noble founder of the Democratic Party immortalized himself by writing our Declaration of Independence—the document which laid the foundations of Free Government, not only for our own beloved land, but for all the world. His countrymen twice elected him President and will always treasure his memory. Jefferson was the most ardent advocate of Universal Freedom of his time and it was his wisdom and foresight which brought about the Louisiana Purchase. Every drop of his Virginia blood loved Liberty, and because he wanted Americans to be assured of it for all time he championed with all his might and main the signing of the Constitution of the United States. None of the fathers of the Republic were more far-seeing than he and none knew better than he that a mild brew of barley-malt and hops is truly a temperance drink. Hence, in 1816, he wrote President Madison: "A Captain Miller is about to settle in this country and establish a brewery. I wish to see this beverage become common." Jefferson lived past his 83rd year and all his life he was a moderate user of light wines and barley brews. It is unimaginable that were he alive to-day he would vote otherwise than NO to proposed tyrannous prohibition laws. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewing the kind of honest barley and hop brews which Jefferson hoped in his day to see the National beverage of Americans. Exactly such a beer is BUDWEISER. Its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor have won its way to the top. To-day 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

DRESSED-UP MEN OF LOS ANGELES AND THE WEEK'S SHOW OF TOGS.

There's Novelty and Dash and Splash and an Hour-glass Effect About the Latest Cut of Coats — Much Dip to the Hats and Color to the Shoes — See the Displays.

THIS is the week in Los Angeles when men are doing one of the things women believe in doing throughout the year—dressing up. Los Angeles merchants have planned and are carrying out a little fashion show from which the ladies are excluded, unless it be in the choosing of new habiliment for husband, brother, father or even sweetheart. These merchants say the community should be famous, not only for its peachy, creamy-complexioned girls and women, for their stylish apparel, but also for its well-dressed men.

In filling the windows with fine clothes of patterns and styles appropriate to every taste and almost any purse, the dealers have used the pepsin for digesting the thought and creating the mental appetite to buy. "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," is no better slogan than "Dress up, boys," when it comes to benefitting the entire community.

To those who have laid aside for twelve to eighteen months all thought of clothes, it might be very appropriate to suggest that there have been a few changes in style. Men no longer stick to the old-fashioned up-and-down lines. Oh, no! You can't get away from it, but they do follow a little in their clothes tastes the womanish fads.

HAVE YOU GOT A WAIST?

This year the charming damsels all have need to show a distinct waistline. Consequently male attire is strong on the waist. Imagine for a moment a corpulent man showing a waist line. Not even corsets could bring about such a result, and a lot of the garments will almost need corsets to keep them in place.

The man without a form is just a trifle out of luck when it comes to business suits of the ordinary, or better, the extraordinary varieties. Coats to the one-button sacks that are coming in with cold weather have an hour-glass effect beginning right under the shoulders and tapering waspishly to the beltline. Then they flare. Not quite as much as the skirts of a French dancing master or the coats of an 1830 Beau Brummel, but enough for you to notice them. It is possible that our best dressers will get that habit of rubbing down over the hips just like the women who have strong physical features of that kind. They'll have to do something to keep the coat from slipping up when buttoned too tight.

This one-button, close-in effect has jumped the line of daylight clothes and also strikes among the dinner jackets and dress coats. Even the overcoats of dressiest type have a dent in the back and a curve in the sides. They are supposed to give that effect of clean-cut slenderness that goes so well with youth.

The double-breasted suits that were once so popular are slipping in slowly. They are shown in a number of designs this year, mostly all with the slender back effect, and also that broad lapel that adds something of the military aspect to the garment.

BRAID, TOO!

And speaking of military, there are numerous dark and semi-dress suits that have oodles of braid strung around the pockets, the lapels and wherever it can be applied without scandalizing. If war won't break out in America, the American gentleman can at least decorate himself with some of the trimmings sartorially correct for officers, if not for the privates in the ranks. And here any man can have as much military trimness as he wants without worrying about any ranking officials.

Materials are so numerous beyond description. Tweeds are the boss material. There are so many of these tweeds that it would need a genealogical sharp to trace their origin. There are Blarney tweeds, Harrison tweeds, McGregor tweeds, Redmond tweeds, English, Scotch and Irish tweeds and then some tweeds. It's dizzying to hear a tailor recount all the names of the members of the family. And the tweeds come in stripes, plaids, salt and pepper design and many others. They are used in suits, in the still popular Balmacaan overcoats and in other overcoat styles. Other materials are the kinds that grandfather, father and you are acquainted with, such as serge for example.

THE "WESKIT."

To overlook the waistcoat, or in easier vernacular, the vest, would be criminal negligence. For a few seasons past the vest has been shunted into the background. It has just naturally been a part of the suit, sort of built in, as it were.

But all that is changing. Waistcoats are verging to the startling. All of them must have lapels, any kind of lapels, from the just visible to the kind that hit the college boy behind the ears. Some of the suits have this kind, but for the man who buys a suit sans vest with fancy cut, there is relief in distance to the nearest clothier. Double-breasted, fancy plaid waistcoats, the kind that would turn the old-time turfman green with jealous envy are going to be the vogue. They have even arranged some of the newest vests for fat men, having a hinge in them about where a man breaks when he sits down.

Vests of this kind are shown in plaids. They have the lapels, then five cute little mother of pearl buttons set in with rhinestones, and then a seam. This seam runs around the waist, and hanging over it are pocket flaps to keep matches, stamps, toothpicks and other valuables from climbing out. The vests are being cut lower, following the idea of the women's summer attire that called for very low neck waists.

This lower cut is true more of the daytime vests than those for fancy dress wear. Here the vests are covering a little more shirt, moving upward and inward with their lapels, but not enough to hide the flossy shirts that are everywhere on display. Dress shirts haven't got far to go before they are in the ruffle class and one haberdasher yesterday declared that he had some dress shirts coming from New York that would have such adornment and would create a furore among the dance masters at the next Bachelor's Ball.

FANCY SHIRTS.

As for the lower day waistcoats, a peek at the spectrum-shaded shirts answers one of the reasons. Stripes are to be the vogue and the more colors of the stripes the fancier the shirt. The staid old flannels will produce warmth, not only because of the goods, but because of the new patterns. There are Russian braids, French flannels, English silks and a lot of more common materials, but all of them are done in stripes. Solid colors are as frequent as mountain streams in a California desert.

Cravats are of so wide a range that there is no place to stop in the choosing. There are cloth-of-gold ties to be had at $10, but since this "dress up" week is not only for the wealthy, but for the ordinary fellow, it might be well to suggest that the regular 50 cent ties are mostly in diagonal stripes and in the Oriental patterns that have been so well thought of during the past year. Some of these would shame any Turkish rug or Arabian drape that has ever passed a customs officer where such imports are made.

LIDS WITH A DIP.

Going ever upward the next step is the hat. The dip, front and back, will inform you whether a man has the latest style in top-pieces balanced on his cerebellum. The idea followed closely the upside-down rocker of a chair or cradle. And the brim should have a nice rope curl, sloping well toward the crown in the center. This goes for both derby and felt hats. Two-tones are numerous. Pearl-gray and black, seal brown and green as well as a few other combinations are not unusual among the felts. Big, wide ribbons, the kind school girls tie bows with for their hair or women wear as sashes are on the hat programme. Caps too, are slipping back into favor and they come in all the hues of the rainbow, mostly in the jockey shape and many strongly Scotch because of their plaids.

Jumping from the top to the toe, a word about shoes will suffice. Shoes are no more just shoes. They must be duo-toned to be in society. Cloth uppers are it. They switch colors on the vamps. Black shoes with gray, tan, brown and other colors are in the uppers, merely types that can be duplicated in all shades of brown or tan shoes. Gloves are also alive with stripes, visible seams and inserts of different shades while canes will be mostly of wood as always in the past.

All in all, the windows, the showcases, the racks, and indeed the entire shops where men's goods are sold are filled with interesting displays. Here are descriptions of some of the showings in the more important establishments:

Broadway block,
Meaning the hat, which has a decided droop brim at front and rear. To be seen in many windows.

Those cloth tops.
One good dresser says he feels like this the first time he puts the new shoes on.

A. K. BRAUER & CO.

Variety of patterns is the most notable part of the suiting display of this tailoring establishment at its various stores. The shadow plaids that only various lights reveal occupy a prominent place as do the striped materials which run from the almost invisible hair line to the broad chalk stripe. Tweeds are not wanting in a large variety of shades. Two-button sacks are the kind most advised by the house.

MULLEN & BLUETT.

Beautiful browns in the latest suits are presented by Mullen & Bluett as among their finest offerings. They are obtainable in one, two and three-button sacks and the shades are numerous to choose from. Shirts of strong striping occupy considerable window space and conservative semi-dress clothes are also well set forth.

LOGAN, THE HATTER.

If you want droopy brims, front and rear according to the latest fashion dictate, Logan has them in both soft and stiff hats. Some of the models are handsome in their style and the green hats are particularly fetching. The new creations have welted brims with a rope roll. The derby is a Broadway block, well pitched at both ends. Numerous other styles and duo-colored hats are shown.

HAMILTON SHOE STORE.

Black or tan shoes with French buckskin tops occupy the spotlight in the windows of this store. They are in the latest English vamps. Some of the brown shoes have linen tops, also an innovation in the styles for fall wear.

SHIELDS & ORR.

Tweeds are plentiful in the line carried by this tailoring firm which is producing some very striking sack suits for business wear. The line of suitings includes not only the new patterns, but a large list of the old favorites.

C. H. BAKER SHOE STORES.

Class, nothing but class, in the cloth-top shoes displayed by the various Baker stores. Of staple manufacture, the cut is largely ultra-English in all late arrivals. Shades of brown are numerous, with a tobacco brown predominating.

WEBB-FISHER.

Most startling of vests, the kind that apparently are intended for fat men, having a seam through the lower portion to make bending no task, are features in the window display of this house. This vest also has the clothes line patches over the lower pockets. Dress clothes, the last word in Balmacaans and nobby suits are also on display.

HENRY G. KROHN.

Conservative colorings feature the windows of Henry G. Krohn. Bannockburn, or the gray, black and white tweed, is quite outstanding and admits of more than passing attention in selection of the next suit. Business suits are the kind suggested by the explanation tabs.

GUDE SHOE STORE.

While walking shoes are not wanting, a fine display of dancing and athletic footwear was featured in the Gude windows, indicating the variety within. There was a plentiful variety of cloth and buff-topped shoes of black and tan to select from.

SCOTT BROTHERS.

Decidedly swagger is the cut of some of the overcoats shown in the Scott windows. The variety with close-fitting back and velvet collar has been well presented. Some fancy, double-breasted pongee washable vests are attractive and the variety of sack suits is unending.

C. M. STAUB SHOE STORE.

Low shoes will not be entirely inappropriate for winter wear, according to the heavier styles shown at this time by Staub. Theer are also some very comfortable appearing styles of footwear that may be had with either leather or cloth top as most desired.

Men have a right to expect shoes from us that will come up to the claims we have often made for our shoes, namely: that no better made, better fitting, more stylish shoes are sold anywhere at a like price. shoes we are particularly anxious that the men should try us out — here is a modest price, but it's the price many men want to pay for a shoe, and we'll agree to furnish them the shoe they want at that price.

establishment. Prices on numerous suitings are a pleasant surprise in contemplation of the choice of material offered. Some of the overplaids are worthy the atetntion of the natty dresser willing to consider this style of material.

SILVERWOOD'S.

Sporting togs are rather noticeable in the lavish window display of this store. The latest in golf apparel as well as sweaters for the auto drive on cool nights occupy prominent space. Youthful clothes for the grownup are not least of atractions, and some of these suits have a decided appeal for the man who desires to stay young with his sons.

SIEGEL THE HATTER.

A window of shirts with all sizes of stripes in them, calls attention to a neighboring window in which some of the nobby hats of the season are on display in this store. There are some of the last Italian importations to reach this country on sale, as well as hats of American makers of the foremost rank.

BIEHL & VAN PELT.

More tweeds in less space than to be found outside a factory or wholesale house is an advertising slogan for this firm. A green MacGregor tweed with plaid overlay in a sack suit is stunning, and add to this plaid silk lining to get the full effect of a natty garment. An Oxford gray brathea weave cutaway coat for afternoon dress is also a model of perfection turned out by these tailors.

MATHESON'S.

Cloth-of-gold ties, ties with diagonal stripes and ties that blame oriental designs for the pattern they carry, are a part of the resplendent display of this store. With them are to be found some nobby French crepe shirts, some of them in them latest brown shades. The front part of the window is occupied by the exclusive pearl gray and black, back and front droop fedoras that were made expressly for this house.

STEWART, THE TAILOR.

Blarney tweeds are particularly admired by Stewart, who has a good variety to chose from. Made into the latest one-button sack, they are very appealing. His full dress clothes show a wider lapel and more form-fitting back, with front of coat well closed over the vest.

JAMES SMITH & CO.

WETHERBY-KAYSER.

Shoes for all events, golfing, motoring, dancing or just ordinary walking, are to be found behind the glass sheltering the display of this firm. Some striking examples of English styles, including one or two models with perforated toes, which are just beginning to be mentioned in shoe catalogues after a long absence from trade channels, are shown.

BUSCH'S.

Mackinaw auto coats in patterns that would make most Indians envious make a colorful window at this store. The coats look enticingly warm for anyone who motors, and does the driving in person which necessitates these short-length garments. Shirts in all the stripes to be found in most recent manufacture occupy a corner of the display windows, and hats are not overlooked in the endeavor to help those in a choice of needed headgear to go with the dress-up plan.

DESMOND'S.

If it's a late style you are seeking you'll find it in Desmond windows. Some very nobby balmacaans in rich dark colorings are among the most noticeable garments on display. An individual case occupying a very important position holds the apparel of a Beau Brummel, dark blue, one-button sack coat, lapeled vest, English trousers, black derby with droopy ends and high-rolled brim sides, gloves to match and cane for protection. Some very distinct silk shirt novelties, the kind that strike the eye squarely with their brilliancy, are also quite noticeable.

WALKOVER SHOE STORES.

For the tired foot, a Walkover shoe with soft leather sole and rubber heel holds its promises. This is shown in various windows of the stores, in addition to late cloth-top models, some of the cloth being known as dreadnought linen. A wide variety of style outside of the English shapes are shown.

WOOD BROS.

With every suit at a single price and every overcoat there, too, the matter of latest style sometimes might escape the casual gazer into the windows of this store. A second glance reveals all of the latest cuts in single and double-breasted coats. Tweeds are plentiful, as are the solid blacks and blues, which remain in good taste through all seasons. Overcoats of the full balmacaan type predominate in the display.

HARRIS & FRANK.

Cheviots and worsteds are decidedly not out of the running, according to the suits of these materials displayed. Some very tasty browns and blues were the outstanding suits, aside from those for dress occasions. The snug-fitting overcoat, with its plush collar, was emphasized. Men's shoes and shirts also stood out prominently. Of the latter, the flannel shirts with the broad, brilliant silk stripes, were decidedly chic and nobby for winter wear.

JAMES BURNS.

Shoes for comfort, rather than for style, is evidently the motto of this Broadway store, which also showed some of the late styles among the footgear for men. The sound and sane lasts were most prominent in the group, however.

R. MAGEE, HATTER.

This is the period during which the cap is returning to its popularity, and at the Magee store it occupied the principal window space. Numerous checks in black and white were predominant. There were also caps made of tweeds to match, with the large amount of that kind of material used this season. These are of many shades. The cut is largely after the old jockey style.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

Lyell Bradford and Frank J. Burke, in business as the Burke-Bradford Drug Company, made individual assignments in the United States District Court yesterday, in a bankruptcy petition. The debts of the corporation are $19,147.87. Mr. Bradford has assets valued at $150, claimed as exempt. Mr. Burke has none. They had undivided interests in the concern. The Los Angeles Terminal Company also filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday, with liabilities of $3399.28 and assets of $31,828.14, of which $28,000 is in insurance policies.

This is the young American of today

He is easy, graceful, comfortable in his clothes; sure of himself and of the way he is dressed.

The picture is drawn from the new Varsity Fifty Five suit made by Hart Schaffner & Marx.

($18 and better, see windows)

You'll see that it differs from many "fashion drawings." It is natural, looks the way well-dressed young men really look. His clothes fit him, but they do not "encase" him; they follow his "lines," and he is both comfortable and stylish. Right there is the big point about

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

Varsity Fifty-Five suits are shown in several new models; in fact, variety enough in coats, vests, pockets and buttons for all sorts and wearers. Young men will take to them. $18 or better.

—here are some "dress up" hints in furnishings:

THE satisfaction a man gets from the drape and "feel" of a truly SMART SHIRT is worth seeking.

Get it here in the silk creations—they're AMERICAN conceptions—have a "young" spirit to their lines—the price $5.

French flannel shirts are going "strong." At $3.50 particularly. Appeal to fellows in school.

Yes, we've beautiful $1 shirts. Splendid tailoring.

CRAVATS lean toward flowered and "all-over" patterns. $1 or from 25c to $5.

WHILE you are in our underwear department (for fall weights) ask about the Golf Coats. They're knitted, have Norfolk backs and patch pockets. Probably you've seen them in the society pages of VANITY FAIR and elsewhere. Great for outings. Football men "want" them. $10.

Do your feet enjoy "555" silk 50c HOSIERY? If not you are missing some mighty elegant comfort, yes, and economy. In quality the silk brother of "333," our 25c hosiery.

Initial belts are very popular—we have the kind you can have anything you wish engraved on the buckle. New kind of buckle, by the way.

BEFORE you think of hats remember that if you wish to pay $15 for a HAT you can get the smartest suits here that can be shown anywhere in Los Angeles. Call us on this!

The good old, now new, reliable "fedora" shape has returned. Praise designers from whom all styles come. John B. Stetson has created a beauty called "The Event." Becomes all types of men, yet distinctive on every man so crowned. Has that "something." Price $4.

In the Skies.

TO TRACE DOWN RADIO OUTLAWS.

OFFICIALS HERE WITH SPECIAL RECEIVING APPARATUS.

Will Measure Wave Lengths of Impulses from Amateur Wireless Stations and Quickly Determine if Federal Statute is Violated. Warning to Non-profesionals.

Equipped with a specially-calibrated receiving apparatus for determining the wave lengths of wireless impulses sent from amateur wireless stations in the vicinity, V. F. Greaves, inspector and engineer in charge of the radio service of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., and E. W. Stone, assistant radio inspector of San Francisco, have opened a temporary office in the wireless school at the Y.M.C.A.

With the apparatus the officials will "listen in" and determine what stations are using a wave length in excess of the 200-meter limit prescribed by Federal statute, without having to make any further inspection of the stations. While no definite knowledge of violations of the sort has been obtained by the authorities, it is believed several stations are repeatedly disregarding the statute, in regard to both wave length and breadth of the impulses. It is known that numerous amateur stations in this vicinity are equipped with antennae capable of delivering and receiving impulses far in excess of the prescribed limit.

While here the radio officials will conduct examinations for licenses daily at the Y.M.C.A. All amateurs holding second grade licenses must appear and take the examination for a first grade amateur permit.

Inspector Stone said yesterday:

"The operation of a wireless station is a serious matter and all operators must carefully study the laws and make every effort to meet requirements before applying for a license. We have copies of the radio laws and regulations and will be glad to furnish them upon application. We will also co-operate with amateurs in securing proper adjustment of instruments and in any other way we can.

"There is no desire on the part of the Federal Government to put the amateurs out of business entirely, but they must realize and appreciate that if they do not comply with the law and take more pains to avoid interfering with commercial and government stations, a law will surely be passed making the restrictions even more severe, if not entirely prohibiting the operation of amateur stations."

One of the frequent violations observed by the inspectors is the connecting of spark coils and buzzers directly across the spark gap without inserting tuning resistances. The use of the instruments in the manner described makes it almost impossible to regulate the breadth of the impulse sent out and generally tends to interfere with the longer and broader impulses sent out by maritime and interstate stations.

AVOCADO MEN TO MEET.

Many Experts to Speak Here at the First General Meeting of the State Association.

The California Thuacate Association will hold its first general meeting at the Alexandria October 23. The programme will begin at 9 o'clock a.m. and continue to 4:30 or 5 p.m., with an intermission for lunch hour. Every one interested in the ahuacate (avocado) is invited to be present.

The speakers are to be, among others, Dr. J. Eliot Coit, Prof. I. J. Condit and Prof. M. E. Jaffa, all of the University of California; H. J. Webber of the State Experimental Station, Riverside; David Fairchild, head of foreign seed and plant introduction, Bureau of Plant Industry; Wilson Popenoe, agricultural explorer, Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Agricultural Department; former Judge Charles Silent of Glendora; C. P. Taft of Orange, F. O. Popenoe of Altadena; John C. Bosche, importer and exporter of ahuacates, formerly of Mexico City; E. B. Rivers, importer and exporter of fruit, and Edwin G. Hart, president of the association.

An exhibit of mature fruit will be an attractive adjunct of the meeting.

The association is desirous of securing 500 or more ripe or nearly ripe thin-skinned fruit for experimental work, in which the University of California has agreed to co-operate.

COAT CAUSES ARREST.

Mrs. J. L. Bonime, No. 1341 South Hope street, thought she recognized her coat hurrying along the street yesterday on the back of a stranger. She reported her vision to the police and Miss Helen Brenner, No. 635 East Williams street, was arrested on suspicion of having stolen the garment from the wardrobe of the Normal School during a function there July 9. At the time several garments were reported missing.

WATER DRENCHES OUT GAS FIRE.

STANDARD WELL SPOUTS FLAMES BUT EXTINGUISHES BLAZE ITSELF.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Sept. 29.—The gas fire at well No. 17 of the Standard Oil Company in the Murphy lease was suddenly extinguished about 4:30 o'clock this morning after burning from 8:30 o'clock last evening. The putting out of this great gas-gusher fire was almost as spectacular and unlooked for as its outburst. After spouting gas for this time the well began to shoot up great jets of water and one particularly violent geyser extinguished the flame.

The company expects to have the well under complete control tonight or tomorrow. Today a set of extra heavy fixtures with necessary valves and pipes tested to a strength of 2000 pounds per square inch were prepared and at the earliest moment these will be swung into place, screwed onto the well casing, and the giant will be throttled.

The well was being brought in with apparent safety yesterday evening at 3900 feet showing a pressure of 600 pounds even with a four-inch gate open. Suddenly something gave way, and the tools were blown out. An electric wire was severed and in an instant flames shot into the air more than 200 feet. Workmen took to their heels at the first crack and no one was injured.

This afternoon the well was spouting fully 200 feet with a roar and conversation in the vicinity was absolutely impossible.

VISALIA, Sept. 29.—On allegations of fraud and illegal methods in the transfer of stock, T. E. The suit is the outgrowth of the recent liquidation of the affairs of the Tulare county corporation, following a sale of the physical assets of the company to the Mt. Whitney Power and Electric Company.

JURORS DISAGREE.

The jury deliberating the case of R. J. Davis, charged with forgery in a realty transaction, could not reach a decision yesterday. Judge Craig dismissed them late in the afternoon. Davis is charged with trying to defraud the Title Guaranty and Trust Company and Dr. John M. Lee of Sierra Madre in realty deals. The allegation states that Davis procured to sell to E. S. Tatum, a real estate dealer, a lot belonging to Dr. Lee. The low valuation which the defendant is said to have placed upon the lot caused Mr. Tatum to investigate with the result that Davis was arrested and is in charge by authorities from the District Attorney's office. The prosecution contended that, with the aid of dummies, Davis had secured quitclaim deeds purporting to show the transfer of the lot belonging to Dr. Lee to himself.

ASK FOR FRANCHISE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Sept. 29.—A franchise for the operation of electrically propelled passenger cars on an extension of the wide walk along the ocean front has been requested by H. R. Crosby and G. S. Garner. They offer to pay the city $500 for a forty-year right to run the walk at their own expense and to pay a license of $5 per month for each car operated. The City Trustees have taken the request under consideration, although as the property is donated for public purposes it is necessary to grant a franchise hinges upon the consent of the original owners of the property.

GOING TO HEADQUARTERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 28.—Prof. Miller of the Mission Inn party left East with the intention of [illegible] ing President Ripley of the Santa Fe and securing the consent of the official to Miller's programme of erecting home a new depot, of old Mission design, to grace another corner in "Mission City." It is understood that the railroad company made an appropriation last year of $[illegible] amount to erect a structure that will do the city credit, but the plan fell through because of opposition developed to granting the company's request for the abandonment of a portion of Olive street, on which the depot are laid.

FAR-REACHING EFFECTS OF LIQUOR DECISIONS.

Flood of Wet Goods Already Pouring into Prohibition Districts.

Supreme and Appellate Court Decisions, Exclusively Told in "The Times," Blow Lid off and Dealers are Swamped with Orders—Railroads and Express Companies will Ship into Arizona.

FOLLOWING the exclusive publication in The Times yesterday of the fact that, while the traffic in liquor may be prohibited anywhere, there is no such thing as dry territory inasmuch as shipments of liquor may be made to any destination for personal consumption, Los Angeles brewers and wholesale liquor dealers received a flood of orders from residents of small cities in California where ordinances have held that possession is evidence to convict. Many orders came by telegraph from Arizona.

Railroads and express companies which have been refusing shipments of liquor into supposedly-dry territory yesterday passed word to the proper departments that all such shipments may hereafter be accepted.

The belated discovery of the Supreme Court ruling, announced by Justice Day on June 14, and the exclusive announcement of that discovery in The Times yesterday, caused a special conference of railway freight officials and attorneys yesterday morning.

Later, railroad officials called on Col. Harry Laub, head of the liquor interests in Southern California, and discussed the features of the case with him.

The surprise occasioned by the announcement is that the railroads and express companies were unaware of the existence of the ruling. The Kenyon case, upon which Justice Day wrote his opinion affecting the Webb-Kenyon interstate liquor traffic law, was a prosecution of the Adams Express Company for taking liquor for personal use from Tennessee into Wesley county, Kentucky, dry territory.

Justice Day, for the United States Supreme Court, held it was bound to accept the decision of the Kentucky Court of Appeal that the Webb-Kenyon act was not applicable to cases where liquor was shipped interstate for personal consumption. The conviction of the express company in the lower court was therefore set aside.

In consonance with the opinion of the highest court is the ruling of the Appellate Court in a recent case. This provides that no city has the right to pass ordinances providing that possession of liquor is ground for legal prosecution of the owner or possessor.

While the construction of the Webb-Kenyon case restores a certain liberty to the citizens of Arizona, supposedly a dry State, the Appellate Court ruling makes invalid all ordinances on the subject enforced by incorporated cities.

The far-reaching effect of both decisions not only stimulated the liquor traffic and opened up territory that was thought to be lost to them, but caused a sensation among the Prohibitionists on the eve of the launching of their initiative petitions for the 1916 election.

The decisions hold that prohibition does not prohibit. In other words, that if California is voted dry next year, the purveyors of liquors within the State will be the only ones to suffer, as the people will be allowed to receive liquors from eastern distilleries and from the breweries and wineries of other States.

The Prohibitionists will ask that the traffic in liquor in California be abolished and will offer two amendments to the Constitution to bring about this end, but they regard the opinion of the United States Supreme Court declaring that there is no such thing as dry territory to be a nearly-fatal handicap to their argument.

All expressed sympathy for their brethren in the war zone and compared their condition with that of their countrymen living in the United States.

WAR ANIMUS RUINS HOME.

Husband English, Wife German; Divorce Won in Court of Many Races.

George F. Kelsea, who is English, and Freeda Kelsea, German, were at peace until the war broke out, when marriage became what Sherman said war is. The conflict made partisans of husband and wife, and led them to the divorce court yesterday.

Mr. Kelsea referred to Mrs. Kelsea as a Dutch woman, the evidence showed. When the Lusitania was blown up by a German submarine, it was further brought out, Mr. Kelsea supposed Mrs. Kelsea's cousins, serving in the German army, took part in the attack. He told her if he was a German, he would blow off his head. Mr. Kelsea said that when he was reading about the Lusitania disaster Mrs. Kelsea hoped every American who crossed the Atlantic would be blown up. He told her it was not right to include women and children, and says she retorted with the wish that the Germans would come to America and kill all the children so they could not grow up and become soldiers or mothers of soldiers.

Mr. Kelsea closed the argument by saying he had no use for any person who talked in that manner.

Mrs. Kelsea left home the day following. The weight of the evidence was on the side of the wife, in the divorce action, and Judge Finlayson granted her a decree.

The international character of the suit setting was added to by the fact that Judge Finlayson is Scotch; Court Reporter Peterson, Scotch-Irish; Clerk Moore, Austrian; Bailiff Reynolds, Irish; Attorney Cooper, English; Attorney La Plante, French.

BUTLER HEAD OF NEW HOSPITAL.

MANAGING BOARD OF NORWALK INSTITUTION MEETS.

Recently-completed State Building to be Turned Over to Southern California Officials Next Week and its Staff Named at Once—To Open About First of Year.

A meeting of the first board of managers of the Norwalk State Hospital was held yesterday in the offices of Dr. H. G. Brainerd in the Brockman Building. Members of the board were unanimous in offering Dr. Brainerd the chairmanship but because of his various activities he declined and Sidney A. Butler was elected. Mrs. F. C. Porter was elected secretary.

The board met to take over control of the hospital, relieving the State Architect and the State Superintendent of Hospitals from their duties in connection with the construction and operation of the institution. Applications were received from various sources for the positions of medical superintendent and treasurer of the new hospital. The applications were taken under advisement but no definite action taken. The position of medical superintendent carries with it many responsibilities, including the employing of the medical staff and all employees of the institution. Members of the board said yesterday that the position would be awarded only after extensive investigations and careful consideration.

About $350,000 was appropriated by the 1913 Legislature for the hospital and 200-acre site. Several minor buildings have been already completed and it is expected that by January 1 the large concrete building will be finished and accommodations ready for 200 or more patients.

MEETS DEATH IN THE TRAIL.

Misstep Fatal to Ganahl at Wheeler Springs.

Body of Wealthy Angeleno Found on Mountain.

Made Money in Lumber and Real Estate.

A misstep in a mountain path near Wheeler Hot Springs, Ventura county, brought death yesterday to F. J. Ganahl, wealthy real estate operator and lumberman, 80 years old, of No. 316 North Avenue Fifty-seven. The body was found at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Ganahl left the hotel at the springs yesterday morning with two friends for a walk. When they returned to the hotel at 11 a.m. he continued his journey down the path, known as the Old Nordhoff Pack trail. The body was found about seventy-five feet from where he was last seen alive.

The position of the body on the mountainside showed that Mr. Ganahl fell only a few feet. Dr. F. E. Corwin, resident physician at the springs, who conducted an examination, said that death had been caused by Mr. Ganahl falling and striking his head against a stone. The skull was not fractured and the physician thought his advanced age was a factor in the fatal accident.

Mr. Ganahl had spent a vacation at Wheeler Springs for several seasons. He went to the resort last Monday. He was fond of climbing and it was not unusual for him to take long trips.

J. C. Perry, manager of the hot springs, notified the family in this city of the accident by telephone. Gaston Ganahl, son of the pioneer, went to the springs for the body late yesterday afternoon. The widow and these other children are living: Lucien, Alphonse and Ernest Ganahl, Miss Agnes Ganahl and Mrs. J. G. Donovan and Mrs. Joseph Sharp.

Mr. Ganahl had a number of other relatives in Los Angeles. His brothers are Christian Ganahl, president of the C. Ganahl Lumber Company, and Fidel G. Ganahl, retired real estate dealer of No. 1402 South Los Angeles street. The other officers of the lumber company are near relatives of the victim: J. G. Ganahl, vice-president; C. C. Ganahl, secretary, and E. F. Ganahl, treasurer. Frank C. Ganahl, proprietor of the Portola Cafe, is a nephew of the pioneer.

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Ganahl came to Los Angeles from St. Louis, where he had been engaged in the lumber business. After he had made a fortune in that business in Los Angeles he engaged in handling real estate and again was highly successful.

NEW DIG AT GRAPE MEN.

Regulation Just Announced to Reach After Last Cent of Vine Industry.

Manufacturers of grapes and fruit brandies in the Sixth Internal Revenue District must pay an increase of $10,000 in taxes under a new regulation announced by Acting Commissioner David A. Gates. The order also places a considerable additional burden on eastern makers of whisky.

A communication received yesterday by Collector Carter says the regulation is the result of investigation showing manufacturers, through adjustment of proof of spirits in the receiving cisterns, have escaped tax on one-tenth to one-twentieth of a proof gallon per package.

The Sixth District, according to available reports, produces about 1,000,000 gallons or 20,000 barrels of brandy annually. The tax now added amounts to 50 cents a barrel.

The official report says that, in addition to under-proofing, there have been discrepancies in weighing. The gaugers are charged with gross carelessness. Hereafter fractional degrees of proof of four-tenths or more shall be counted as one degree, and smaller amounts excluded. In case under-payment is discovered, if the discrepancy amounts to four-tenths of a gallon or more, the unpaid tax may be lie levied against the distiller and on verification of the regauge, the spirits may be forfeited.

There has been no complaint of the local gaugers and the new burden placed on California distillers will further complicate a situation already in bad shape.

FORMER PRIZE WINNERS ENTER BROADWAY SHOW.

IN THE half acre of flowers and plants to be shown at the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show the 25d to the 30th of next month will be competitive exhibits of roses, chrysanthemums, dahlias, carnations, orchids, begonias, decorative plants and ferns from a large number of amateur growers in Los Angeles, Pasadena and other cities. Many entries are being received.

More than forty handsome cups will be offered as prizes, ample incentive being given gardeners to bring in their choicest plants and blossoms. The full list of prizes and the schedule of classes, together with the rules governing the show will be printed in next Sunday's Times.

The City Park department will have one of the most attractive exhibits ever made in California. Superintendent of Parks Sherer will draw on the magnificent resources of the parks and the conservatory at Eastlake Park to show in condensed form what his department is accomplishing in adding to the beauties of the city.

Pasadena gardeners will show in competitive classes a large number of chrysanthemums, that city being famous for the size and beauty of its chrysanthemum blooms. Several hundred amateur rose growers will compete in four classes for the cups offered. A notable feature of the rose exhibits will come from the garden of Arthur Letts in Hollywood. Miss Helen Rosekranse, whose rose garden won a $50 cash prize in the rose garden contest conducted by The Times last spring, will show both roses and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. C. A. Richey, also a prize winner in The Times contest, will exhibit roses in three classes. Frank Lewin of Hawthorne, winner of the sweepstakes prize at Hamburger's rose show, will exhibit roses in all classes. Mr. Lewin's display at The Times show last May was a center of attraction because of its size and the beauty and perfection of the blossoms. Mr. Lewin was ineligible for a prize at that contest because he was one of the committee of judges.

Among the Pasadena exhibits at the big Broadway show will be one from the beautiful garden of H. Jevne. Mr. Jevne's chief gardener is William Hutchinson, many times winner of cups and other prizes for chrysanthemums and formerly president of the Pasadena Horticultural Society. He is planning to show chrysanthemums and potted plants.

The Naked Truth.

POLITICAL PLOT PLAIN IN NEYLAN'S CHARGES.

Attorney Bowen Demands Fair Trial of Accusations Brought by Johnson's Man Friday in Connection with Exposition Park—Former Fredericks Campaign Manager Declares Revenge Inspired Attack Against Him.

FOR a great many years William M. Bowen was attorney for the Sixth District Agricultural Association. He is known as the "father of Exposition Park," and it has been due to his tireless efforts that the park has grown into such a magnificent institution as it stands today. He is an honest, public-spirited, high-minded citizen, than whom none has worked more unselfishly and effectively for his city and State. He has been foremost in all good works.

Last summer Mr. Bowen became Republican county chairman in Los Angeles and was also campaign manager for Capt. John D. Fredericks.

Capt. Fredericks ran for Governor against Johnson. And from the date of his connection with the Fredericks campaign Mr. Bowen became a marked man.

Up in Sacramento there is John Francis Neylan, made chairman of the State Board of Control by Gov. Johnson—and a man who does the bidding of the executive in one of the most powerful branches of the State government.

From the time that William M. Bowen took an active and leading part in the political campaign against Gov. Johnson, and necessarily against John Neylan and all the wire-pulling politicians enthroned in seats of power, it was ordained that Mr. Bowen be selected as the shining example of the retribution that may be visited upon anyone so accursedly audacious as to dare oppose the Governor.

This is all by way of showing the connection between the political pirate and the intended prey. Out of Sacramento there crept with stealth and secret yearning, John Francis Neylan. He came to Los Angeles and the result of his visit was the reading of a report before the Sixth District Agricultural Association which resulted in the release of Mr. Bowen as attorney.

Neylan's report, bristling with charges of fraud and corruption, is characterized by Mr. Bowen, in an answer filed with the association yesterday, as the climax of an infamous political plot to defame him, to ruin him in the eyes of the community he has so long served, and to wreak revenge upon him for the temerity he assumed last summer in taking charge of the Fredericks campaign.

Neylan, a political trickster, had no compunction about omitting statements of facts that would have weakened his case against Mr. Bowen, as he had no hesitancy in including garbled deductions from the records of the association.

"It is a tissue of falsehoods; an attempt to prove conclusions by lifting statements from their context and making them do dirty duty for the sake of politics," is the way Mr. Bowen characterized the charges.

Mr. Bowen asks the association for an investigation, "full, searching and fair."

REFUTES EVERY CHARGE.

"I have fully, conclusively refuted every charge made by him," he continued. "I have shown that Neylan, for reasons that are apparent to all who know the dirty brand of politics played by the present State administration, has boldly falsified records for the purpose of proving his case."

Starting with the statement that Neylan has made a deliberate attempt to assassinate his good character and name, Mr. Bowen not only accuses the Johnson henchman of falsifying and garbling statements from the books of the agricultural association, but asks why he alone is selected for attack.

"That his sole purpose," Mr. Bowen says in his answer, "was to assassinate me for political purposes is shown by these facts; he selects for his attack me alone from the many other good citizens equally engaged in the work of recovering the park property from private interests, charging me with acts done by the board and officials of your association.

"He attacks my compensation," Mr. Bowen continues, "for legal serv-

TERRIFIC ARRAIGNMENT OF CRIMINAL POLITICS.

Jackson A. Graves, Financier and Economic Authority, Thrills Jovian League with Verbal Thunderbolts Launched at Hiram Johnson, Sam Gompers, Roosevelt, Bryan and Other Exploiters of the People.

FOLLOWING are a few of the scores of fearless declarations of fact, which featured the address of Mr. Graves to the Jovians:

"Be on your guard against any pleas for the abolishment of parties in California. Such a step would leave the Johnson machine, with its thousands of pap-suckers, absolutely in control of the State for all time to come. They could loot it at will, and the taxpayers would carry the burden. So not only vote but work against this iniquitous measure."

"Gompers is the arch-devil of criminal labor-unionism in America, and yet the Governor of this State said in his Labor Day speech in this city that if it came to a question of Taft or Gompers for President of the United States, he preferred Gompers. He indorsed the promoter, the defender and the apologist of the dynamiters in preference to the man who assisted in sending them to the penitentiary. If the star of Hiram Johnson has not already begun to set, that sentiment, publicly expressed, ought to put a quietus on his further usefulness to this commonwealth."

"They (the Progressives) have engrafted on the government of this State the initiative, the referendum, the recall and the direct primary. Under them has been built up in this State the most corrupt, the most malignant, the most extravagant and the most insolent political machine that any State in the Union was ever encumbered with."

"If I read the signs aright, the next national election will do away with the mollycoddle, the incompetents, the peace-at-any-price advocates, the war tax when we are not at war, the revenue tax which is both unjust and unequal in its operations, with a tariff under which our industries languish, with a labor-union domination of national legislation and of some departments of our government."

Bracketing Hiram Johnson with Sam Gompers, "arch-devil of criminal labor-unionism in America," and accusing the Democratic party of pandering to the anarchist, the dynamiter, and the criminal element, Vice-President Jackson A. Graves of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank electrified members of the Jovian League yesterday with his pertinent puncturing of the shallow pretenses of parties and men.

Applause, liberal and appreciative, punctuated the address, while cheers in a crescendo made a period to the speaker's closing admonition that "non-partisanism" in politics will mean the looting of the State by Johnson and his following of trained "pap-suckers."

Nearly 200 members crowded the dining-room of Christopher's for the meeting, which was the first of the league's winter season and also furnished a spur to programme-makers of the future. President J. Harry Pieper announced that there was $43 in the treasury and asked contributions to make it $100 so that a bond of the Children's Home Finding Society might be purchased at the Christmas season. They were forthcoming.

"We'll call him the Jovian boy," said President Pieper.

"Here's my check for $100 for a Jovian girl," interjected Mr. Graves, whereat the distinguished guest was cheered to the echo.

Officers for the league's new year, it was announced, will be elected at the meeting next Wednesday. It was also announced that President Shoup of the Pacific Electric will speak before the league, October 21.

"A financier, a writer, a sportsman, and an orator par excellence," said the chairman of the meeting, H. Jack Moulton, in introducing Mr. Graves.

Saloon-keepers Arrested for Selling "Near Beer."

Woman May Lose Arm as Result of Automobile Wreck.

Museum of Archaeology Gets Valuable Additions.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 27.—Joseph Thalheimer and J. J. Elliott, both former saloonkeepers, were arrested charged with violating the constitutional prohibition amendment by selling an alleged "near beer" made at Douglas. With them were arrested four bartenders. The men opened their saloons without any attempt at concealment and sold the compound openly and to all who asked for it. Phoenix streets took on the appearance of old times, when drunken Mexicans were to be seen in every block. The Sheriff postponed making arrests until he had had several samples of the beer analyzed. On finding that it contained from 2¼ to 3½ per cent. of alcohol he arrested all parties concerned. They were allowed to go on $600 cash bail each, which was put up by the principals.

INSURANCE CHARGE.

W. N. Bridges, former superintendent of insurance of the State Corporation Commission, and J. C. Foster, were arrested here charged with discounting premium notes before the delivery of the policies. They were arrested on warrants issued from Benson, in Pima county, and were released on bail. Their attorneys promise revelations that, they say, will lead to a great scandal in the Corporation Commission.

ECHO OF DRY CAMPAIGN.

Growing out of the prohibition campaign, a case was set for trial in the Superior Court today that is attracting more than State-wide attention. It is a libel suit brought by G. F. Rinehart, former secretary of the State Temperance Federation, against I. Wolpe, a former liquor dealer, and now a leading druggist of the city. In the complaint Rinehart alleges that Wolpe, during the campaign, circulated statements to the effect that Rinehart had a criminal record.

MAY LOSE HER ARM.

Losing control of her automobile while coming from Tempe to Phoenix last night, Mrs. Mabel Freeman had her arm almost severed by a strand of the barbed wire fence into which the machine swerved when it left the road. The arm was cut to the bone completely around its circumference and there is great danger that she may be compelled to suffer its amputation. Two other members of the party were slightly injured. A strange feature of the accident was that Mrs. Freeman, with blood streaming from her wound, insisted on running 200 yards after the machine and shutting off the batteries.

YUMA IRRIGATION PLAN.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Sept. 27.—Petitions are being numerously signed asking for the appointment of a cost review board to examine into and report upon the cost of the Yuma irrigation project. Like the ranchers in the Salt River Valley, local farmers feel that the cost of the project for which they will be called upon to pay is entirely too high. They claim that the same extravagant expenditures that marked the construction of the Salt River system are in evidence here.

LIQUOR IS SEIZED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VAIL (Ariz.) Sept. 27.—Fifty gallons of liquor not properly labeled were seized by the Sheriff of Pima county, while the cans were in the freight house of the Southern Pacific Railway here. The liquor was in oil cans and was consigned from the El Paso Vulcanizing and Auto Supply Company to C. Ward at Vail. C. C. Roller attempted to get possession of the liquor and was arrested. He claims to be a detective, and that he was trailing the shipment to discover the parties who received it. He was bound over to the Federal Court at El Paso.

ARCHAEOLOGY EXHIBIT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TUCSON, Sept. 27.—The University of Arizona is receiving almost daily additions to its museum of archaeology collected by Prof. Byron Cummings, head of that department of the State institution. During the summer he discovered three large prehistoric dwellings and several smaller ones in the canyons of the Navajo mountains. The largest pueblo excavated contained eighty-four rooms, and in one of these were found many specimens of ancient handicraft of a variety new to archaeologists. Prominent among them is an embroidered cloth the use of which cannot be conjectured, and which is said to be unique and not duplicated in similar collections.

MILLING ASBESTOS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLOBE, Sept. 27.—Machinery for the milling of asbestos will be in operation at the Fisk and Smell property on Ask Creek, forty miles from Globe, within six weeks. The mill was constructed here by Edward Torrey, who came from the Canadian asbestos fields for the purpose. Forty men are now employed on the property, and already eight carloads of the long fiber that does not require milling have been shipped. One shipment of four tons has been made to Japan.

EPIDEMIC OF TRACHOMA.

TRICK DOG WITHIN LAW?

Master First Arrested under Advertising Ordinance; Declares He Sees Loophole in Wording of Statute.

Dick Goodwin, No. 306 Crocker street, owner of a trained dog, was arrested yesterday on the charge of using an animal for advertising purposes. He is the first person arrested under the ordinance.

His dog, "Spike," or "His Master's Choice," is used as bearer of advertising literature for a dog food. All day the animal parades the street, performing tricks at intervals.

The ordinance prohibits leading, riding or driving an animal for advertising purposes. The dog runs along the street without guidance of any kind and Mr. Goodwin alleges he is without the pale of the law.

Johnson Arraigned.

"also a pioneer of the West, and a man whose opinion is sought in crises and in times of affluence."

Following a witty reference to other days in Kentucky, and an appreciated rendition of a preacher's injunction to his son, "Go feed that sow six ears of corn," which, in the excitement of a camp meeting, was metamorphosed into a hymn, Mr. Graves plunged into his subject, "Sons of Jove."

His address follows in full:

MR. GRAVES'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Toastmaster and Jovians:

From the name of your association, I take it that you have sprung from the great god Jupiter, otherwise known as Jove, also known as Jupiter Pluvius, God of Rain, and Jupiter Tonans, God of Thunder.

Jupiter was the principal god of the Romans, occupying the same position as to them that Zeus did to the Greeks. He was widely known as father of both gods and men, and possessed full power over the lives and destinies of things both animate and inanimate. He occupied the same position in his time that the Kaiser, the rambunctious Roosevelt [laughter] and the holier-than-thou Hiram Johnson would like to occupy in these times. [Laughter and cheers.] He drew lots with his brothers Neptune and Pluto, in dividing the world between them, and to him fell the "extensive heaven in earth and clouds." The winds, storms, rains, thunder and lightning were exclusively his elements.

He was some live wire, all right, [laughter] and when he wanted anything done he did not bluster around, like Teddy does, he simply turned on his switch and the devil was to pay in no time. At his command storms arose which poured oceans over the land, levelled forests, destroyed mountains, wrecked vessels, devastated cities, and filled his enemies with immediate despair. He was quite "dippy" on his wife, June [laughter] who was also his sister, and he hurled or stayed his thunderbolts, in many instances, at her request, or shall we say, her command? At times she usurped his powers, as when she persuaded Aeolus, keeper of the winds, to let loose his howling hurricanes upon the ship of Aeneas. Describing this storm, Virgil uses the celebrated line, "Nox atra incubat mare," which, freely translated, means, "Black night brood over the sea," and has long been looked upon as a gem in descriptive literature.

Improving on Jupiter, you have advanced the electric science from the crude beginning of Benjamin Franklin to its present state, and yet all you know on the subject is just a beginning. Edison says that by careful research for fully 5000 years more, science may then make a beginning at solving the mysteries of electricity. At present you know that by certain processes you can produce certain results, but no man yet understands electrical energy.

WAR OF THE FUTURE.

There are those who predict that the time will come when the electricians will, with a wireless flash, be able to instantly destroy whole armies miles away, blow up battleships, destroy submarines under water, explode munitions of war, and wreck the most powerful fortifications at will.

When nations are equipped with instruments of death of this character, the present war which convulses Europe and threatens to shake the civilization of the earth to its foundations, will be but child's play, compared with wars to come.

As I am a little lame, I will move off the stage before this perfection in electricity is realized. [Laughter.] I think the going for me will be better within the immediate future than it will be later on. [Laughter.] The few earthquakes I have been through are sufficient for me, and I have no desire to be the objective of all-consuming electric shocks delivered by an unseen foe from an incomprehensible distance.

Yet when I contemplate the actions of those who who have ranted up and down the confines of the United States stirring up trouble, preaching anarchy and disloyalty to our flag, dishonor to our nation, or who have besmirched the character of the great mass of business leaders of this country—those men who have built up its industries, made it great and strong, and rendered it possible for our working classes to live on a higher standard than the working classes of any other nation on earth—I would like myself, for an instant, to be clothed with all the powers of the great god Jupiter. Flashes of lightning from a clear sky would burst forth, and all along the line political disturbers, usurpers of power, and fomenters of class hatred, would perish and disappear from off the face of the earth.

When I contemplate the resources of this country, her gigantic proportions, her unrivaled advantages of climate and soil, of scenery, of inland waterways, ore-stored mountains, navigable lakes, universally distributed mineral and agricultural wealth and possibilities, I have no patience with the human being, be he native or foreign born, who does not appreciate our blessings, and is not loyal to this government. [Applause.] You sons of Jove I hope are all loyal Americans. You are bright, intelligent, snappy-looking, good-featured men, and I do not believe the poison of union-laborism, or progressiveness in politics, as that word is used in California, has lodgment in your souls.

PLAYS DEMOCRATS.

I note with great satisfaction that the slogan of the Republican party for the next Presidential campaign is to be "America first, America for Americans." And right here let me say, the Democratic party has always pandered to the lowest element of our foreign population. It has taken to its breast the anarchist, the dynamiter and the criminal element of the labor unions. Wilson was the first President of this nation to appoint a fomenter of strikes to a place in his Cabinet. The speech of Secretary of Labor Wilson, delivered at Seattle, should have caused that official's removal from the Cabinet. At present Gompers controls legislative action. Think of it! The unspeakable Gompers, who should be chained to Emma Goldman, and dropped into the deepest part of the Pacific Ocean. [Laughter and applause.]

With the proposed slogan of the Republican party I am heartily in accord. By Americans are meant not only native-born Americans, but those of foreign birth, no matter where they came from, who have not only sworn but actually given their sole allegiance to America. I have no use for the man of foreign birth who has taken advantage of our naturalization laws, sworn fealty to the country, cast his lot with America, won success from the opportunities afforded him, who in times of stress is loyal to his fatherland, rather than to the land of his adoption. If war comes to this country then I hope to see martial law declared, and those of foreign birth who are disloyal citizens, enemies to America, immediately shipped back to the countries from which they came. To be a loyal American citizen a man must stand by the doctrine, "America first." When we say, "America for Americans," we mean that our legislation, our efforts, our economic system, will be exercised for America and against all the nations of the earth. This is the doctrine of all the other nations of the world, of Germany above all others, all of them without a single exception. The proposed slogan of the Republican party means loyalty to the American nation. It means devotion to her interests. It means taking such steps as will bring her people the greatest happiness and the greatest prosperity. It means a union of the principles, the thoughts and the souls of our people for the good of the nation. It means the cultivation of a spirit of sacrifice for the common good, moved by which our people would, in the event of a crisis, give up their lives and the last atom of their accumulations, in defense of the Stars and Stripes, against any nation, no matter which, with whom it was at war. It means a state of preparedness, ready for any emergency, and the silencing forever of the "peace-at-any-price" advocates [applause] who are willing to endure any humiliation rather than see our nation at war. It does not mean that we are to seek a conflict (God forbid that we should ever be at war with any nation!) but it means that neither the nation nor any man in it will shrink from their duties if war should come. [Applause.]

"GRAPE JUICE APOSTLE."

The millennium is not yet at hand, nor will it be for thousands of years after the apostle, first of a depreciated currency and now of grape juice, shall have ceased to labor [laughter.] War is an element of human existence. Since the human race was created war has devastated its ranks, and as long as the human race exists, as long as nations strive in commercial rivalry, wars will be fought.

The doctrine of "America first, America for Americans," will arouse an enthusiasm which will benefit our nation when she is put to trial. There are worse things than war. National dishonor is worse than war. Is there a man in this room who does not believe that war would have been preferable to the humiliating contempt with which this government has been treated by the bandits of Mexico?

There was a time in the history of America when the Constitution followed the flag, and the American flag and the life of an American citizen were respected abroad. That time, temporarily, has passed. Roosevelt attempted to destroy the Constitution. Wilson has not preserved the respect of other nations for our flag. Peace at any price, watchful waiting by the schoolmaster, who evidently has forgotten how to use the birch, has led to insult to our flag, the slaughter of our citizens, the rape of American women, and the destruction of American interests in Mexico. With an insanity absolutely inexplainable, we have supplied these people with arms and munitions to carry on their internal warfare and slaughter American citizens.

BETTER TIME COMING.

But, my friends, a better time is coming. If I read the signs aright, the next national election will do away with the mollycoddle, do away with the incompetents, do away with the peace-at-any-price advocates; with the war tax when we are not at war, with the revenue tax, which is both unjust and unequal in its operations; with a tariff under which our industries languish, with a labor-union domination of national legislation, and of some departments of our government. [Applause and cheers.]

If I read the signs aright, the end of the muckraker is at hand. Roosevelt, Pinchot, Perkins, their co-hypocrites, and confreres, both national and local, including the present head of the State administration of California, will sooner or later take a back seat. They have all been tried and found wanting. Hypocrisy will give way. The holier-than-thou in politics [laughter] will stand aside, and in his place will stand the American business man, conscious of his rectitude, proud of his standing, jealous of his duties. The men who do things, who make the wheels go round, who furnish employment to the wage-earners, will come to the front, while the theorists, the reformers (who ought themselves to be reformed,) the nonproducers, the "work-not-neither-do-they-spin" class, will yield the scepter they have been wielding and this country will again embark upon an upward course, which will bring to all her people peace, plenty and contentment.

JOHNSON AND GOMPERS.

"America for Americans," when properly understood and adopted, means the end of the rule of foreign labor leaders. Gompers is a foreigner, so are the McNamaras, and nine-tenths of the men convicted at Indianapolis; so is Emma Goldman. Most of these criminal agitators are anarchists. Gompers is the arch-devil of criminal labor-unionism in America, and yet the Governor of this State, according to the newspaper reports of his speech on Labor Day in this city, said that if it came to a question of Taft or Gompers for President of the United States, he preferred Gompers. Think of it, gentlemen! He indorsed the promoter, the defender and the apologist of the dynamiters, in preference to the man who assisted in sending them to the penitentiary. If the star of Hiram Johnson has not already begun to set, that sentiment, publicly expressed, ought to put a quietus upon his further usefulness to this commonwealth. This is no place for politics, but there are some things that a full-blooded American citizen cannot stand, even from a Progressive politician drunk with power. Outside of the labor union circles, whose votes this monster was attempting to consolidate, there is but one man in America who would agree with his sentiments, namely: the discredited lion-hunter, Theodore Roosevelt, whose treachery to Taft would lead him to prefer the unspeakable Gompers. [Applause.]

I imagine that many of you are employees, men working on a salary, and that nearly all of you are connected with corporations.

I trust that you do not approve of the doctrine apparently controlling the government officials of this nation, that all business men are dishonest, that their main object in life is to rob someone—that they all need watching. If you do not subscribe to this doctrine, whether you are employees or in business on your own account, it is your duty as good citizens to combat any such doctrine. It is your duty to take a stand for the business men of this country, and especially as against the tax-eating office-holders who are maligning them. This nation owes its prosperity, its wealth, its position among the powers of the world, to its business men who started with their two good hands, energy and pluck as their capital, to develop America. We are beset with theorists who are not satisfied with our government. They want to experiment and are experimenting. They are running after California's progressive political gods. They have engrafted onto the government system of this State the initiative, the referendum, the recall and the direct primary. All of these propositions are mistakes, dead failures, and sooner or later the people will tire of them. Under them there has been built up in this State the most corrupt, the most malignant, the most extravagant, and the most insolent political machine that any State in the Union was ever incumbered with. [Applause.]

THEFT OF SENATORSHIP.

Under the first primary for United States Senator held in this State the hybrid Republican party, its name stolen and its principles prostituted by Johnson and his co-workers, purloined the election from Spalding and gave it to Senator Works. The victory thus obtained turned to dead-sea fruit upon their lips. Works would not stay put, and there is no man in America who is more despised by the men who elected him than he is. The result is, he is without influence in the Republican party, despised by the Progressives, and as far as he is concerned, California has drawn a blank in Senatorial representation. I do not say this out of any disrespect to Senator Works, whom I esteem as a friend and as a man. It is a political situation that he was forced into, and which has resulted in his being a Senatorial maverick. To be of any value to his State, a United States Senator must be a member of a party. The stronger the party, the more effective the Senator. He cannot, however, play a lone hand. Every legislator who should, under the primary law, have voted for Spalding, and who voted for Works, was rewarded with a slice from the pie-counter.

Be on your guard against any pleas for the abolishment of parties in California.

Such a step would leave the Johnson machine—the Johnson party, you could call it, with its thousands of pap-suckers—absolutely in control of the State for all time to come. They could loot it at will, and the taxpayers would carry the burden. So not only vote, but work against this iniquitous measure. [Prolonged cheers.]

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL

Your Doctor Prescribes It

THE highest medical authorities everywhere now endorse pure mineral oil as a remedy for constipation.

Nujol conforms to the requirements of the mineral oil treatment as prescribed by its discoverer, Sir William Arbuthnot Lane. It gives permanent, not temporary, relief from constipation, with none of the harmful after-effects of laxative drugs.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

DOUBTS OF GOD BREED TRAGEDY

Weeping Survivor of Weir Death Pact Tells All.

Scientists Seek to Fathom Gloom of Her Mind.

Years, that were everything of wo and nothing of passion, coursed hot after hour down the face of Mrs. Ma tha Moseley yesterday, while she s in the psychopathic ward of th County Hospital under observation to her sanity. She didn't wish to liv she couldn't understand why anyon else should wish to live, for life t her is both silly and cruel. So a she could do was weep, while th alienists watched this survivor of th weirdest death-room tragedy has e lected in years.

She will live, while her mother Mrs. Martha Barlow, is dead, and he daughter, Grace B., 8 years old, s also dead, and the police would charg her with some responsibility for thei deaths. But she has greater sorrow than criminal prosecution to ponder. For her heart is a vault of horror.

When she married she was happy a girl who settled her trouble wit prayer. But three months after sh married B. N. Moseley, her husban began to stir tumult in her life by ask ing why she thought there was a God Confused, startled and with only ver ordinary mentality, she was disturbe for an answer. Then she began t puzzle, and puzzling, asked her hus band what he thought.

And he said he didn't believe in an religion, she told the police yesterday That God was a lie and religion a myth, and that anyone who knelt i prayer was a clown and a fool.

SOLACE GONE.

And from that day, to save he soul's happiness, she could never ge down on her knees again and cleanse her worries and doubts with prayer. That was the beginning of her unhappiness.

Year after year it grew. Her daughter was born, and started to school. "Skinny" the other children called her—a strange, unhappy child given to somber thoughts and long periods of depression. Her mother understood.

And recently she thought affairs must reach a climax. Her husband was cross, she was unhappy and even the little child was not cheery.

Moreover, into the brooding household came the mad spirit of her mother, with cunning of the tongue that could convince Mrs. Moseley of many things. The mother, too, used to believe in God. But no more. She would pat her daughter's back and say, "We don't believe in God any more, do we, child? But we'll cheat him, we'll cheat him!"

And she would chuckle at the shrewdness of her plan. She never told the plan, however, for weighing down in Mrs. Moseley's soul was the vast conviction, stifled but there, that God was alive and was watching over her. She said she couldn't argue that it was there, but she could feel it.

HOME STRIFE.

Last Saturday came great strife in the home. Mr. Moseley was unfriendly, nagging and irritable, Mrs. Moseley said yesterday. Nothing she did was right. And the little girl was scolded. When censured Grace wept, and burying her face in her mother's lap she burst out, "I wish I was dead! I want to die!"

The grandmother heard the child's plaint and smiled.

"You see," she said to her daughter, "the child knows. It is you who are stupid. The child doesn't care to live. Death, that's happiness. That's the way we can be happy—all die together."

The mad old woman argued and argued, with the privilege of the mother and the cunning of the mad. Mrs. Moseley thought the situation over that night. Later she went to her mother's home nearby.

"If we should die," she argued, "what would become of Grace?"

"We would take Grace with us."

"No. Grace wouldn't take anything, and I wouldn't kill her."

"Childish hands must be guided. I'll show her. I'm the one to show her," Mrs. Moseley declares her mother said.

Mrs. Moseley pondered the situation. Once she thought she would put God to the test, she said, and kneel as she did when a girl, in prayer. But the grinning doubt returned.

Tuesday Mrs. Moseley yielded, she says. She declares the grandmother made the little girl drink a solution of cyanide of potassium and then Mrs. Barlow ended her own life with the same swift poison. A solution of morphine was taken by Mrs. Moseley.

When the husband returned home late in the evening only his wife had a chance for life. She partly recovered at the Receiving Hospital.

Her husband came to see her. He could make no explanations. The police wished to hold Mrs. Moseley responsible for the deaths, but autopsies showed both grandmother and granddaughter had died of cyanide of potassium poisoning, as Mrs. Moseley said.

But they took her to the County Hospital to see if she is sane enough to be prosecuted. And she sat there all day yesterday under the eyes of the scientists who are trying to probe the secrets of her mind; with her mother dead, and her daughter dead, and her doubt in God still rampant, and the great disappointment at not having died keener than all. So she dismay cried.

The little daughter's funeral will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m., at No. 4214 Moneta avenue.

OLD COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING HERE.

Friend of Late President McKinley and Helpmeet of Fifty Years Come to California to Spend the Twilight of Their Days—Many Friends Make Occasion Gay.

An afternoon and evening of jollity featured the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Spiegle, held Tuesday at their home, No. 206 East Santa Barbara avenue. About forty relatives and friends of the couple were present. Gifts and messages of congratulation were received from nearly 100 persons in different parts of the country who were unable to be present.

The home was gaily decorated in gold with evergreen trimmings. The color scheme was carried out in all the minor furnishings, even the electric lights gave forth a golden ray. Guests arrived early in the afternoon bringing many presents and an informal wedding supper was served from 4 to 7 o'clock. During the evening instrumental and vocal music added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The guests were also treated to an exhibition of old-time dancing by the bride and groom that left many of their younger friends far in the background. Many of those present had been neighbors of the two in Ohio and Kansas and other places where they formerly lived.

The bride and groom were born in February, 1842, Mr. Spiegle being the junior of his bride by one day. They grew up in the same neighborhood in Stark county, Ohio, and were married in Canton, O., September 28, 1865, shortly after the return of the groom from the Civil War. Seven children were born to the union, four of whom are still living.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiegle moved from Ohio to Kansas in 1886, spent ten years there and then moved to Cripple Creek, Colo. In 1905 they moved to Fitzgerald, Ga., where they resided until last April, at which time they decided to come to the Golden State to live and celebrate their golden wedding. Mr. Spiegle served throughout the war in the Thirteenth and One Hundred and Sixty-second Regiments of the Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was subsequently commander of the Grand Army post at Canton, O., and was a friend of the late President McKinley in his youth.

Political Plot Plain.

ices, but by silence approves the conveyance of lots to associates for their services, Messrs. Hunsaker and Britt, and my partner, James G. Scarborough. He purposely distorts the facts and by direct statements, innuendoes and insinuations puts a false construction on each incident so as to reflect upon my actions alone and then hastens to publish these statements in the public press."

Referring to Neylan's statement that his actions in connection with Exposition Park were detrimental to public interests, Mr. Bowen modestly details the steps that led to the acquisition of the park property and its consecration to the public use after twelve years of labor on the part of himself and associates, eight years of which were devoted to litigation.

Answering Neylan's allegation of "outrageous fraud" in connection with his acquisition of three lots which the city afterwards acquired for park purposes, by condemnation, at $21,978, or a total of $65,934, Mr. Bowen shows by the board's own reports that it tried to sell these lots at $2000 each, and finally offered them to him in return for legal services extending over a number of years.

"Neylan's worst shock of virtuous indignation," he says, "and his greatest official thunderbolt against me, is based on the fact that six years afterward the lots were condemned by the city and their value fixed by the court. In this I was not a leader. In fact, I did not favor the condemning of these lots.

VALUES GO UP.

"But why should Neylan," he continues, "or anyone else, express surprise at the difference of the value of the lots in 1905 and in 1911? Evidently Neylan is not familiar with the history of Los Angeles property and lives in places where property does not advance in value in the course of years. In 1905, when these lots were conveyed to me, they could not be sold at any price; they were not worth much of anything because of their unimproved and uninviting surroundings and situation, and mainly because the title of the property was in question, I received them in the nature of a contingent fee, because I had to win in the litigation in order to obtain any value from the lots."

Following this Mr. Bowen sets forth in his report: "It is due to me to here point out that I did not receive the entire sum of $65,000, as was insinuated by Neylan in his report. Those three lots were conveyed as a fee for the services of myself and my partner, Mr. Scarborough, and necessarily my partner received one-half of the proceeds of those lots; and yet, Neylan, as in the other items of his charges, seeks to conceal the true situation and to charge the whole thing to my account.

"Furthermore, in November, 1906, when the individuals claiming the private ownership of said tract had employed to assist in that action two or three more of the most eminent attorneys of the city, it was deemed advisable and necessary to your board at that time that other counsel should be employed to assist Scarborough and Bowen, who were then prosecuting the case, and thereupon they did employ Messrs. Hunsaker and Britt, and conveyed to them two lots fronting upon Figueroa street for their services, and these lots were in like manner condemned by the city and a like sum paid for them.

OF PUBLIC RECORD.

"All of this was as much a matter of public record upon your minutes as the proceedings involving the lots conveyed to me, and Neylan in his investigation was fully aware of that fact. Yet he has nothing to say against that transaction, while condemning only the part that I played in the general conflict."

Other charges, such as money received for legal services which, it was alleged by Neylan, were never performed, are likewise refuted by Mr. Bowen from the records themselves. Mr. Bowen also shows from the records that $2000 traveling expenses paid him were, by due authority of the board, for purposes of furthering the work.

Concluding, Mr. Bowen says:

HOT SHOT.

"In closing his report Neylan professes great interest in the improvement and growth of Exposition Park, but it impresses me as being an 'amazing effrontery' to this community for him to show such interest by deliberately attempting to blacken the motives and character of those who have devoted the labor of years in restoring it to the public use.

"If his effrontery in connection with this affair is a sample of that 'policy' which he says 'has placed the business of the State of California on an increasingly higher plane during the last five years,' then all that I have to say is that may the God of nations save us from five years more of such hypocrisy.

"Neylan could not possibly have paid me a higher compliment than when he turned his powerful searchlight upon my record of seventeen years of activities, especially when it so clearly appears that he had to resort to false statements of facts and to distort and suppress the records in order to say anything that would reflect discredit upon me and the great work that my associates and myself have accomplished. I am willing to leave to your good judgment the determination of the question as to whether his conduct or my past action is most likely to 'jeopardize or bring into disrepute' this great project of ours.

"In closing, I desire to assure you that your action in removing me as your attorney, taken at the demand of Neylan, neither offends nor concerns me. I am under no contract of employment with you and you are under no obligations to me, and such action was wholly useless and unnecessary. But neither your action, nor the aspersions and charges of Neylan will abate my interest in the welfare and growth of Exposition Park, and my services shall ever be at your command whenever required."

TO REGULATE "JITNEY" PEST.

SUPERVISORS TO TAKE STEPS TO SUBDUE EVIL.

Subject Brought to Board's Attention by Civic Organization Asking Relief from Hoodlum Drivers. Present Conditions Endanger Lives and Property.

Passenger-carrying vehicles operating within the county are to be regulated by ordinance. The Board of Supervisors practically decided upon this Tuesday. County Counsel Hill was instructed to study the ordinances on this subject now in existence in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, Pomona and San Francisco, and to prepare the draft of an ordinance he considers suitable for regulation of the passenger-carrying vehicles operating within the county.

The subject was discussed by the Supervisors, and the need of regulation at the earliest possible moment was urged. Chairman Pridham said that in view of the fact the larger cities of California have found it necessary to adopt ordinances of this character, the county is justified in taking immediate action.

"We certainly ought to take action as soon as possible," said Chairman Pridham. "No one should be allowed to ride on the footboards or stand in the doorways. The methods now in vogue are simply courting disaster, and we should take steps to protect human life."

Supervisor Hamilton also declared there is great need of immediate action, stating there can be no question but that the passenger-carrying autos should be subject to regulation within the county.

The subject was brought before the board through the appeal of the Belvedere Civic Association that relief be given the neighborhood just east of the city limits. The association set forth that this point is the easterly terminus of the "jitney" busses operating on East First street; that they hold over there for considerable periods during the evenings, numbers of them bunching up together, so that this point has become a rendezvous for hoodlums, who constantly disturb the neighborhood. They requested regulation of the pest.

VETERANS NEUTRAL.

But Prepare for Concerted Attack on Dinner to be Given Tonight by Auxiliary.

Roosevelt Camp, U.S.W.V., and auxiliary will demonstrate their neutrality tonight at Patriotic Hall with a joint open meeting. The women's organization will provide a supper for the veterans such as they never knew when fighting for the flag in the rice fields of the Philippines or the cane brakes of Cuba.

The supper will be served from 5:30 until 7:30, and will precede a literary and musical programme. One feature of the entertainment will be the appearance of Sergt. John W. Lattimore, who lost his sight through a bullet wound while in the service. In spite of this affliction the veteran has made a success in literary and musical work.

Others who will appear on the programme include Lindley Bryant, baritone; Precilla Butterfield, soprano; Mrs. Anita Fisher, elocutionist, and Comrade John T. Curtain.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The completion of preliminaries connected with the Anglo-French loan was a signal for general buying of all American securities, and advances were made that have been seldom equaled in one day's trading. But later on, profit-taking by large investors caused a slump and nearly all gains were wiped out. The dealings, however, were on a strong basis and the feeling is optimistic. Grain markets were weaker because of news that the Dardanelles may soon fall, letting in vast stores of wheat held by Russia.

(Abroad:) Sterling exchange in London was stronger, but offerings of bills were light.

RING THE BELL.

This decision that a man who lives in a dry town may carry liquor to his home comes pretty near restoring the freedom of American citizenship in California.

GENUINE OPTIMISTS.

The mocking birds evidently take no stock in pessimistic predictions for a hard winter. They are singing with all the joy of the autumn and are letting hard times take care of themselves.

IN THE SHOULDER?

We have often wondered whether the conscience is something that floats around where you can't see it, like the soul is supposed to do, or whether it is located definitely somewhere in a man's economy. We know one man who never is tempted to falsify or to do any wrong thing but he is warned by a sharp twinge in his left shoulder. He can tell just how bad his conduct was in danger of becoming by how much his shoulder hurts him when he is thinking of something wrong. If everybody had the luck of a conscience like this the devil would have a hard time keeping his grip on the world.

NOTHING NEW.

"There is nothing new under the sun." Thirteen years before Lincoln uttered his famous phrase "government of the people, by the people, for the people," Theodore Parker said that the American idea was "a government of all the people, by all the people, for all the people." Twenty years previously Daniel Webster said: "The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people." And when Webster was 12 years old, Robespierre in the French Assembly said: "We must remember that governments, such as they are, are established by the people, and for the people." Where did Robespierre get it?

OLDER THAN EMPIRES.

Age is not only a measure of years, it is also a measure of wisdom. European empires claim ancient lineage; England boasts that she dates back to Magna Charta. Yet the laws under which England is governed today are so different to English rule of only a hundred years ago that a legislator from the court of George IV, could he revisit the realm of George V, would declare he was returning to a new nation, living under a changed government, and that the old British Constitution has passed away like the breath it was composed of.

With America it is not so. One hundred and thirty-five years ago our forefathers devised for us a Constitution—and put it down in plain writing—so nearly humanly perfect that nothing vital can be added to it and nothing material can be taken away from it.

In actual years we are a young nation compared with the empires of Europe. But since we were the first people to live under an unchangeable written Constitution, in terms of national life expressed not in the numbers of passed generations but in the stability of fixed conditions, we may fairly call ourselves the oldest nation upon earth.

Young in years but old in wisdom is a better form of age than old in years but young in discretion.

THE WELCHING OF CUBA.

Cuba's successful struggle for freedom, achieved with the help of the United States, had its birth when the Maine was sent to the bottom in Havana harbor and the Sunday-schools of our land resounded with the hymn:

"Remember the Maine, To hell with Spain."

The grateful Cubans, in order to show their appreciation of the action of the United States in aiding their emancipation, requested the United States to present Havana with the after-turret and guns of the Maine, to form the feature part of a monument to be erected commemorating the part the sinking of the ship played in the island's struggle for freedom.

Congress granted the request four years ago and ever since the relics have remained piled up on the rubbish dock where they were placed when the hulk of the battleship was raised. The generous and patriotic impulses which led the Senor Don Jesus Marias to propose to build a monument to the Maine, oozed out of their finger ends, and they used the site of the proposed Maine monument to build a stadium thereon.

The battleship Maine commissioners have decided to request the Cuban government to return the turret and guns for shipment to the United States, Cuba having shown no disposition to erect the memorial. The request will doubtless be complied with conditional on the United States paying four years' storage on the relics.

THE MENACE OF TAXATION AND THE OFFICE-HOLDING ARMY.

Today, over the whole wide world, in the United States, in California, right here in Los Angeles, governmental taxation has been pushed up high and higher until thinking people view the future with apprehension and with dread. We have Federal taxes, State taxes county taxes, city taxes, school district taxes, special assessments, all piled on one another in swelling and back-breaking proportions.

THE GOVERNMENTS ESTABLISHED TO EXPRESS THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE HAVE BECOME ECONOMIC EXTORTIONERS, WITH THE NUMBER AND VARIETY OF ASSESSORS INCREASING YEAR BY YEAR; AND EVERY DEPARTMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT IS CLAMORING FOR A CHANCE TO IMPOSE A NEW TAX.

The public expenditures grow larger and larger; one scheme of taxation follows another; new devices bear official sanction, and the amazed citizens are baffled by the arguments put forward to justify the perpetual increase.

In considering the growth of taxation from its once comparatively simple processes to the vast and complicated system now fastened on every country in the world, one recalls that the poll tax—which has now been discarded in some countries of Europe and many States of America—was at one time or another universal, and procured the bulk of the tax taken directly from the people. Then came the tax on property. Then, as governmental expenditures increased, and without abating the levies against property, an inheritance tax and an income tax were instituted.

In most countries there are also various minor direct taxes and innumerable indirect taxes, as the excise, customs and such, as the door and window tax in France, dog taxes, hunting, fishing, peddler taxes, and ten thousand obscure shifts and improvisions, all levied to meet the demands of the government and all coming—whether directly or indirectly—from the pockets of the people, for there is no other conceivable source from which revenue may be obtained.

The income tax is a modern innovation and yet it is now the largest source of income to many governments, one existing previous to the war in England, France, Prussia, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Denmark, Sweden and the United States.

The present war has placed the greatest taxation pressure ever known on England. It is the heaviest taxation ever levied on a free country in the history of the world. The war is costing Great Britain $25,000,000 per day. The greater incomes are directly taxed for one-third, and the latest budget widened the scope of the income tax until it reaches those wage-earners drawing but $14 per week. But that is far from all. Taxes have been levied or increased upon practically every marketable article excepting some of the more staple foodstuffs. The people bear these indirect taxes in addition to the direct tax. The tremendous resilience of the British empire may endure the strain successfully. That is another consideration entirely. The thing is that it has been imposed upon itself by a free government.

Authentic information as to the extent of taxation established in France, Germany, Russia, Italy (the income tax of Italy before the war hit all incomes above $78 per year) and lesser countries, is lacking. But having the details of England's stress, reasonable conjectures can be made that enormous impositions have been established in one guise or another in other countries.

Such is the culmination—not even the culmination—of governmental taxation imposed to support its armies and navies, office-holders and "servants."

And such is the logical, the inevitable outgrowth of the people's tolerance.

For years the thumbscrews of taxation have been gradually tightened on all nations. Each year the budgets have been larger, and an office-holding caste—caste, mind you—has been nourished by the sufferance of the people until it bids fair to crystallize into something analogous to the warrior and priest castes with which the readers of history are familiar. Before the war 3,000,000 people—exclusive of the soldiers and sailors—were on the pay rolls of Germany.

We of America would do well to take warning and turn an eye of inspection on the economic affairs of our own land. We have long commiserated the "poor" people of Europe, burdened by the enormous taxation of "militarism," and without scrutinizing our own tax receipts have looked at our pitifully small army and third class navy and been smugly content to believe that no such burden was on our shoulders.

AMAZING AS IT MAY SEEM, BUT INDUBITABLE AS THE STARS IT IS: THE PEOPLE OF CALIFORNIA ARE TODAY PAYING HIGHER PER CAPITA TAXES THAN WERE PAID BY THE CITIZENS OF ANY OF THE BELLIGERENT COUNTRIES BEFORE THE WAR—AFTER ALL THE NOISE AND CLAMOR AND SYMPATHY OVER THE TAXATION OF MILITARISM.

If the tax for militarism has been high in Europe, it has been lower than the tax for commissions in California.

We of California have 6500 employees on the State pay roll, and practically every one of them holds office at the pleasure of one man. Any one and all of them can be required to work for his policies and interest or be compelled to give way to some employee who will. But that, also, is another consideration.

Taking the Federal, State, county, city, township and school district pay rolls all together, we have an office-holding army of at least 150,000 in California. There are now 12,000 city and county office-holders in Los Angeles.

So appalling—appalling is the word, as will presently be shown—have become the expenditures in California, that the present administration is making an effort to permanently abrogate all possibility of effective protest against taxation by the people, that is, to abolish the present constitutional limitation relating to State taxation and confer on the State Legislature the power to levy tax in whatever manner and in whatever amounts it desires.

Why?

THE STATE ADMINISTRATION FOR THE FOUR YEARS ENDING 1913 COST $33,317,599.

THAT INCREASE IS GREAT, BUT IT SINKS INTO INSIGNIFICANCE BEFORE THE STARTLING FACT THAT THE TOTAL STATE EXPENDITURES OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE TWO FISCAL YEARS OF 1914 AND 1915 WERE $73,940,222.

An official report issued by the United States Census Bureau shows that "the average per capita government cost is $16.85, but that that of California is $48.75 per capita, or 189 per cent. above the average.

Pennsylvania has a population four times as large as California, but her State government for the fiscal year ending July, 1914, cost some $6,000,000 less.

In California they were $37,410,629.

The State expenditures in Indiana for 1914 were only $11,134,000. In Kansas, $9,283,000. In Michigan, $16,211,000. In Mississippi, $4,500,000. In Connecticut, $11,729,000. In Florida, $3,390,000. In Oregon, $5,284,000.

But in California they were $37,410,629.

Is it any wonder that the present administration wants to amend the Constitution so the Legislature can arbitrarily levy such taxation as it pleases, and leave the people with no recourse whatsoever but to pay it or face confiscation?

The day is bound to come, if this system keeps up, when all the profit will be squeezed from property. It has come already in certain localities. A road improvement scheme in Highland Park now calls upon more than 100 owners of lots to pay three-fourths of the assessed value of their land this year and for each of four succeeding years.

What will the result be? What can it be when the taxation grows so rapidly that the State expenditures of the four years ending in 1913 were less than that of the one, following, year—the year 1914?

The State tax rate in 1910 was .353. There is no State levy under the present law—the means of raising taxes have been juggled so as to obscure from the people the weight of the levy—but computed on the same basis of expenditure and assessed valuation as in 1910, the rate would be .888 for 1914 and over 1.1 for 1915.

The rate is nearly four times as high in 1915 as in 1910 and there have been no exigencies, no wars, no calamities, to call for any but a normal increase.

The situation is ominous. Every year new methods of taxation are added to the old. The strain grows more severe. It is felt in business, in private families. None escape it, but few realize the cause. Our State government has become a veritable Frankenstein, turning upon the people who have created it and sucking enormous taxes for wasteful and unwarranted expenditures—for the establishment and perpetuation of an office-holding caste.

CALIFORNIA IS LEFT OUT.

There is an increase in the American merchant marine service, but, unfortunately, owing to the shipping bill California will get none of it. In eastern shipyards many vessels are now nearing completion for established shipping concerns, and many foreign steamers either have been or are about to be transferred to American registry. From these sources 1373 vessels of 744,618 gross tons have been added to the merchant fleet during the past year, the largest increase in any year in the history of the United States.

New steamship lines have been organized to serve the South American trade through the Panama Canal. A new line will ply between Baltimore and Valparaiso on a seventeen-day schedule. The Peruvian Steamship Company which owns and operates a line of oil-burning steamers between Peruvian ports and Panama will extend its line to New York.

The Standard Oil Company has organized the Standard Transportation Company with a capital of $15,000,000. It has a fleet of twenty-five vessels, including six ocean freighters.

The Oregon-California Shipping Company has been organized to operate a line of steamers regularly between New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Portland.

A number of companies have been organized to run freight and passenger steamers between Atlantic ports and ports in South America.

But no line has been organized to run between Pacific ports and South American, or Asiatic, or Australian ports for the same reason that caused the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to sell its ships and abandon the Orient trade—the language clause of the shipping bill makes competition with Japanese ships impossible.

Japanese companies subsidized by Japan will for the present do all the maritime trade between this Coast and the Orient and they could, and unless the shipping bill is amended will probably in time run steamers between Los Angeles, Portland, San Francisco and Seattle and both Atlantic and Pacific ports in South and Central America. It is not improbable, however, that if the shipping bill remains unamended they will, by a "gentleman's agreement" or otherwise with the eastern companies, keep out of the Atlantic Ocean on condition of the eastern companies abandoning the Orient traffic to them. In any event California will be left out in the cold.

THE PEACE WORKER'S PURPOSE.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]
BY DAVID STARR JORDAN,
Chancellor of Leland Stanford, Jr., University.

THE great political and moral struggle of the next fifty years—bloodless, we hope—will not be between nation and nation, but between militarism and freedom. It is said in Europe that this is a war of old men, in which young men are condemned to pay and die. In so far as this is true, it is because old men are educated under old influences, the traditions of envy, suspicion, secrecy and war. The young men, willingly or not, have come under the influences of internationalism, spread everywhere by travel, trade and science, the most cosmopolitan of all human efforts, because it arises from entering into the work of others and it persists because every door it opens is opened wide to all.

The war system in all its ramifications rests on traditions of the Dark Ages. Any nation considered as a "great power" is intolerable to civilization, at least to that part of it not choked in traditions of violent but ignoble history. And the question of our century is this: Shall the old relation of armed peace and intermittent war go on until the nations are "fattened" for another great war, or shall we build up civilization again on a new basis of personal security, mutual trust and mutual help?

There may be no honorable way out of war, but only a few times in a century is there an honorable way into it. We who call ourselves peace-workers see no such way before our own nation. We see no way of getting into war, unless we ourselves take the plunge. And to go into war is to throw away the gains of centuries and to fill with hate the only great nation that has thus far risen above its withering influence. For our nation stands primarily not for freedom or for democracy, but for international and interracial friendships without which freedom and democracy are alike impossible because not permanent.

The division of the future is not between Germany and the allies, but between those who believe in war as in itself normal, salutary and righteous—part of the nation's day's work—and those who believe it vicious, ruinous, unrighteous, at best a last resort of "murdered, mangled liberty." The first group will build up the war system in time of peace by way of preparedness for an unholy plunge. To this end all else must be sacrificed, as there can be no perfect preparedness if money or strength is expended on anything else. To military rivalry there is no limit save absolute exhaustion of the people concerned.

No one can read the future, but we anticipate that this rivalry cannot continue. Through sheer poverty Europe will be forced to reduce her armaments and to provide better safeguards against declarations of war.

The young men—those who are left of them—will be heard from, and they will have scant respect for the older order of armed diplomacy and the framework on which it rested. This may not mean absolute disarmament, at least not till the modern spirit is dominant throughout Europe. But it means the abatement of the spirit on which great armament rests.

A nation which does not believe in war should guard itself against surprises, but the size of its military equipment should represent the minimum of safety, and its military force should be the last resort and not the first in case of international misunderstandings. Whatever armament persists should be under civic authority, and not the dominant power within the nation.

Pacifists are willing to admit that their judgments are not infallible and that all those who really abhor war, and wish to keep our nation law-abiding and therefore at peace, are at one with them in their main purposes. They believe that men who agree as to the ends in view can come together in details.

The peace workers believe that the final safeguard against war is found in education, in the realization that war, not peace, is a negative condition—the absence of security and law; that it is inherently wicked, ruinous to the nation physically, financially and to a great extent morally; and that, by its destruction of the best in its generation, it brings about race-exhaustion for generations to come. There can be but one course in rational education in these regards, and this is "so to present the facts of war and its cause, and particularly the present war, to the minds of students that they will learn to hate war."

Meanwhile the worker for peace, as Dr. Fried observes, is not a fireman to be called on in a crisis to put out a fire. He is the agent of fireproof building material which, if generally adopted, will make fires impossible.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

LAZINESS.

The trouble with Hiram H. Hazy, whose prospect of riches is slim, is that he is painfully lazy, and work is a nightmare to him. He sees the procession of winners, with prizes and medals bedight, and he, most dejected of sinners, remarks that his luck is a fright. He sits in the shade and discourses of war, and such topics, all day, and keeps up his spiel till he hoarse is, while others are harvesting hay. He talks of the needs of our navy, and proves that our army is punk, while neighbors are hustling like gravy, and earning the shimmering plunk. And so while the others are drilling around in a praiseworthy cause, he sits by the postoffice killing the time with a lank pair of jaws. He's talking of men and of measures infecting this land of the free; while others have comforts and pleasures, he's broke, as he always will be. He might have a home and an auto, he might have a watch and a chain, a lawn with a fountain and grotto, if he would be active and sane. His friends are all tired and disgusted, with seeing him sit in the shade, but Hiram would rather be busted than brandish a hoe or a spade.

I'd like to be a soldier boy and come back from the wars
With trophies from the harem of the Turks
I'd bring a string of "movie" stars;

My wife can drive the trolley cars
And I won't have to work!

Miss Clio Davenport, 32 years of a who lived with her mother and s ers at the Hotel Leighton, No. 2 West Sixth street, was fatally hurt a her fiance, Frank Travers, 27 years age, No. 544 South Oxford avenue, distant to the general agent of t Panama-Pacific steamship line, w seriously injured when they we struck by an automobile at Sixth a Alvarado streets early last night. M Davenport, who was a sister of th late Homer Davenport, famous ca toonist, died of her injuries.

After the machine had hurled th people to the pavement and dragge them thirty feet, the driver rushe into a drug store at the corner, o ered a clerk, Fred Stone, to tel phone for an ambulance, and then di appeared. Late last night the poli had been unable to find car or drive

Although no one saw the accident marks left in the street and the tra of broken glass were interpreted by the police as indicating the automobil was going at high speed east on Sixt street. The couple were struck whil near the curb on the south side of th street, about thirty feet west of th corner. They were dragged almost to the corner and thrown to the side walk.

At the Receiving Hospital, where Miss Davenport was taken in an auto mobile by Baker P. Lee, Jr., who passed shortly after the accident, it was declared by surgeons that he skull was fractured. She also has many lacerations about the head, face and body, and a broken right wrist. She lived only a short time. The body was taken to the Brown mortuary.

Mr. Travers was rushed to the hospital by the police ambulance and treated for a possible fracture of the skull, lacerations on the head and a possible fracture of the left leg. The doctors said the injured man may recover if the skull is uninjured. His condition prevented removal to a private hospital.

According to Theron L. Rice of No. 544 South Oxford avenue, with whom Mr. Travers has been living, the young man came to this country from Southampton, Eng. He was engaged by the Panama-Pacific steamship line some time ago as assistant to the general agent. He is well connected in England as well as in Canada but has no family in this country.

Mrs. Nancy Davenport, mother of the dead girl, declared her daughter had been engaged to marry Mr. Travers for some time. They left the Hotel Leighton shortly before the accident, saying they were going for a stroll in Westlake Park. The Davenports came to this city some time ago from Silverton, Or.

Police who investigated the accident said the man driving the automobile was about six feet tall and heavy this. He wore a long grey overcoat and a gray, soft felt hat. The automobile was a small black car. The driver was alone in the machine. The windshield and lamps and the front of the car were broken by the force of the collision.

Motorcycle Officer Owen followed to the city limits the trace of water that leaked from the radiator. There the machine had taken the direction of Venice. The beach towns were notified and a lookout will be kept for the described automobile and its driver. If located, the driver will probably be held by the police while the circumstances of the fatality are investigated.

The wheel of fortune was given a turn by Register Rocke and Receiver Bissell yesterday afternoon. Wilmer G. Temporary Injunction Proceedings Affecting Monolith Contract to be Argued Monday.

Four hours will be devoted Monday before Judge Trippet in the United States District Court, to the case of W. S. Viley against the city, involving the validity of a contract entered into between the city and the supervisors for delivery of cement from the Monolith plant.

The matter came before Judge Trippet yesterday on an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue. It was put over till Monday because a patent suit against the city was on. W. R. Himrod, representing the city, recalled the refusal of Judge Wellborn in the Supreme Court to allow an injunction in a case involving the same contract. He brought out the city's position that deliveries of 320 barrels of the cement every three days shall not be made until the case can be heard on its merits. Walter K. Tuller, for the plaintiff, opposed any delay.

Argument Monday will be largely on the question of the jurisdiction of the Federal Court, in that it has not been affirmatively shown the alleged damage to the plaintiff is in excess of $3000.

Fatality.

Young Woman Dies, Fiance is Seriously Injured.

Police Seek Lean Driver of Small Black Car.

Prominent People Run Down; Dragged Many Feet.

Miss Clio Davenport, 32 years of age, who lived with her mother and sister at the Hotel Leighton, No. 2127 South Sixth street, was fatally hurt and her fiance, Frank Travers, 27 years of age, No. 544 South Oxford avenue, assistant to the general agent of the Panama-Pacific steamship line, was seriously injured when they were struck by an automobile at Sixth and Alameda streets early last night. Miss Davenport, who was a sister of the late Homer Davenport, famous cartoonist, died of her injuries.

After the machine had hurled the couple to the pavement and dragged them thirty feet, the driver rushed into a drug store at the corner, ordered a clerk, Fred Stone, to telephone for an ambulance, and then disappeared. Late last night the police had been unable to find car or driver. Although no one saw the accident, marks left in the street and the trail of broken glass were interpreted by the police as indicating the automobile was going at high speed east on Sixth street. The couple were struck while near the curb on the south side of the street, about thirty feet west of the alley. They were dragged almost to the corner and thrown to the sidewalk.

At the Receiving Hospital, where Miss Davenport was taken in an automobile driven by Baker P. Lee, Jr., who arrived shortly after the accident, it was declared by surgeons that her left leg was fractured. She also had many lacerations about the head, face and body, and a broken right wrist. She lived only a short time. The body was taken to the Brown mortuary.

Mr. Travers was rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance and tested for a possible fracture of the skull, lacerations on the head and a possible fracture of the left leg. The police said the injured man may recover if the skull is uninjured. His condition prevented removal to a private hospital.

According to Theron L. Rice of No. 544 South Oxford avenue, with whom Mr. Travers has been living, the young man came to this country from Southampton, Eng. He was employed by the Panama-Pacific steamship line some time ago as assistant to the general agent. He is well connected in England as well as in Canada but has no family in this country.

Mrs. Nancy Davenport, mother of the dead girl, declared her daughter had been engaged to marry Mr. Travers for some time. They left the Hotel Leighton shortly before the accident, saying they were going for a walk in Westlake Park. The Davenports came to this city some time ago from Silverton, Or.

Police who investigated the accident said the man driving the automobile was about six feet tall and weighs 180. He wore a long grey overcoat and a gray, soft felt hat. The automobile was a small black car. The driver was alone in the machine. The windshield and lamps and the front of the car were broken by the force of the collision.

Motorcycle Officer Owen followed to the city limits the trace of water that leaked from the radiator. There the trail had taken the direction of Venice. The beach towns were notified and a lookout will be kept for the speeding automobile and its driver. If located, the driver will probably be held by the police while the circumstances of the fatality are investigated.

FAIR LADY ESCAPES.

Forty-acre Tract for Mere Contestant at Land Office, Then Vanishes.

The wheel of fortune was given a spin by Register Rocks and Receiver Wyatt yesterday afternoon. Wilson G. Bleimer won a forty-acre piece of land, of the tract recently segregated from the Santa Barbara Forest, the unsuccessful opponent being Samuel T. Alexander. Both had any settlement rights on the land, but both had made homestead entries.

Mr. Bleimer attributed his luck to a handsome young woman who drew the envelope out of the hat, who left the office before her name could be learned.

COURT CASE DELAYED.

Temporary Injunction Proceedings Concerning Monolith Contract to be Heard Monday.

Five hours will be devoted Monday before Judge Trippet in the United States District Court, to the case of W. S. Vliey against the city, involving the validity of a contract entered into between the city and the owners for delivery of cement from the Monolith plant.

The matter came before Judge Trippet yesterday on an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue. It was put over till Monday because a patent suit against the city was on. W. B. Himrod, representing the city, recalled the recent ruling of Judge Wellborn in the Supreme Court to allow an injunction in a case involving the same contract and brought out the city's position that deliveries of 320 barrels of the cement every three days shall not be made until the case can be heard on appeal. Walter K. Tuller, for the plaintiff, opposed any delay.

Argument Monday will be largely on the question of the jurisdiction of the Federal Court, in that it has not been affirmatively shown the alleged matter in the plaintiff is in excess of

WHO WOULD BE A CONSTABLE?

THERE'S A JOB IN SOLEDAD TOWNSHIP—SOME OTHER PLACES OPEN.

The County Civil Service Commission has set Saturday, October 9, as the date for examination of candidates. The job pays $75 a month. ### AUTO LIEN VALID.

Court Holds Ownership Immaterial in Case Where Machine was Purchased on Contract.

A decision of interest to automobile owners and dealers was rendered by the District Court of Appeal Tuesday, affirming the judgment of Superior Judge Works in favor of the defendants in the cases brought by W. H. Davenport against the Grundy Motor Sales Company, and G. W. Condon and A. E. Davis, operating as the Automobile Clearing House.

Davenport sold an automobile to one Seymour, on installments, by a conditional sales contract, the title of ownership to remain with Davenport until payments had been completed. Later Seymour left the auto with the Grundy company for repairs, and a bill amounting to $236.85 was accumulated. The firm claimed a lien on the car for the bill. Seymour made default in a payment, and Davenport demanded the return of the property through the Grundy Motor Sales Company. He was met with a refusal, and an action was brought by Davenport to recover the machine. Before the officer served the papers the Grundy Sales Company sold the machine to the Auto Clearing House. Then Davenport brought suit against that corporation, and the District Court decides in favor of both defendants. It holds that Davenport's contention that a lien cannot be held against the auto because it was not paid for is not sound law.

In the case of J. A. Hill against the Maryland Casualty Company, the court affirmed the judgment of Superior Judge Oster in favor of the plaintiff, under a policy of employers' liability insurance. One Powley was killed in tunnel work and Hill paid a judgment on the death. The insurance company will now be compelled to pay the bill under the terms of the policy.

In the case of the people against Daniel Southwell, an appeal from the judgment of Superior Judge Church, in Imperial county, the court reversed the action of Judge Church in refusing the defendant a new trial. Southwell was convicted of accepting a bribe of $20 from one Coulter on condition that he would not arrest a certain woman, and was sentenced to the penitentiary.

MYSTIC PREPARATIONS.

Shriners Make Ready for Impressive Ceremony of Pilgrimage to the "City of Mecca."

The Shrine Auditorium is a busy place these evenings, and the beat of the tom-tom and clash of cymbals assail the ear of the casual passer. The edict has gone forth, signed by Illustrious Potentate Wankowski, and the nobles are gathering from near and far to prepare for a pilgrimage across the hot sands of the desert to the far-famed "city of Mecca."

The ceremony will be held the evening of October 23, and will be staged with all the wealth of oriental splendor which usually characterizes the sessions of Al Malaikah Temple. Noble Gibiyn, director of the Universal Film Company, has charge of the production of the spectacle in which more than 400 nobles will participate, including the Arab Patrol under command of Noble Copp; the Shrine Band under the leadership of Noble Laletsky, and the chanters under the direction of Noble Jump.

A large class of initiates is already assured and Noble Edwin Baker, chairman of the membership committee, has been notified of the attendance of representative delegations from Bakersfield, Santa Barbara, Pasadena, Long Beach, San Bernardino and other cities of the south which promise a record-breaking assembly.

Noble Robinson is chairman of the committee on affiliates and will have charge of the arrangements looking to the comfort of the visiting nobility. A magnificent banquet will be served under the direction of Noble Lott, including zem zem, camel's milk and other delicacies dear to the Arab's palate.

TO BE TRIED IN EAST.

U. L. Bender, indicted by the Federal grand jury in Chicago for using the mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the Pacific Sea Food Company, and for neglecting to deliver to J. A. Wilson twenty-five shares of the corporation, was arraigned on removal proceedings before United States Commissioner Williams yesterday. He consented to removal to Chicago for trial, and gave bond in $2000 for his appearance there when wanted.

PRIMER CLASS IN POLITICS.

COUNCIL IN WRONG AGAIN ON THE ELECTION LAW.

Fear Special Polling Would be Forced by Two-platoon Initiators, but Statute is to the Contrary. City Propositions are Definitely Dropped off the Ballot.

In its desire to clog the ballot with all sorts of propositions, the City Council overlooked the provisions of the election laws, the result being that when the ignorance was exposed six and probably more questions were dropped, and the election on October 26 will be more or less sane.

Another quirk in the election laws which will be brought to the attention of the Council today shows even greater unfamiliarity on the part of the Councilmen. Chairman Wheeler, in arguing in favor of placing the two-platoon repeal ordinance on the ballot, declared that unless the Council ordered it there, the Municipal League would force the calling of a special election within sixty days by filing an initiative petition.

This same argument was used by the league, but neither that body nor the Council was familiar with the law and neither showed a disposition to become familiar, apparently.

The law provides, as a matter of fact, that when an initiative petition is invoked against an existing ordinance it is not mandatory upon the Council to call a special election. The two-platoon repeal, of course, comes under that heading.

Therefore, it is argued, the Councilmen who spoke of losing $30,000 by having to call a special election on account of the two-platoon repeal initiative were misinformed.

It will be unnecessary to call a special election, but the Council may decide to do so if the months drag along without one. At the next election there may be an even dozen questions submitted, including the five bonding propositions that were ordered on the ballot a few days ago, only to be ordered off when it was discovered the Council acted without proper advice and in apparent haste.

Registrar of Voters McAleer, to whom all the proponents of bond propositions owe a debt of gratitude for discovering the Council's error in time to avoid casting a cloud over the bonds, should they be voted, yesterday read the proofs of the sample ballots and will start a large force at work tomorrow mailing them to the voters.

Mr. McAleer will be able to save the voters of the county approximately $5000 by reason of the fact that he can send the sample ballots with the pamphlets containing the proposed amendments and the arguments thereon.

DEMOCRATS BUSY AGAINST ANTI-PARTY LAWS.

The Democratic County Central Committee isn't halting to pluck flowers in this fight against the anti-party laws to be voted against October 26. The headquarters in the Security Building is taking on the appearance of midcampaign times. The special committee named to outline a plan of campaign against the anti-party bills yesterday set in motion an organization in every part of the county.

The committee is composed of Edgar E. Davis, Miss Mary E. Foy, B. F. Groves, Alfred Moore and H. T. Muzzy. It promises that between now and October 26 the solid Democratic vote of Los Angeles county will be stirred up against the inanity of the proposed laws.

Cards sounding a warning have been sent out by the committee. Further educational matter will be sent in the follow-up campaign, and speakers will be sent throughout the county.

EXONERATED BY CORONER'S JURY.

ATTORNEY WHOSE CAR KILLED NEGRO IS CLEARED OF ALL BLAME.

William Francis Brown, a young attorney and former deputy City Prosecutor, was exonerated Tuesday of any blame in connection with the death of Lonnie Peyton, a negro teamster, who was fatally injured Saturday by Attorney Brown's car. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that Peyton came to his death from injuries received in an automobile accident at Twenty-seventh street and Santa Fe avenue, and that there was no evidence to indicate carelessness or responsibility on the part of Attorney Brown.

Witnesses testified that Peyton, who was driving a tank wagon without a rear light, had left his wagon and crossed the street to get some corn from the wagon of a street vendor. He was returning with his arms laden with green corn when Attorney Brown's motor car struck him. H. A. Haack, who was following Attorney Brown in another automobile, testified in behalf of the defendant. John Carroll Sheady and Charles Lloyd, friends of Brown, testified Brown had taken them to a cafe in Vernon, but had refused to stay and drink with them.

Many friends of the deceased testified regarding his character, but little testimony of value to the jury was obtained from them. The jurors were Roy A. Ide, Joseph Egard, Henry Engle, Fred Pollard, George A. Hixson and Ralph G. Waterbee.

AMBULANCE STRIKES WOMAN.

Vehicle, Bearing Victim of Cerebral Hemorrhage, Said to Have Made Prohibited Speed.

Mrs. E. B. Crossvelt, 69 years old, No. 945 Ingraham street, was run over at Seventh street and Broadway yesterday by an ambulance of the Los Angeles Ambulance Company, driven by Paul Fowler. Her left leg was fractured and the surgeons at the Receiving Hospital, where she was taken, said she might be suffering from internal injuries.

The ambulance was bearing J. W. Hallock, 75 years old, No. 757 Crocker street, who fell and fractured his skull. The vehicle was ordered to proceed slowly, as the victim had a cerebral hemorrhage. It is alleged, however, that the ambulance was traveling fast when the woman was struck. The police are investigating.

TO FIGHT LAND DECISION.

In the land contest between Charles H. and Preston B. Fuller, involving a quarter section of land in the Carlsbad Creek country, on the San Diego county line, the decision in favor of the latter was by Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell, and not by the General Land Office, as stated. Charles H. Fuller will prosecute his appeal to the Washington authorities, with every hope that he will win in the final judgment, he says.

NAZARENE PASTOR SERIOUSLY ILL.

ALTITUDE AT DENVER AFFECTS HEART; CONGREGATION OFFERS PRAYER.

Rev. Phineas F. Bresee, superintendent-general of the Pentacostal Church of the Nazarene and founder of the organization, who left last week to preside at the general assembly of Nazarene churches in Kansas City, became seriously ill shortly before reaching Denver, en route to the assembly. He succeeded in making the remainder of the trip, but upon his arrival in Kansas City, his condition was so serious that a telegram was sent to his son here, Dr. Paul Bresee, requesting that he come at once. The physician left yesterday noon.

The aged minister has been in poor health for some months, suffering from heart trouble. It is thought the altitude affected his heart as the train neared Denver and as it proceeded to a lower level, a reaction set in which may prove fatal. A special service was held last night in the Nazarene Church, Sixth and Wall streets, more than 100 persons offering up prayer for the safe return of the pastor.

Rev. Mr. Bresee was accompanied East by his wife, his daughter, Susan, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul Bresee. Rev. Mr. Bresee was born in New York seventy-seven years ago and has been actively connected with the ministry almost sixty years. With his family he came to this city in 1883 and before organizing the Nazarene church was pastor of the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles and the First Baptist Church of Pasadena.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

JUNE heretofore has had rather a monopoly in the culminating affairs of romance, but October and November give promise of nearly as many marriages as the favored summer month. Early autumn weddings a plenty, with innumerable prenuptial courtesies to the brides-elect, are quite enough to insure a lively fall season.

Miss Florence Knittle, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. G. M. Knittle of No. 218 North Wilton place, who is to be married to Horace Holaway Elder October 28, will before the date of her nuptials be honored at many happy affairs.

Mrs. Giles Vernon Kellogg was hostess yesterday afternoon at an Orpheum matinee party, with tea served later in the Alexandria palm room. Present, in addition to Miss Knittle, were Miss Adeline Kellogg (whose betrothal to Lieut. Shepler Ward Fitzgerald, U.S.A., was announced several weeks ago,) Misses Charlotte and Laura McVay, Miss Blanche Davenport, Mrs. Frank Splane, Miss Margaret Mathews, Miss Ruth Frackleton, Mrs. James Donahue, Miss Caroline Bache and Miss Fanny Thompson. The tea table was in white and green, with bride's roses and tulle lover's knots.

Future compliments to be extended Miss Knittle already number a matinee theater party with tea at the Alexandria the afternoon of October 7, with Miss Ruth Frackleton hostess; a silk hosiery shower which Miss Nancy Beemer of Venezia avenue, Venice, has planned for October 9, and the brides-elect's grandmother, Mrs. C. H. King of No. 1423 Manhattan place, is giving a miscellaneous shower on the 15th, Mrs. Arthur Freese (nee Miss Charlotte Vawter,) who is in San Francisco on her honeymoon—she was married the 9th inst.—is to give an aluminum shower for her friend immediately upon her return.

For Mr. Lieber's Fiancee.

A luncheon of pretty appointments, followed by an afternoon of auction bridge, was the entertainment chosen yesterday by Mrs. Harry D. Clark of No. 155 South St. Andrews place, in compliment to Miss Maude V. King, the affianced bride of Louis O. Lieber. The table was aglow with yellow coreopsis, from which fell billowy tulle decorations, and covers were laid for the honoree and Mrs. Sidney Butler, Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mrs. L. O. Miesenheimer, Mrs. Sam Woods, Mrs. A. Witzel, Mrs. Fred Scott, Miss Marion Rouse, Mrs. C. C. Porter, Mrs. Edward S. Cartwright, Miss Alice Bronson and Mrs. W. Maddox.

Miss King and Mr. Lieber were special guests at dinner last night of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kohler, No. 133 North Oxford avenue. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Fitz Butler, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wade and Gus Liechmen. A shower of rich red Lawsons, resting on a base of fern fronds, centered the board.

Bride-elect Showered.

Four intimate friends of Miss Alberta Ayres—the Misses Helen Kane, Maud Blockstock, Helen Radford and Bertha Rogers—entertained jointly at a surprise linen shower Saturday evening at Miss Kane's home, No. 5924 Monte Vista street. Music, dancing and a discussion of the honoree's nuptial plans were enjoyed. Those who participated are Misses Lesley and Mildred Ferguson, Elsa Johnson, Gertrude Davis, Lillian Forrest, Hasel Ward, Ethel Huskey, Marie Kane, Albert and Bernice Ayres and Marie Parker. The rooms were decked in pink and white flowers.

Miss Ayres is to become the bride of Clement V. Smith tonight, the ceremony to be conducted at the bride's home, No. 5643 Ash street.

Honoring Miss Norfleet.

Pink will predominate in decorations for the prenuptial luncheon which Mrs. Christopher Eccles of Eighteenth street will contribute to society's calendar next Wednesday in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Norfleet.

Mrs. Eccles will have for her guests Mrs. Ward Wells Montgomery, Mrs. Trueman Ward Edwards, Jr., Mrs. Lyle T. Arno, Miss Juanita Hamilton, Miss Harriet Russell, Miss Beth Merriman, Miss Helen Norfleet and Miss Marguerite Katjah. Bidden from Stanford are Miss Ollie Raye Cortelyou, Miss Margaret Bullen and Miss Katherine Ames.

Miss Norfleet and Albert Robin Shinn are to plight their troth at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary S. Norfleet, No. 1423 South Gramercy place, on October 27, at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Norfleet's brother, Frank H. Hudson, will give his niece away, and Mrs. Ward Wells Montgomery is to be matron of honor. Miss Helen Norfleet and Miss Carman Shinn, sisters of the principals, will be bridesmaids, and little Frances Norfleet and Idabel Eccles, flower girls. Ward Wells Montgomery will be best man, and Stuart and Clark Norfleet will usher.

Mrs. Ward Wells Montgomery, who is a bride of the year, and was formerly Miss Esther Baird, has in the planning an evening party for October 21, to be given for Mr. Shinn and his fiancee, and Miss Harriet Russell of Cordova street will entertain Saturday, honoring Miss Norfleet, jointly with Miss Evelyne Laurette Francis.

Her Eighth Birthday.

Little Vera Snyder celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday by giving a party attended by Louise Hoeschen, May Mahoney, Veronica Mahoney, Rosella Glick, Dolly Dietrich, Gertrude Houswald and Mrs. C. Griswold. Assisting the dainty hostess were her mother and Mrs. Kreyssig. An elaborate birthday cake with eight burning tapers, together with Enchantress carnations and ferns, adorned the table. Games were played and the merriest sort of a time enjoyed.

To Receive.

Mrs. A. Stein, who recently announced the engagement of her daughter Edith to William Klatscher, a prominent business man of this city, will be at home from 2 to 5 o'clock the afternoon of October 10 at Hotel Melbourne, No. 737 South Westlake avenue.

For Friday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Grove Ketchum of the Aragon, No. 334 South Westlake avenue, are to entertain their guests Friday evening with a dancing party. Mr. and Mrs. Royden Berkeley of New York are to do some special dances.

To Attract Society.

One of the big and most delightful events of the year for society people of Los Angeles and neighboring communities will be the Broadway Automobile and Flower Show to be held October 23 to 30 in the building recently vacated by the Boston Store, Broadway near Third street.

The first two floors, comprising an acre of space, will be filled with the 1916 models of automobiles. Thirty-five dealers will exhibit nearly one hundred models, including the latest types.

The third floor will contain half an acre of flowers, including special displays from the big gardens of Southern California, competitive exhibits of roses, chrysanthemums, dahlias, carnations, begonias, orchids and foliage and flowering plants and ferns. The entire building will be elaborately decorated. Special musical features have been arranged in addition to a large string orchestra, which will be stationed on the balcony of the second floor.

Automobile accessories will be arranged on the Broadway side of the fourth floor. The Hill-street end of that floor will be decorated and arranged for dancing and serving refreshments.

Many parties are being arranged for certain afternoons and evenings. The formal opening, the night of October 22, will present a pleasing picture of automobiles, flowers, potted trees and plants as a background for thousands of Los Angeles' foremost people.

Their Winter Planned.

Mrs. J. B. Winston and her two daughters, the Misses Caroline and Marguerite, will leave Saturday for San Francisco, attracted by the Jewel City and the fashionable horse show. After a month they plan to go on to Palm Beach, Fla., for the greater part of the winter, unless something more alluring presents itself in travel.

To Enjoy the East.

In the Los Angeles society contingent who have recently joined the exodus eastward are Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Rush of Manhattan place, who have planned to remain away until after early November.

First of Series.

At the Hollywood home of Mrs. Sidle Lawrence, on Sanborn avenue, was given Sunday night the initial musicale in a series the hostess has planned for the winter months. A programme of classics was presented by the Misses Lucy and Bessie Fuhrer and Henri Le Bonti, with impromptu contributions by Sydney Francis Hoben and Mrs. Charles Stanley and Frank Duquette. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duquette, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fair, Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence of Ocean Park, Wayland Smith, Dr. and Mrs. E. Preston Wood, Mrs. Jessie Kingsland, Mrs. Ward Winchell, Miss Bessie Fuhrer, Miss Lucy Fuhrer, Frederick W. Eldridge, Charles R. Hadley, Robert E. Griffith, B. D. Peterson, Sidney Francis Hoben and Henri Le Bonti.

Radiant Killarney roses heightened the attractiveness of a luncheon over which Mrs. Joseph D. Simpson of South Union street presided Wednesday in honor of her future daughter-in-law, Miss Evelyne Laurette Francis, who is to become the bride of Donald Stent Simpson October 28. From the showers of flowers fell billows of pink tulle, accentuated by pink tapers in candelabra covered by soft silk shades, invididual bonbon holders and favors. Covers were placed for Miss Francis, her mother, Mrs. W. E. Francis; Mrs. Rex Hardy, Mrs. Ward Montgomery, Mrs. Truman Edwards, Miss Juanita Hamilton, Miss Marie Wixon, Miss Irene Wixon, Miss Lisle Argo, Miss Helen Simpson, Miss Lucile Jones, Miss Beatrice Bingham, Miss Harriet Russell, Miss Margaret Bixler, Miss Elizabeth Norfleet, Miss Dorothy Hallock, Miss Margaret Bullen, Miss Cortelyou and Miss Richey.

BIG OPPORTUNITY IN NEXT DECADES.

EUROPE PROSTRATED; TIME TO KEEP OPTIMISM, CREDIT MEN ARE TOLD.

Members of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association held a banquet at the Jonathan Club Tuesday night and discussed matters of interest to the organization. More than 100 members and guests were present.

The principal speaker was Thomas R. Gibbon, who talked about "Los Angeles—Its Past, Present and Future." Mr. Gibbon told of conditions twenty-seven years ago when he came to the city, of the marvelous growth in population and expansion in every way.

He attributed much of this advancement to the spirit of optimism that has always been a marked asset of the city's people. The present he declared the greatest era in the history of the locality and discussed at length various phases of the business activities in the city. He declared the future holds promise almost beyond wildest expectations, but said that if the full measure of that promise is to be realized the people must retain their optimism and take advantage of their opportunities.

"The paralysis of industry that exists in Europe today will continue twenty years," said Mr. Gibbon. "Until the children grow up and become masters of trades, there is no possible way for European nations to recover from the effect of losing millions of their best men on the battlefield. The proper way for Los Angeles to prepare to obtain its share of the trade and commerce that has come, and is coming every day in greater volume to this country, is to build factories and manufacture for export trade to the Orient and Latin America. The Pacific Coast is the logical shipping point to these countries. We are 3000 miles nearer than the great manufacturing plants are at present. The Panama Canal will take the bulk of the trade to them if it cannot be handled here."

A novel feature of the evening's entertainment was a series of five-minute talks by members of the organization on subjects of interest connected with the work of the association. Speakers included Robert H. Cantlen, Fred Peterson, C. A. Parmalee, W. D. Plue and J. C. Spence.

RECEPTION FOR POPULAR PASTOR.

HEARTY WELCOME FOR DR. COYLE WHEN HE RETURNS FROM HIS VACATION.

The members of the Westlake Presbyterian Church gave a reception for Dr. R. F. Coyle, their pastor, last night at the church upon his return from his summer vacation. The large attendance, hearty welcome and many expressions of appreciation were highly complimentary to the new pastor.

Dr. Coyle came to Los Angeles a year ago from Denver, where a striking feature of his successful church work was a Sunday-school class of 500 members, including the Mayor of the city and many other prominent men. His reputation as a pastor, orator and writer preceded him here and his work with the Westlake congregation was successful from the first.

A threatened breakdown in health caused Dr. Coyle to move to his large ranch near Fullerton. He makes the trips to and from his parish in a fast motor car.

RECORD COTTON PRICE.

CALEXICO, Sept. 29.—Despite the fact that the New York market fell off fifty points on October cotton, a record for the present season was reached today when George Reich received .1210 a pound for his first cotton. A year ago the price was but 6 cents. Gins, oil mills and compress are now running.

NOTED DANCER TO BEGIN TOUR.

Ruth St. Denis Comes to the Mason Next Week.

"Sadie Love" to Bid Adieu; "Big Idea" Follows.

Variety Illuminates Local Theater Bills.

Ruth St. Denis will open her season's tour next Monday night at the Mason Opera House, appearing in some of the dances created by her during the past winter. Many of these are said to be more elaborate and to exceed in beauty anything which the famous dancer has ever done.

Her engagement is for only three nights, with a Wednesday matinee.

Although Miss St. Denis's repertoire will embrace almost every variety of dancing, she will still feature her oriental numbers, for it is in the Hindu dances that she is recognized as the superior of all the barefoot dancers.

Burbank.

Although in its fourth week with no apparent diminution of its popularity, "Sadie Love" will be given its last performance on Saturday night at the Burbank. Marjorie Rambeau and Pedro de Cordoba have scored heavily in their respective roles, have indeed built new reputations for themselves in the field of comedy. They will go East immediately to begin rehearsals for the New York production of the play.

"The Big Idea," with Franklyn Underwood and Frances Slosson in the leading roles, will be the offering next week, opening on Sunday afternoon.

Morosco.

The sold out sign still adorns the lobby of the Morosco, where Blanche Ring in "Nobody Home" is packing the theater every night. Many new comedy lines and songs have been added to the production, and the show is now in excellent form.

Charles Winninger, Walter Catlett, May Boley, William Rock and Frances White, Percy Bronson and Winnie Baldwin could doubtless make a success of any play, and "Nobody Home" seems to suit the public taste.

In spite of the popularity of "Nobody Home" the production must be taken off shortly in order that the house may accommodate the road attractions booked by Manager Montrose.

Clune's Auditorium.

"The Alien," with George Beban in the leading role, is pleasing large audiences at Clune's Auditorium this week. Beban is one of the strongest character actors in America, and his work as the Italian father is most convincing and effective.

Next week the attraction will be a filmization of Paul Armstrong's "The Escape," with Blanche Sweet, Mae Marsh, Robert Harron, Donald Crisp and Ralph Lewis in the leading roles. The film was directed by David Griffith, and shows the touches of his genius.

Hippodrome.

Variety is the keynote of next week's Hip bill opening Monday. Meredith Sisters, the "girls who made Hawaii famous," and who have just finished an Orpheum tour, will headline the bill in their Hawaiian numbers.

Others will be Princess Winona, said to be one of the world's greatest woman rifle experts; Aliva and Aliva, in a "nut" turn; Vic Leroy and Mae Cahill, singers and entertainers; Billy Roder, Walter Ford and George Lashwood, in new songs; the Aerial Patts, gymnasts, and Walsh, billed as "the musical cook."

Orpheum.

Charles Howard, formerly with Ward and Vokes, assisted by Kernan Cripps and Margaret Taylor, will top the Orpheum bill next week in "A Happy Combination."

Others on the bill will be Violinsky, with his piano and violin; the Grazers, exponents of stage dancing rather than of the ballroom type; Signor S. R. Valenza, harpist, and the holdovers, including Charles Evans and Helena Phillips in "A Forgotten Combination," Ralph Dunbar's Salon Singers; Billie Burke's Tango Shoes, and Rives and Harrison.

Pantages.

Manager Carl Walker has a novelty to spring next week at Pantages being none other than a big Birthday Party celebration. Everybody who has a birthday between October 4 and 11, is invited to the party, which a person can find out about by telephoning to Mr. Walker.

An especially good bill is promised for the week, opening Monday. Among the numbers are Spencer and Williams, Winsch and Poore, and Jane O'Roark in "The Law;" Bean and Hanlon, gymnasts, the Parisian Trio, musicians and vocalists, and the motion pictures.

Republic.

The success which she made last week with her reproductions of several of the famous art subjects at the San Francisco exposition is being duplicated this week at the Republic Theater by Mae Josephine Bennett, who posed for the artists who created many of the statues and paintings.

"The Double Standard," presented by William Burnell and company, and the other acts on the bill, including fascinating Theda Bara in the film "A Fool There Was," are also pleasing big crowds.

The programme next week will be headed by Laura Winston and company in "The Boy and the Regiment," a gripping playlet of the European war.

Tally's Broadway.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "The House of a Thousand Scandals," is proving very popular at Tally's Broadway, so popular, in fact, that it has been found necessary to add a morning show, beginning at 10:30 o'clock.

Donald Brian in "The Voice in the Fog" is to be the offering next week. This is said to be one of the best films the Lasky company has ever put out. It is a film version of the Harold MacGrath novel.

Mason.

The war pictures, entitled the "Fall of Przemysl," being shown at the Mason this week, are attracting widespread attention, especially from those who are interested in viewing absolutely authentic scenes, showing not only the actual battles, but the manner in which the great guns are operated, the movements of artillery, etc.

Woodley.

Ella Hall in "Jewel" continues to please the large audiences who are seeing her in the beautiful film version of Clara Louise Burnham's famous novel at the Woodley this week. The production is beautiful in every detail.

Next week "Trilby" in film form will be the attraction, starring originally Clara Kimball Young and Wilton Lackaye, the distinguished dramatic artist.

Palace of Pictures.

The wonderful appeal "The Island of Regeneration" is making to the theater-goers is shown by the people who saw the photoplay the last time it played at the Palace. Pictures are taking advantage of the return engagement to see it again. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the author, has taken the unconventional situation of a man and woman thrown together alone on an island in the South Seas and has built up a wonderful and powerful plot around it.

Superba.

"The House of a Thousand Candles" is proving a big drawing card at the Superba. It is effectively staged and well acted.

Next attraction will be "The Birth of the Mother," said to be a strong modern drama. The very popular film stars, Anita Stewart and Earl Williams, will be the leading roles.

Miller's.

Score another success for William Farnum. His many followers are said in their praise of his latest picture, "The Wonderful Adventure," now playing at Miller's. It is a powerful six-reel Fox feature, directed by Frederic Thompson, and is a splendid mixture of love, mystery and romance.

Mr. Farnum's leading lady is the beautiful Dorothy Green, a newcomer to pictures whose future work will be watched with interest. The Animated Pathe Weekly in connection with a new Bray cartoon, completes the bill.

Theda Bara in "Sin" is announced for next week.

Majestic.

Next week the attraction will be Monday and Tuesday will be dock, the popular stage Royal Family." The change Wednesday when "The Match," a film version of successful play, with Gail leading role, will be shown. continue the feature for the of the week.

Clune's Broadway.

Elsie Janis is proving very this week at Clune's Broadway own film play, "'Twas Ever which she appears during riods of the world's history, cave maiden, next as a modern girl and finally in an up-to-date characterization of an up-minute young lady.

Next week the attraction will be "The Fatal Card," with Jose and Hazel Dawn in the leading

Types His National Bent By Sara Moore.

Cochrane stiff-armed the office boy and sauntered up to the city editor's desk.

His only suit of clothes hung from his tall frame in a purposeless way and his dark wavy hair was fringed about his aristocratic ears. His gait showed a short limp, the result of an enforced exit from a moving freight train.

The insulted guardian of the city editor's privacy glared after the man. Obviously, the stranger had had dealings with office boys before. His physiognomy had a peculiar slant. At first glance, one might have placed him as assistant dishwasher in a Third-avenue restaurant. But he met the city editor eye to eye, with the calm assurance of long contact with "the push" at the nation's capital. When he spoke, his tones carried quality in every line.

Cochrane was seeking his one thousandth job. Provincial or unimaginative city editors repelled him with the peculiar harshness upon which they appear to pride themselves. This city editor was one of the elect. He was willing to take a chance on Cochrane, because the semi-derelict spoke the language of the tribe.

Five minutes later, Cochrane lost his limp as he chased downstairs on a trial assignment. The blaze was three squares away and his instructions were to use the telephone. Twenty minutes before press time — so near the copy deadline that the assistant city editor was chewing the second inch off his fourth pencil—Cochrane hopped over to a typewriter. With artistic insolence he stopped to roll a cigarette.

The city editor noted.

"He's a regular——" he sighed contentedly.

The other afternoon papers printed each about five lines giving name, address, time, amount of loss and origin of the fire. Cochrane had half a column on the first page about a red-headed fireman storming down a ladder with a pan-pedigreed Angora and her mewing sextette. This act of heroism was necessary preliminary to the removal of the Kisinski twins from the zone of fire.

Cochrane was a "find;" a writer who would be welcome to a permanent place on the staff. He had written his way through the newspaper crust. Here was his one-thousandth chance.

Next day Cochrane was sent to cover a near riot at Rockaway Beach. He took a dip in the surf, dozed for a while on the sand dunes beyond

He was in search of his one job number one thousand and one.

At intervals, under spur of terrific news interest, he would work feverishly for days at a time. He would collect a bonus for a brilliant word picture one day and the next drift from the view. City editors wept, raved and swore. His frenzied genius was as easy to harness as a keg of dynamite falling down a shaft.

Whiskey had a distinct place in Cochrane's philosophy. As a last resort, his friends had been known to put him in a hotel room and keep him under lock and key until he "came through with the yarn." He insisted that whiskey was the only thing that would produce a spark in his cylinders. When the fuel mixture was exactly right he was a little less than magnificent. When he flooded the carburetor he was a horrible example carried to the nth power.

Disgusting?

He left a trail of adoring friends from coast to coast and crosswise. He could melt the heart of a business manager, which is the supreme test of charm. He could make a bank president forget that his clothes were grease-spotted. If he took a tow-headed urchin on his knee to tell him the story of Rickey Tickey the little lad's heart was gone for keeps.

Many good women mothered Cochrane. So did the not-a-few bad ones. Countless reporters loaned him money without hope of return.

A noble sister broke her heart, because she could not understand that his path was a wavering one—because he was not built to go straight.

But Cochrane has had a beautiful time.

"I leave a job or a planet, the minute I cease to find it interesting. It is still a thrilling old world and I refuse just enough whiskey to keep me on it. Fair enough?"

He admits that there is one possibility of being bored. He has worked on most of the newspapers in English-reading countries, and unless there is a big boom in new ones, he may have to "repeat" in job-holding some day.

Some crowd, this, for a "scrub" game.

This photograph was taken yesterday at Bovard Field of the game, which was announced as more or less of a practice scrimmage, between the U.S.C. freshmen and the Los Angeles High School. It shows the tremendous interest taken in the American game.

CLIFF DWELLERS TAKE A LICKING.

High School Team Improves Towards End.

Second Half Played with no Scores.

When the last whistle shrilled at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon the U.S.C. freshmen were 21 to 0 victors over L. A. High.

The freshies had a great amount of weight in their favor, and swept down the field and over the L. A. goal line in the first three minutes of play. Ramseyr made the touchdown and kicked the goal. Then L. A. rallied for a time, but lost the ball with several incomplete forward passes. The first quarter ended with the ball on the hilltoppers' goal line.

In the first few seconds of the next quarter the freshmen scored again, pushing Nix across the line, while the capable Ramseyr again converted. For the next few minutes the cliffmen held their opponents to the center of the field, and it seemed that Woods and Isenberg were beginning to find the weak spots in the college line, but soon the extra beef told, and the inevitable Ramseyr had crossed the goal line again for the last score of the game.

Between halves several changes were made. Delin was shifted to center for the freshmen, Sigler and Zimmerman put in as tackles, and Taylor as guard. Scott took the quarter's job for L. A. Forbes went in as left end, and Walker as left tackle.

Featherstone must have indulged in some fervent oratory during the intermission, as the hillmen showed much more pep in the second half. Their first completed forward pass was stared, and for a time it seemed that they might get at least one touchdown from their heavy opponents. L. A. carried the ball down the field to the 20-yard line, but there it was taken from them, and bundled back up the field.

At the beginning of the last quarter L. A. got the ball on a fumble, and for a time Shay, at full, was the whole entertainment. Then Shay was unceremoniously spilled on his head and seemed to have a lot of his pep jarred out of him.

At this time Pentz, the L. A. captain, was relieved at right end by Bud Hedley. The game ended with L. A. running strong and the ball on U.S.C.'s 30-yard line.

Coach Teschke of the freshmen did not use his much-talked-of Malotte at quarter, but placed Buck, formerly of Venice High, in that position. Malotte has a weak shoulder, and is being saved for the L.A.A.C. game.

L. A. made a good showing for the team's light weight, but according to rumor the best is yet to come. It is said that three first-class men are on their way from Oregon High, and will soon be lined up with the team. Woods, the crack left half of yesterday's game, is from Oregon, also.

For L. A. High Woods, Isenberg and Shay did the best work, while Ramseyr, Curry, Marshall and Buck shone luminously for the freshmen.

MOLLA STILL IS WINNING.

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the young Norwegian woman who holds the national woman's tennis championship, again today won matches in all three divisions of play in the annual women's tournament of the Longwood Cricket Club.

Playing with Irving C. Wright of this city in the mixed doubles, Miss Bjurstedt virtually carried all the burdens of the team, her partner being decidedly off his game. They defeated Miss Edith Rotch and G. W. Whitman, Boston, 7-5, 6-4.

In the woman's doubles, second round, Miss Bjurstedt and Miss Anne Sheafe of Boston defeated Mrs. Orris Bates and Miss R. Nickerson, Boston, 6-1, 6-0.

No real upsets were recorded in any of the divisions.

ANNAPOLIS TEAM GETS A VICTORY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Sept. 29.—In a practice scrimmage here this afternoon during which coaches of both sides directed the play, Navy scored one touchdown on Catholic University of Washington and failed to kick goal. The showing of the middies against their much lighter opponents was not regarded as encouraging.

Alexander the Great.

This is Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great pitcher of the Philadelphia team. He held the hard-hitting Braves to one hit yesterday and is counted on by his team-mates to win the world's series for them single-handed.

'Rah for Pat!

Mighty Grover Alexander in Form.

Crowds Watch Score Boards on Streets.

First Pennant in Thirty-Two Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—Old Pat Moran and his cast-off crew can sit back now and rest their wearied limbs in preparation for the world's series.

After repulsing assault after assault on the part of the fighting Boston and Brooklyn teams, which all season have been trying to drive him from his hard-won leadership, Moran today cinched the National League pennant by a 5-to-0 victory over the title-holding Braves.

Manager Stallings picked his most reliable pitcher, the mighty little Dick Rudolph, in a valiant endeavor to stave off the inevitable, but the still more mighty Grover Alexander was in form, not to be denied, and from the opening instant of the game was master of the situation.

Alexander's remarkable show of form was a wonderful encouragement to the local fans, as it showed that he is quite on edge for the crucial series with the Red Sox. From the start his speed was dazzling, and his control quite uncanny.

Not only was the crowd in the grand stand tremendously enthusiastic, but a great wave of enthusiasm swept through the business section of this city today with the announcement flashed on many scoreboards that the "Phillies" finally had clinched a pennant and would be contenders for the world's baseball title.

Old and middle-aged men who have been faithful rooters for the local club for thirty-two years, hugged each other and even total strangers on City Hall Plaza, when the electric lights on the scoreboard which had told the story of the game to a multitude of spectators flashed Compton's final fruitless swing.

Thousands of fans crowded every available spot on the broad sidewalk around City Hall to view the progress of the game. Cravath's home run, clearing the bases, caused a shout which brought clerks and others in offices in the vicinity to windows and apprised them intuitively that the National League flag had been won for this city.

Among the spectators of the game were some of the Boston American players, the probable players of Philadelphia in the world's series. Manager Carrigan of the Red Sox watched the play carefully.

CHAMPS IN EXHIBITION.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 29.—In exhibtion matches, William M. Johnston, national tennis champion, M. E. McLoughlin, runner-up, and former title tolder, and Clarence Griffin, with Johnston holder of the doubles championship, met players of the Kansas City Athletic Club here today.

Johnston defeated Jack Cannon, 7-5; McLoughlin defeated Clifford J. Lockhorn, 6-1. Playing with Lockhorn, McLoughlin defeated Johnston and Griffin, 6-2, 6-8, 8-6.

VALLEY SCHOOLS PLAY AMERICAN.

SAN JOAQUIN LEAGUE DECIDES IN FAVOR OF OLD GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 29.—High school teams of the San Joaquin Valley are busy practicing for the American game, following the decision of the interscholastic federation central division to play the old game this season. Although the vote stood 8 to 7 in favor of the old game when the ballot was announced, the preference was made unanimous and all schools of the valley will conform.

MORDECAI BROWN SUES CINCINNATI.

THREE-FINGERED PITCHER ASKS FOR $1250 BACK SALARY FOR 1913 SEASON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Mordecai Brown, pitcher for the Chicago Federals, today filed suit against the Cincinnati National League club for $1250, which he asserts is still due him as salary for the 1913 season.

It is quite true that I do not care to smoke Van Dyck, my ally, one after another with great frequency. I would not enjoy him that way.

Not many Van Dycks do I smoke each day, but every one is an occasion!—a feast-moment when care is all forgot and the rich aromatic fragrance of the rare Havana leaf takes me into sunny lands where every trouble is unknown!

TIGERS AGAIN BEAT ANGELS.

Happens on Same Day Phillies Win Pennant.

Spencer Drives in Most of Vernon Runs.

Terry Appears Arrayed in Much Finery.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

While the Phillies were clinching the pennant in Boston the Tigers were beating the Angels here. Not that there is any analogy between the two events. They are merely mentioned because they are so different, and yet happened on the same day.

HAVE HOPES.

Furthermore, we see a ray of hope in the triumph of the Phils. They have been striving for thirty-nine years, but not until yesterday were they able to connect. So those among us who were born only within the last week or two may reasonably expect to live to see the Tigers or Angels win a pennant.

Thirty-nine years from now, T. Cuttlebone Cartwright, Jr., who was born ten days ago, by that time a full-grown bloke, will be out in the right field bleachers smoking a pipe, and cheering one of our clubs into a championship. Of course, we do not expect both of our teams to win a pennant in the next thirty-nine years. That would be asking entirely too much. That one of our teams will cop, however, seems reasonably certain.

HOTTER.

The battle was much hotter than on Tuesday, when there was a difference of ten runs between the teams at the finish. Doc's athletes won, 7 to 4. The closeness of the score kept the crowd in an attitude of extreme doubt—that is, whether to stay or go home. The term "crowd" is here used in a purely figurative sense.

In a last desperate effort to stir up the populace, and make a little coin, two games will be played this afternoon. What effect this will have is problematical. Some think that it will double the attendance. Others argue that those who have been courageous enough to watch one game per afternoon will falter at the idea of attending two, and that a double-header will drive the regular patrons away, despite the fact that the price is cut in half.

ARISE.

Let us hope not. Is civic loyalty dead? Is patriotism a thing of the past? The answer will be found in the size of today's gate receipts. Let not the stranger within our gates go away under the impression that we are all dead broke. Anyway, the ladies can attend and keep up appearances, whether they are broke or not. Our gallant magnates do not tax the fair sex anything.

The sudden, fierce, impetuous rush of the Tigers has caused the Angel supporters grave misgivings. Earl Houck, the singing undertaker, who, last spring, when money was plentiful, bet $2.50 on the Angels to beat out the Tigers, would now like to compromise on a Canadian dime.

ONCE AGAIN.

Pa again sat on the edge of the pit and subsisted on strong chewing tobacco. He moved just once. That was in the eighth inning, when he uncrossed his legs. Said act was not due to excitement, but because he had contracted a cramp in the calf of his limb from sitting in one position so long. Either that or his foot went to sleep, and he felt forced to wake it up in time to go home. In some ways Pa reminds one of Napoleon. Ability to remain cool and collected under the most intense excitement are traits common to both of them. And Pa, like Nap, wears a thoughtful look. There is one point of difference, however. Pa uses Piper Heidsieck, while Napoleon chewed nothing but fine cut.

It being "dress-up week," all these present wore clothes. Zeb even went so far as to don a brand new red undershirt. He did this partly to help out the red-undershirt industry, which some say is on its last legs, partly to celebrate "dress-up week," and partly through respect to his alma mater. Zeb is a Stanford graduate, and the cardinal shall never be forgotten as long as he has the price of a red undergarment.

GREAT STUFF.

The fielding was good on both sides, and the hitting above par—especially the hitting of the Tigers, who made use of Hi West and Johnny Williams for the purpose. When the Tigers had West going south in the fourth, Williams was sent in. By using two heavers in one day, Dillon effectively answered the charge that he has only a one-man staff. Doc, to prove that he has just as many pitchers as Dillon, also used two. Fromme and Mitchell were the guys thus honored.

Before the game it was discovered that Tub Spencer was married more than three months ago without telling about it. As it was too late to celebrate the marriage, Tub celebrated the discovery by making two singles and a double, and every hit was behind a run. Only a phenomenal catch by Maggert in the seventh prevented the blushing bridegroom from making a fourth hit.

The Angels galloped into the lead immediately, scoring one in the first on hits by Maggert and Koerner. The Tigers resented this and scored one themselves on safeties by Purtell and Spencer in the second.

AN OUTBURST.

The large rumpus was reserved for the fourth. With one gone, Berger singled and cameraround when Spencer soaked a double far beyond and to one side of Rube. Fromme fanned. A passed ball placed Tub at third, and he reached home, sweet home, on Rader's single. Williams then relieved West and walked Bayless. Kane slammed Johnny for a triple, scoring two. This is no way to treat a guy who has bought property with a view to making his home here. Zeb threw out Wilhoit, thereby shortening the inning.

Los Angeles almost tied it on the fifth, but not quite. Fromme came up wobbly, and after retiring one man, passed Metzger and Williams. Maggert singled, scoring Metzger. Williams came home on McMullen's single to right, and Maggert, who had paused at second, went to third, when Wilhoit played with the pill. Rube filed to right. A hit by Koerner, counting Mag, was the signal for Fromme's retirement from the scene of action. Mitchell went in and fanned Harper just like that. Neither did he allow a run later.

The Tigers cleaned up two in the fifth on a batch of singles by Risberg, Berger and Spencer and a balk.

CRAVATH DOES GREAT DAMAGE

Homes in First with Two Men On.

Gavvy also Doubles in the Fourth.

Phillies Cinched Game in the First.

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The Philadelphias today won the National League championship for 1915, with Alexander pitching a one-hit game against the present title-holding Braves. The score was 5 to 0. The defeat of the Braves makes it possible for the league leaders to lose all their remaining games and still have clear title to first place.

The new champions clinched their honors in the first inning. Bancroft's single to right and Rudolph's pass to Paskert was followed by Cravath's home run, which brought the latter's home-run record to twenty-three. A triple by Paskert sent another home in the fourth, and Cravath cracked a double to left and Luderus a single there for a fifth run in the seventh inning.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Chicago went into fourth place today when they won the fifth straight game of the series from Cincinnati, 5 to 4. Three home runs by the locals won the game. Eziel hurt his arm in attempting to field a bunt in the first inning and retired in favor of Vaughn. Score:

TUB SPENCER MARRIED MAN.

Edward Spencer, known to the profession as Tub, has been a Benedict for, lo, these three months or more.

Spencer was quietly married in June, but kept his own counsel so well that the happy secret did not become known until yesterday. Meantime, he has been playing ball just as though nothing had happened, except that he seems to be getting just a little bit better all the time.

The big fellow is one of the most popular players in the West, and he will have a hard time dodging the congratulations his next time around the circuit. The bride is a former St. Louis girl, and the romance dates back to when Spencer was playing in the big league.

DETROIT, Sept. 29.—Crawford's double to right field fence in the ninth, scoring Cobb and Veach, gave Detroit a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis. Had the Tigers lost the game, the American League pennant would have been clinched by Boston.

T. Wad Thought this was "Dress Up Week" for the Ladies Instead of the Men!——By Gale.

Mere Song.

PHILLIES GOT ALECK CHEAP

Great Heaver Coast Champs Only $750.

Tommy O'Rourke Found Him in the Bushes.

Released Players Challenge Angels and Tigers.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Some men are born great, others have greatness thrust upon them, while still others are merely drafted. Grover Cleveland Alexander, about whom so much has been spoken and written of late, was drafted. Also he might have been born great; otherwise he would not have become famous after being drafted. Therefore, it was not necessary for anybody to thrust greatness upon him.

In fact, considering the pitcher that he really is, Alexander, until this year, has been woefully overlooked by the hustling scribes, whose profession it is to smear a few layers of praise on the noble athlete. Aleck has been a big league pitcher for five years now, and yet not until recently has he received his full due of publicity. The fact that during all this time he has been compelled to associate with the Phils had something to do with this.

Today we hear him heralded and trumpeted as one of the greatest pitchers of all time, which is very true. Still, for several years past he has been just as great, and yet he didn't drag down the publicity. Last season he was just as remarkable as he is today. In 1914, he won twenty-two games with a sixth place club, which is every bit as good, if not a little better than copping thirty-one with a championship combination. Yet, where he was accorded paragraphs a year ago, he now is favored with whole columns with banner lines. Moral: it pays to be with a winning ball club. We would frankly advise all ball players to try and hook up with a champion at their first opportunity.

All that Alexander needed to make him famous was a regular short-stop, and Pat Moran as a manager. The events of the past six months fully prove this assertion.

Alexander has won thirty-one and lost ten games this year, according to the unofficial count. Backed by a fairly great club, it is a question whether he would have lost more than four or five games during the entire season. Walter Johnson, with not as good clubs back of him as Alexander has today, failed to land his team in the championship class. Johnson, however, was up against better opposition—such as the old Athletics, Red Sox and Detroit.

Between Alexander and Johnson there does not appear to be a great deal of difference. To endeavor to compare them to the advantage of one and the disadvantage of the other, would be to start a controversy at once endless and valueless. It is generally agreed that they are two of the greatest of all time, and that is common ground on which all can meet.

And to think that these two marvels, the wonders of their time, were picked up by any number of managers and scouts, finally to be secured for a song, as it were. Such are the uncertainties of life. Johnson cost the Washington club a round trip railroad ticket for Cliff Blankenship from that town to Wieser, Idaho. Alexander cost the Philadelphia club a measly $750 for draft money.

None other than Patsy O'Rourke, the scrappy little friend, once with Minneapolis and later of the Tigers, and the Christopher Columbus of this year's baseball party, who is now so much in the public eye. But for Patsy's far-reaching vision, Aleck might have been toiling in the minors for a year or two longer.

Alexander was with the Galesburg club in the Illinois-Wisconsin League in 1910. His work that year, while good in a way, attracted the attention of the Indianapolis club, who secured him. However, the following year he was deemed worthless after being given the double-O, and Indianapolis shunted him to Syracuse in the New York State League.

In 1910 Alexander pitched good ball, and, while some distance below the top of the league leaders, finished with a record of twenty-nine wins and nineteen defeats.

That year Clarke Griffith, then manager of the Cincinnati Reds, told Joe Engle, manager of the Syracuse club that he would slip him $1000 as a present if he would send him a pitcher who figured to make good in fast company. This manager, now dead, looked over his stable of twirlers, including Alexander, and wired Griffith that he could send him any of his heavers except that $1000 would be taken for money under false pretenses.

It so happened that O'Rourke was playing in the New York State League that year and scouting for the Phillies on the side. Despite the fact that he was not as big a winner as some of the others, Alexander's work made a deep impression on O'Rourke, and he opined that he saw in him unmistakable traces of true greatness. Along past midsummer Patsy recommended him to the Phillies and urged his immediate purchase. The Philly management, however, refused to get excited and decided to wait and take a chance with the draft. In this way he was landed, and the outlay was only $750. He justified Patsy's judgment by winning twenty-eight out of forty-one games his first year out in the majors, and has been justifying it ever since.

Chalmers was in the New York State League the year that Alexander was drafted, and led the pitchers that season with twenty-five wins and six defeats. As a member of the Scranton club, Chalmers would beat Aleck nearly every time that the two started. On the strength of this showing, the Phillies later purchased Chalmers. While a good heaver, and able to wipe up with Alexander in the minors, he has never approximated the latter's greatness in the majors. The one regret is that Chalmers is not with the Red Sox instead of the Phillies so that they could renew their old minor league feud in the world series.

Incidentally Alexander is planning to winter on the Coast. In a letter received yesterday by Johnny Williams of the Angels, he says that he intends to pass the off-season here. Alexander was here with the All-Nationals last fall, and was so impressed with our matchless climate and unrivaled natural resources that he wants to come back. Who knows but that he may yet wind up his career with the Angels or Tigers. Welcome to our city, Aleck.

Long Tom Hughes is believed to be one of the few players in the history of the game to resign.

According to one of the officials of the Los Angeles club, Long Tom wasn't fired, but handed in his resignation. Tom may have seen it coming and decided to beat them to it.

When the Angels started on their last trip, so the story runs, the players, as is their custom, flipped coins to decide which of them should be sentenced to upper berths or occupy the roomy ground floor. Hughes showed up too late for the lottery and found Scotty Finley occupying the only extra lower berth. That the club trainer should be in a lower and a regular pitcher compelled to hike up a stepladder into the hay loft did not meet with Long Tom's idea of the general fitness of things. According to the author of this story, Hughes, smarting under this wound to his dignity, wrote out his resignation to the club, and it was accepted upon his return.

This talk about dropping Portland out of the Coast League hardly seems human, and it is believed that some one's remarks must have been distorted. If Powers said it, he was kidding. While it is true that Portland hasn't paid this year with a losing team, the Oregon metropolis is certainly too valuable an asset to be cast aside by the Coast League, which is planning expansion rather than contraction. The idea of a strictly California league will not make a hit. We already have too much baseball in California. The best solution is to add another city in the Northwest, thereby doubling the receipts in that end of the circuit.

Athletes released this season by the Tigers and Angels are planning to organize an all-star team to play the two local clubs for the city championship at the close of the season. Dad Meeks is the leader of the revolution, but Poll Perritt says that he himself will be the captain.

Among the ex-Angel and ex-Tiger players eligible are Meek, Perritt, Buemiller, McDonnell, Beatty, Hughes, Abstein, Hoffman and Reiger. Hi West also is eligible. While now playing with the Angels, he was released by the Tigers earlier in the season. This army of the unemployed must eat, and a post-season series would seem to solve the riddle of the victuals.

CLIFFDWELLERS SHOW A GOOD OFFENSE AND WEAK DEFENSE.

By JOE PUNT.

NOBODY cared very much what the U.S.C. freshmen did yesterday afternoon. The main question of the afternoon was —What will L.A. High show?

In the first place, in order to give the Cliffdwellers a square deal it must be stated that the Trojan Frosh had a team working in the first half that was the equal if not the superior of any high school in the South.

To quote no less an authority than Mr. Owing Bird—and he should know, as he is a daily attendant at the U.S.C. practice—"That team the freshmen had in the first half would have beaten the Varsity!"

In the first place the Cliffdwellers showed the best individual back on the field in Woods, at right half. And Joe Isenberg and a tall party named Shay were only less brilliant because they were less experienced.

Secondly, the High School line, while very weak in the first half, played far better football in the second half. The right side of Featherstone's line was far better than the left. Roberts showed himself a steady quarter while Scott, who played in the second half, will be a real wonder when he gets another year's experience.

Smith, Dranga, Pents were among those who showed up best in the line. The tackling, while high, was better than expected and improved as the game progressed. The team showed an inability to diagnose the opponents' plays, but i nthis regard improved also very noticebly.

Featherstone's line charged much better in the second half than in the first. The Trojan backs invariably delayed starting and fast charging in the line by L.A would have caught them back of the line.

In the use of the forward pass the Cliffdwellers failed because the passes were too long for short passes and too short for long passes. The L.A. ends cut in, as on a short pass, but ran so far down the field that the ball was usually intercepted by the Trojan defense.

It must be said to the credit of the Cliffdwellers that they were penalized remarkably few times for beginners at the game.

To sum up the showing of the Cliffdwellers, this may be said: They have a very dangerous offense. Their defense showed weakness because of lack of charging in the line and high tackling. They have a remarkable amount of fight and spirit and a very fine knowledge of the rules and rudiments of the game. They suffered from lack of adequate interference. They will put up a great fight against the more experienced Long Beach and Pasadena teams.

Tough.

POMONA AGAIN LOSES ELLIOTT

Old Injury Resprung in Practice.

Was the Star of the Hun Backfield.

No Chance of His Playing any More.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALREMONT, Sept. 29.—Pomona's football prospects for the coming season received what may prove a fatal blow this afternoon, when Elliott, the Huns' star half-back, suffered what is thought to be a slight refracture of his left leg.

SAME THING.

Elliott broke his leg the first time in the Pomona-Whittier game a year ago, just as he was beginning to show signs of developing into one of the greatest half-backs that has ever worn the blue and white.

When Coach Stanton sounded the call for football candidates, some two weeks since, nothing could deter Elliott from again donning his old war togs, and he has proven a real find from the very start. It was on account of his ability to kick and pass that the Huns were beginning to dream of another football trophy to match the one won last year.

DOING WELL.

Elliott's injury came during an exciting game between the varsity and the scrubs. Time and again the heavy varsity backfield tore through the second team line, and Elliott in particular was making long gains.

A short end run was called, with Elliott carrying the ball. He got to his feet with difficulty after being tackled, and limped over to Coach Stanton, asking to be taken out of the scrimmage. The coach granted his request, even though he didn't know at the time that his star half-back was injured, and the scrimmage went on without interruption.

UNKNOWN.

None of the players knew of Elliott's injury until after the practice was over. Elliott was at once rushed to the doctor and his leg was reset. After a short examination it was announced that the injury was probably a fracture, but might possible prove to be a severe strain of the old fracture.

It was also announced that there was no possible chance of Elliott ever again being able to play football. The Huns have always seemed to be particularly unfortunate in losing star men through injury, and this year is merely a repetition of what has happened in the past.

OLD STUFF.

Two years ago Dick Wilson, the captain of the team, was laid up with a broken shoulder before the big games. Last year Coach Stanton built his entire offense around Elliott, only to lose him in the first big game of the season.

Pomona is particularly fortunate in having a strong string of substitutes for the backfield berths, but even so Elliott's loss is the heaviest that could possibly have come to the team. It is thought that either Dowling or Nisbit will fill the hole caused by the accident.

Gus Cole of Ireland, handball champion, and Jimmy Dunn, amateur champion of America, will be among contestants in the tourney to be held at San Francisco beginning October 3 as a part of the Panama-Pacific sports.

RIVERS-WAUGH BATTLE IS OFF.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 29.—There will be no fight between Bobby Waugh and Joe Rivers of Los Angeles. This was announced today by Fred Windsor, matchmaker and manager of the Juarez Athletic Club. In a signed statement he declared that all bets had been declared off and the fight cancelled because Villa and his brother, Hipolito Villa, had insisted upon a big share of the proceeds as profits.

Windsor, in his statement, declared that he was warned against opening any other place in Juarez or Mexico controlled by Villa; that he would have to use the bull ring or not have the fight, and would have to pay Villa unheard-of prices for everything. With considerable Yankee spunk Windsor cancelled all engagements, including the Rivers-Waugh and the Jim Flynn-Kid George fights.

CLUBMEN WORK OUT AT MANUAL.

INDULGE IN SOME PRACTICE WITH THE ARTISAN FOOTBALL MEN.

Practically all of the L.A.A.C. football squad was seen working out on the Manual campus yesterday afternoon. Capt. Sid Neighbors has made arrangements for the clubmen to work out at Manual every Wednesday afternoon.

The Manual Arts gridiron was chosen by the Athletic Club players as it is one of the best in the city. Another consideration is that while practicing on the Manual campus the club players will have a chance for practice scrimmages with the fast Toiler aggregation.

FEDERALS ARE SOME BUNCHED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—With the Federal League pennant race having only four more days to run, the position of the three leaders tonight was so close that Pittsburgh had only five points' advantage in the percentage column over St. Louis, which was crowded into third place by losing to Kansas City, while Chicago defeated Pittsburgh.

So close are the leaders that tomorrow's game might upset all three positions. If Pittsburgh should lose and the other two teams win, Chicago would lead and St. Louis would resume second place. On the other hand, if Pittsburgh and St. Louis should win and Chicago lose, Chicago would be a poor third.

With Pittsburgh and Chicago fighting each other, St. Louis apparently should have the best chance for victory, as it already has won more games than the others and has fewer to play.

TO CELEBRATE SEASON'S CLOSE.

W. S. Cline, S. S. Shinn and Burt Hillerman are going to make the most of the last day of the deer season. They outfitted at Tuft-Lyons yesterday and will spend today in the Malibu.

FIFTY IN SQUAD AT COVINA HIGH.

Fifty football aspirants turned out at Covina High yesterday afternoon for the first practice of the season. The squad will be in charge of J. W. Means.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

"My Lady's Dress" will open the regular Morosco theater season, following the run of "Nobody Home."

"My Lady's Dress" is a play which has been a huge success in London and in New York, but has never been seen on the Coast.

The list of Morosco plays for the first part of the season is of especial interest. Among those which will be seen are "Sinners," another New York success; "The Lie," with Margaret Illington, "The Bird of Paradise," "The Peasant Girl," a light opera, and that successful farce of last season, "A Pair of Sixes."

Society Note.

Back to White Lights.

Blanche Ring will star in New York, in "Honor Bright," under Mr. Morosco's direction, following her appearance at the Burbank in the play.

"Sadie Love" will positively close Sunday night at the Burbank. From appearances the piece could run until Christmas, but is scheduled for New York in November, and Manager Morosco yesterday telegraphed Manager Montrose to close the run at once, in order that Marjorie Rambeau and Pedro de Cordoba may go to New York to start rehearsals.

Mr. Hopwood spent many days whipping the play into shape, and it looks like a New York winner.

Airy Fairy Stuff.

Tom Rector will open in "Nobody Home," in Billie Rock's place, next Sunday night at the Morosco.

Mr. Rector will give a new dance lately originated by him, known as the globe trot. It is composed of steps from Hungarian, Chinese, Japanese and Spanish folk dances.

Rector will also appear with Hazel Allen in a cake walk which he learned in his kid days at his father's summer home on the Mississippi River.

He has changed Billie Rock's military dance somewhat.

Hello Experts.

Among the visitors at the "Mission Play" last night were the Telephone Pioneers. There were 150 in the party, which is on its way east from the San Francisco fair.

The people of San Gabriel are planning a reception for the Mission Players, in view of the long run the play has had.

She Owns Some.

When Ruth St. Denis repeats her famous "Peacock Dance" at the Mason next week, she should give even a more perfect interpretation of this proud bird than last winter. She owns two of the beautiful creatures, presented to her by Mr. Shawn last spring, which are a part of the picturesque attraction of the "Denishawn" premises.

Won't Be Outcast.

Elsie Ferguson is not to do "Outcast" again this season, as formerly announced, but will play Hall Caine's "The Prime Minister."

Just Can't Quit.

Cyril Maude is to do another picture, this time for the Premo. Lois Meredith, who will be remembered here for her work in "Help Wanted," at the Burbank, plays opposite him.

Blonde Stuff Wins.

May Boley says she now believes all the stories she ever heard about the popularity of blondes. Since she donned that blonde wig in "Nobody Home," she declares she has received a mile of mash notes, and some one even offered to send her a bungalow as a souvenir.

Near to Nature.

It seems Willie Solar, appearing at the Orpheum, and Chaplin are great friends.

"We played together on the same vaudeville bills in London for a long time," said Solar. "Charlie was getting only a few shillings a week, then. He used to get awfully blue.

"One day we went out for a walk along the English lanes, out in the country. We saw a duck waddling ahead of us, and Charlie came out of his blues and began to laugh. All of a sudden he turned serious and stopped.

"'Say, if that walk is funny to me, why wouldn't it be funny to everybody?' said Charlie. "And from that duck's waddle was evolved the famous Charlie Chaplin walk."

No House-Maid's Knee.

From Boiler Shop.

As to Willie's throat, and his ability to turn out weird noises, he explains: "All the throat specialists can say is that it's cast iron."

Can Stage-manage, Too.

Ruth St. Denis is said to be the only one of the celebrated dancers who sketches all her scenic effects, designs all the costumes for each member of the company, arranges all her oriental music and directs her own stage. She attributes much of her ability as a director to her four years' schooling under the direction of David Belasco.

History Note.

Billie Colvin of the Burbank company, relates that a few seasons ago when he was at the head of a traveling company playing Shakespeare, he came to a little town in Indiana, and asked to see the owner of the theater. The owner in question turned out also to be the owner of the bank and of pretty nearly everything in the town.

Billie sought him out and explained his business.

"Well, Shakespeare won't do no business in this town," said the bank president and theater magnate.

"Why not?"

"There've been two Shakespearian companies here already this season, and they've cleaned up the business."

Girl of the laughing eyes.

Blanche Trelasse, whose winning smile has been a feature of many a popular girl act presented on the vaudeville stage. A local favorite a few years ago, she has returned to this city and is appearing in "The Land of Tomorrow" this week at Pantages.

"What plays did they do?" asked Colvin.

The local David Belasco took out his note-book, looked it over, and declared "One was 'Rosemary' with John Drew in it, and the other was 'The Mummy and the Humming Bird,' which Paul Gilmore played."

John's Glory.

John Ivan has the role of a stage Morosco in "The Big Idea," and buys the heroine's play.

You Never Can Tell.

They say a good press agent has to be a good liar, but the scribe at the Hip has to be a good guesser as well. Judging from the meager advance billing he augured that the North Dakota Drill Team must have come from the crack battleship. Instead it turns out to be fostered by the North Dakota Agricultural College.

Trailing Clouds of Glory.

Weber and Fields, Emma Calve, Bertha Kalich, Jose Collins, Bessie Clayton, Gertrude Hoffman, Blanche Walsh and Eddie Foy.

Some line-up!

Sword's Gentle Art.

There are to be some thrilling dueling scenes in the film version of Cervantes' "Don Quixote," in which De Wolf Hopper is playing the leading role for the Triangle.

Ralph A. Urana, the well-known fencing master, has been engaged to teach the versatile Hopper to defend himself with the nimble blade.

Hot Contest.

David Griffith states that he is testing the drawing powers of performers from the legitimate as compared with those of the motion picture studio. He has a number of well-known stage stars on his list, as well as some of the best known in pictures.

Mr. Griffith states he feels sure of artistic results in all cases, and that he believes the problem will work itself out in "a judicious selection of transient and stock stars, according to the nature of the different plays selected for presentation.

Fire-proof Film.

But we suppose it had to come! Ella Wheeler Wilcox's "Poems of Passion" are to be picturized. The Associated Film Company will undertake the job, with all films insured.

Pals Clasp Hands.

"The Pals," an organization of theatrical folk, established in San Francisco in January, and which has since become a nation-wide institution, now has a branch society here, which will hold its first high jinks at the Hotel Hayward next Saturday night. The organization boasts 1600 members.

Flossy Too.

Plays Big Organ.

Ray Hastings, the former organist, has resigned.

"Shady Love."

Grace Travers gave a box party for the "Sadie Love" company at the Morosco, yesterday afternoon. A feature of "Nobody Home," which was given especially for the benefit of the Burbankers, was a burlesque act by Blanche Ring and Charles Winninger, entitled "Shady Love."

BAKER ENROLLS AT POMONA HIGH.

NEGRO PLAYER GETS OVER PEEVE AND WILL PLAY.

One of Pomona High's last year Rugby stars, Wendell Baker, a negro, has enrolled again and will be out to learn the American game. At the beginning of the season Baker was so peeved because the school had changed to the American game that he refused to attend.

TWO-MILER PRANCES INTO PAVLOWA'S FAVOR AND A JOB.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 28.—Hubert Stowitts, who will be remembered by many Los Angeles collegians as a varsity two-miler and as a graduate of Los Angeles High School, is now leading character-dancer with Pavlowa.

Stowitts, after graduating from high school entered the College of Commerce, studied economics with the intention of going into banking, wo na big "C" on the track, and in the last year of his course acquired skill in dancing.

In the Senior Extravaganza of 1915, presented by the graduating class, Stowitts danced an Oriental dance which was declared by all the beholders a marvel of manly grace, passion and dramatic expression.

Pavlowa, for whom Stowitts danced last spring, declared that she had encountered only one man equally gifted in dramatic expression of the dance. Her admiration for the young Californian has now led to this engagement for him. Stowitts is appearing at the Auditorium Theater in Chicago.

RIDICULOUS," ASSERTS "BAUM.

Powers's Remark is Cause of Trouble.

No Thought of Dropping Portland.

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 29.—When shown today the statement of John F. Powers, president of the Los Angeles league team, Walter McCredie said:

"Let them put Portland out of the Coast League this fall if they want to. We can make more money with a city league here at present than we can in the Coast anyway. I would advise the Los Angeles owners to get out, also, while they are at it, as we have played to $700, crowds there this season, and Los Angeles is losing money, as well as we are."

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—San Francisco baseball magnates, and this includes Allan T. Baum, president of the Pacific Coast League, as well as Henry Berry, owner of the San Francisco club, and the backbone of the league, place no credence in a reported interview from Los Angeles, by which John F. Powers of the Angel club is reported as favoring dropping Portland from the Coast League in favor of some other city in the Northwest, and expansion of the league to include possibly, Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma.

First of all, they decline to believe that Powers made any such statement, which is characterized as being ridiculous in the extreme. Secondly, it is asserted that Judge McCredie has always been regarded as a stanch supporter of the Coast League and the proposition of dropping the Beaver club has never been considered. So far as league expansion is concerned, while it is admitted the subject will likely come up at the annual meeting, no plans have been formulated.

"I would much rather hear Powers speak personally before I ever discuss such a ridiculous proposition," said President A. T. Baum. "To my knowledge there has never been a suggestion of throwing Portland out of the Coast League. Indeed, such a project would be foolish, especially to trade Portland for either Spokane or Tacoma. Either city is poorer from a drawing standpoint than Portland, and it would simply be jumping out of the frying pan and into the fire.

"As to the question of league expansion, it is my personal opinion that the Coast League directors will vote against expansion at the annual meeting."

'Rah for Him!

REYNOLDS WILL BOSS AVIATION.

IS APPOINTED HEAD OF THIS DIVISION.

Fourteen Members now in this Recently-organized Division with Sixteen More Men Needed—Public Meeting and Smoker to be Held Tonight at Exposition Park.

Harry V. Reynolds, member of the seventh division of the California naval militia, has just been appointed to take charge of the aviation corps of the new aerial division of the State naval militia of Los Angeles.

He is now organizing this division and already has fourteen members. The full complement will be thirty members, consisting of electricians, carpenters, machinists, pilots and observers.

This division of the naval militia will afford a splendid opportunity for young men interested in aviation work to become identified with a movement growing in importance every day.

The necessity for government preparedness in aviation is now receiving consideration by both army and navy authorities.

A public meeting and smoker will be held at Exposition Park armory Thursday evening, September 30, at which an interesting programme on naval preparation will be presented by experts in this and other branches of the service. All young men are invited to be present at this smoker.

The United States ship Farragut is stationed at Los Angeles harbor for the use of the naval reserves located in Los Angeles, on which frequent cruises are made. Weekly drills and instruction are held every Thursday evening at the armory at Exposition Park, and instruction given in infantry, artillery, gunnery, signaling, seamanship, aviation, electricity and engineering. Complete equipment for the various branches of the course is supplied by the Federal government.

This smoker on Thursday evening, which should be intensely interesting to the young men of this city, who believe that the United States should take energetic steps to put the navy on a footing which would enable it to hold its own against all comers.

MORE TO PLAY, LESS TO WORK.

Pasadena Commissioners to Give Recreation.

Hotel Maryland to Build Annex and Stores.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 30.—Pasadenans are evidently taking the City Commissioners at their word when the latter said that they would spend more for play and less for government this year, and are already busy devising plans for using the surplus cash in making the Crown City the playground of Southern California.

The members of the Washington Social Club are particularly interested in the improvement of La Pintoresca Park. One of the principal objects of the club is to obtain a library building to be erected in the park. The commissioners are much interested in the project, and the club women hope that their dream will soon be realized. They also expect the commissioners to purchase the property adjoining as an annex, and if the water department carries out its plan and builds a new reservoir in the northwest section, it is probable that the old Painter reservoir will be turned over to the park department for a swimming pool.

Work has already been begun on the vast estate which was recently given to Lamanda Park, which had no park. When completed it is expected to rival in beauty and location any of the show places of the Southland.

The unique rooming plans for the homeless and other poor of the city, framed by Drs. Stanley P. Black and D. D. MacBride, would practically eradicate all sore spots from the Crown City. This would mark out the contrast nearly drawn between the finest boulevard and the worst slums of the country.

Another of the beautifying suggestions made is that an attractive rest house be built at West California street and Arroyo drive for visitors to the Busch gardens. A new drinking fountain has just been placed here at the suggestion of Commissioner Dolley.

The City Beautiful Association has many other plans in store which will be made known in the near future.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

A crystal palace on a small scale was started yesterday on the Hotel Maryland courts. The building is to be solely of glass, with the exception of the roof and supporting pillars. This will be the most unique business block in the country and will extend from the hotel dining-room to North Euclid avenue along the present pergola.

The building will be of class C construction and will be divided into seven rooms. The roof will be used as a garden and will be in keeping with the general tones of the rest of the building. The cost of the improvement will be $11,000.

Within a week or two the new west wing of the hotel, which will be entirely independent of the store building, will be started. Final details in regard to the plans are being arranged and the contract will be let in a few days.

The new wing will parallel the east wing and will contain forty rooms and forty bathrooms. In its architectural design it will correspond with that of the remainder of the hotel, and will be of the same height. It will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the winter season on Thanksgiving Day.

CITY BRIEFS.

An epidemic of twins appears to have hit Pasadena, for within ten days the stork has presented three families with a double portion of joy. The last pair arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wesley Kee, No. 615 Arbuela street, yesterday. The first twins, a boy and a girl, arrived September 16 for Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Young, No. 925 Worcester avenue. The second pair were born at the Pasadena Hospital September 25 to Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bergman, No. 715 South Broadway.

By a vote of 4 to 1 the Commissioners yesterday granted D. L. Sheppard a license permit for his restaurant at North Fair Oaks avenue and Union street. Commissioner Crellier voted no. Eleven out of fifteen occupants of ground-floor fronts on North Fair Oaks avenue signified their willingness to have the license application granted. One was opposed and two refused to express an opinion.

To teach the men of Pasadena first aid is one of the missions which the Red Cross has set out to accomplish. The plan may include a public competition in which various first-aid squads would enter a contest. A well-known physician will have charge of the work.

Cats will not have to be tin-tagged in Pasadena, as the cat ordinance failed to pass by a vote of 3 to 2 when it came up before the Commission at its session yesterday. Under the proposed ordinance it was planned to charge a license fee of 50 cents on each cat which if they remained on their owners' premises it would not be necessary to wear license tags.

Chief Allen yesterday used a can opener to enlarge the coin slot in the Red Cross mite box which is placed on a table outside the Red Cross headquarters on North Raymond avenue, so that he might take $1.05, mostly in dimes.

CRIMINAL THREATENED.

CRIMINAL, Sept. 29.—The town of Criminal was visited by fire about 2 o'clock this morning which wiped out a practical business block. The fire started in the pool hall but the cause is unknown. The whole town was seriously threatened but the wind died down and those fighting to save the surrounding buildings kept the fire in one block. The property loss is estimated at $25,000 to $30,000. Nicholls was the principal loser, his general store and home being destroyed. In an interview this morning Mr. Nichols said he would rebuild as soon as possible.

FULLERTON SCHOOLS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, Sept. 29.—There are enrolled at the Fullerton Union High School 391 students, which breaks all records. The enrollment is divided: Junior college, 46; seniors, 66; sophomores, 98; freshmen, 181. The High School had at the close last year 346 pupils.

UP IN THE AIR ABOUT NEW PIER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 29.—The Board of Trustees will meet at a special session Friday to take some action with regard to the construction of the municipal pleasure and fishing pier. Mr. Ortseifen of Leyden-Ortseifen Company, the contractors, has communicated with the board and said that he will be here Thursday, which is the last day he has before beginning work. It is intimated that work will be begun this week. If such is not the case the board threatens to take some action, as the Trustees have indicated that they are chafing under the delay already experienced.

A proposition for the city to purchase the stub of the old pier of the Pacific Electric at the foot of Emerald street for $1 was turned down by the board when Trustee Brolaski pointed out that it would cost the city from $4000 to $5000 to remove the old structure.

SHOOTS TIRES.

In spite of the protest of Trustee Brolaski, John Alder, a local speed "cop," has been reappointed by the Board of Trustees to trail speeders. Mr. Brolaski said that his objection to the speed "cop" is that he harassed automobilists, giving as evidence a report that the auto tires of a visitor, Edward Harris of New York, had been punctured many times by revolver shots of a local speed cop. The Chief of Police asked for Alder's reappointment.

RUINS BUSINESS, SAY FISHERMEN.

SEINE LAW FAVORS SPORTSMEN, ALLEGE MARKET MEN.

Refuse to Pay License Because They Must Fish Outside the Jurisdiction of Fish and Game Commission—Harbor Pirates Strip Launches.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 29.—Market fishermen are refusing to pay the $10 license fee to the State as required by the new law prohibiting the use of seines within 750 feet of a wharf or pier on the ground that if they cannot fish along the beach with seines they will be compelled to fish off shore outside the jurisdiction of the Fish and Game Commission.

The fishermen charge that the laws passed by the last Legislature were in the interest of the light tackle sportsmen and their business is being ruined. While fish are said to be plentiful along the coast the market is practically bare of yellowfin, croaker and smelt and prices are expected to soar.

The law prohibiting the use of nets near wharves and piers is being contested by the Newport Beach fishermen.

HARBOR PIRATES.

Harbor pirates stripped three launches moored at the Los Angeles Motorboat Club last night. They were the Nomand owned by G. H. Rector, the Yerbis, owned by R. W. Hepburn, and the Violet, owned by Ernest Sayre. Brass fittings, a compass, bedding and groceries were taken. The only clue to the burglary is a heavy cast-iron box, opened, left behind.

SHIPPED NORTH.

The body of Richard J. McCarron, a well-known water-front character, who died here Sunday, will be taken to San Francisco for interment beside that of his wife in Cypress Lawn Cemetery tomorrow. McCarron was the owner of considerable property in the harbor district, where he has resided the greater part of the time for the past fifteen years. His health failed about a year ago and he bought a boat to engage in fishing to recuperate. A few months ago he was caught in a severe storm in the channel and suffered a relapse from which he never fully recovered.

HAULING BIDS.

Bids are being received by the Water Board for the hauling of 400 tons of cast-iron pipe which will be installed on Pacific avenue from Fourteenth street to Point Fermin before the street is paved. Sixteen, twelve and ten-inch mains will be laid. The street will be paved all the way from Fourteenth to the city limits, a distance of about thirty blocks.

NEW SECRETARY.

S. M. Storer, former postmaster at San Pedro, has accepted a position as secretary of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce and will devote his full time to the work of the organization. This is the first time that a secretary has been employed to give his entire time to the work of the chamber, which has become quite heavy with the growth of the harbor district.

WHIRLED ABOUT BY MACHINERY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRYN MAWR, Sept. 29.—Frank Kitching was almost killed on the Clevenger ranch near here today when his clothing caught in a pump shaft at the bottom of a deep well and he was thrown around the shaft as a flange. His left arm was broken, the muscles torn, tendons sprained and the skin cut and bruised, his right arm was broken at the elbow and his face and head cut and bruised. He is in a hospital at San Bernardino and doctors say that he will recover.

Kitching went down in the well to repair the shaft of the pump which had broken. The sleeve of his jumper caught in the shaft and in a trice he was drawn up to the rapidly revolving rod. As long as his clothing held he was thrown about the shaft and when it tore lose he was slammed up against the side of the well.

Workmen saw his predicament and stopped the machinery, taking him out of the well and rushing him to a hospital. He is about 30 years old and his home is in Redlands.

TWO BROTHERS GET ACQUAINTED

Orphans Separated Forty Years Meet at Santa Ana.

Walnut Delegation is Split Over New Prices.

State Controller Sues for Inheritance Taxes.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 29.—Like a tale out of a fiction book reads the story of the reuniting of William Trust and Charles Winans, brothers, after a separation of nearly forty years, and since they were too young to remember each other. Tomorrow these brothers, who last night grasped hands, will be joined by their sister, Mrs. Margaret Beach, who is on a train on her way here from Jackson, Mich.

When Charles and Margaret were under 2 years of age they became orphans. They were put into an orphans' home in New York City, while their older brother was taken into a private family. This separation was a mere memory to William, while to Charles and Margaret the only knowledge they had of it was a vague report that at some time they had had a brother.

Charles was taken from the home and was afterward adopted by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Winans, who have lived for many years at No. 416 East First street, Santa Ana. For several years he has been a letter carrier in the Santa Ana postoffice. He lives with his family at No. 501 South Broadway. Margaret was adopted by a family at Jackson, where she grew up and was married. She and her brother Charles have kept in touch with each other.

Following the separation in New York William Trust heard nothing of his brother and sister. For several years he has been at Sacramento, where he owns a candy store. A few weeks ago he decided to make an effort to locate Charles and Margaret. The old orphans' home had been torn down, but Trust managed to locate the old records, and through them he found the name and former address of the family that had adopted Charles. Eventually he located Charles here.

The brothers have spent the day getting acquainted with each other.

SPLIT DELEGATION.

M. Nisson and Oscar Gruenenwald, directors of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association, will go to Los Angeles tomorrow as delegates to attend the meeting of the California Walnut Growers' Association, at which prices of walnuts for this season will be quoted.

Two factions will be represented at the meeting, one asking that the price be put low enough so that walnuts can be sold quickly and money be put into the growers' pockets, the other holding out for as high a price as they think the traffic will bear.

The prices selected at tomorrow's meeting will be those quoted by the various associations that are affiliated together in the California Walnut Growers' Association.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Action was brought here today by State Controller John S. Chambers, against Lulu McCleave to collect $158.25 State inheritance tax with interest since 1905. It is alleged in the complaint that the defendant was the sole heir of Joseph D. Utter, who died in Los Angeles in June, 1905, and that she received his property, including lots at Newport Beach, altogether worth $3787.45. The complaint, filed by Attorneys J. W. Carrigan and Jay E. Randall of Los Angeles, states that the inheritance tax was never paid.

A bold attempt to burglarize the home of E. A. Biggs, No. 409 South Birch street, was made this morning by a man who attempted to slip noiselessly in through the front door. Mrs. Biggs heard the door click, and she left her cooking to go to the front part of the house. The intruder was just entering a bedroom. "I must have gotten into the wrong house," he said as he turned and ran.

Hale and hearty at the age of 97, O. J. Stough of San Diego today was a visitor at the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Company factory. He asked about a hundred questions concerning the various processes by which the juice of a sugar beet is made into sugar. Stough is here visiting a relative, Mrs. C. D. Lester.

SPALDING'S SON MAY CONTEST.

COULD GET NO INFORMATION OF FATHER'S DEATH.

Complains to Court and Asks Continuance of Hearing of Petition. San Diego Enters Campaign to have President Visit Exposition. Methodist Ministers Meet.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 29.—The appearance of Keith Spalding of Chicago, son of the late A. G. Spalding, and a request made by his attorneys for the continuance of the hearing of the petition of the widow, Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, for the probate of the will, probably means a contest of the will of the late owner of the famous sporting goods stores. The continuance was granted until next Tuesday.

In the affidavit asking for more time, Keith Spalding states that it is necessary to confer with attorneys here to protect his interests and further conferences would be necessary before a course of action could be determined.

In the will Keith Spalding was left $100,000 as were each of the other sons. The majority of the estate was left to the widow. Instead of several millions as popularly supposed, the estate was estimated to be worth only $600,000. A large amount of property, including the tract known as Sunset Cliffs valued at more than $500,000 was deeded to Mrs. Spalding before Mr. Spalding's death.

Keith Spalding is the step-son of Mrs. Spalding. He stated to Judge Guy when asking for the continuance, that he had only learned of his father's death through the newspaper accounts and could not no authoritative information by telegraph.

URGE PRESIDENT.

A movement was begun here today to make a concerted effort through petitions from the school children and by the members of every organization in the city and county to be sent to President Wilson asking him to attend the San Diego exposition. The petitions are to contain the names of every member of the organizations and to urge the President to attend the exposition, "the most beautiful and the most unique ever created."

METHODISTS GATHER.

More than 500 ministers and their wives of the Methodist Episcopal Church are here attending the thirty-ninth annual session of the Southern California conference, which began this morning at the First Methodist Church. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco is attending and gave a lecture on "The Children of the Manse."

MT. WHITNEY ROAD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 28.—The projecetd Mr. Whitney road received great encouragement in a public demonstration last night. Sentiment is strong for Kern county to undertake its share in building this highway to the top of the United States. A crowded armory gathered to see colored slides of views taken and to hear a lecture on the subject by C. A. Barlow, president of the Kern County Board of Trade, on the recent expedition. This was followed by a banquet. The guests of honor and chief speakers were Congressman Denver Church, Court Dubois, Chief Forester for the Pacific Coast, and N. J. Darlington, president of the State Highway Commission, the latter being the Governor's representative at the banquet.

POMONA EARTHQUAKE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 29.—An earthquake shock that shook bungalows until dishes rattled and jarred two-story houses until their joints creaked awakened half the population of this city at 5:15 this morning. The disturbance was preceded by a rumbling sound which caused people to stir restlessly in their beds, and a moment later the upheaval of the earth came. No damage has been reported.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS ELECT NEW OFFICERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 29.—The National Wholesale Druggists' convention went on record today as advocating Federal control of insurance companies, Federal control of employers' liability and workmen's compensation acts, Federal control of drug prices, and indorsed the Harrison Drug Act and the Stevens bill.

Baltimore was chosen for the 1916 convention.

The following officers were elected: President, Charles Gibson, Albany; first vice-president, C. F. Michaels, San Francisco; second vice-president, Joseph H. Brown, Little Rock; third vice-president, Dr. A. W. Mill, Philadelphia; fourth vice-president, C. A. Faus, Salt Lake; fifth vice-president, H. R. Moore, Houston; Samuel E. Strong, Cleveland, treasurer; board of control, James W. Morrison, Chicago (chairman;) Charles Bedwell, Omaha; George R. Merrill, St. Louis; L. D. Sale, Los Angeles; Frank C. Groover, Jacksonville; F. E. Holliday, general secretary; E. E. A. Stone, assistant secretary.

The board of control during the discussion on trade conditions pointed out that many of the failures in the retail drug business during the year were mainly caused by lack of capital, investment of more capital in fixtures than in stock, and the opening of new drug stores in fields already well supplied.

The convention went on record as opposed to extending credit to new stores and insisting on cash sales. The opening of new stores will be discouraged and the entrance of inexperienced druggists into the business was condemned.

The convention advocated Federal legislation as the right step towards securing just fire insurance rates. It also went on record as opposed to further tax on medicine, but urged more effective pure food and drug laws.

JUDGE SCORES POLITICIAN FOR TAKING COMMISSION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 29.—In granting the motion of nonsuit in the action brought by A. E. Nickerson, a tax-payer, to compel the return to the County Treasury of $60,307 paid for a ninety-three-acre hospital site because of alleged irregularities in the deal, Judge J. W. Curtis late today scored E. A. Parkford, Ontario politician, who secretly received, it was alleged, a $3000 commission for consummating the deal. The court said:

"There were a great many outside matters injected into the case which did not belong there. We have the fact that the owners or the agent of the land owners employed Mr. Parkford and he is criticised for doing that. Mr. Parkford is criticised for accepting his employment. It is not a matter that affects this proceeding at all. My own opinion is that Mr. Parkford is subject to very severe criticism for the part that he played in this matter. But it does not in any way invalidate, that I can see, the claim, and that matter does not in any way alter the legality of the proceedings."

Under the ruling of the court the trial, which lasted several days, was halted and the defendants, including County Auditor S. G. Berger, County Treasurer M. W. H. Williams and the Supervisors and others, won.

Attorneys C. H. Phillips and R. B. Goodcell announced tonight that at appeal will be made to the Supreme Court on the non-suit decision of Judge Curtis and also because of the fact that he sustained the objection of the defendants that no testimony be introduced to show the purpose of the Supervisors in purchasing so much land for a hospital site.

Long Beach.

THIRSTY BEACH MEN REJOICING.

Suit-case Brigade Need Fear no More Raids.

Former City Official Protests Work of Engineers.

Angeleno Bridegroom Forgets to Sign for Wife.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 29.—This city's "extra dry" charter was hit a hard jolt by the decision of the Appellate Court that cities cannot legally enforce laws making it a misdemeanor for one to have liquor in his possession. Therefore, the "suit-case brigade" is rejoicing.

Although the municipal law is not strictly enforced, police are given power by the new charter to arrest one carrying beer or other liquors when it is the opinion of the police that such liquor is to be used in violation of the charter. A resident carrying a suit case may be halted and the suit case searched for contraband wet goods.

Hundreds of bottles of beer come into the city every day via the suit case and electric car route, but in getting off the car at this end of the buyers have been extremely careful not to let the bottles jingle, lest an emissary of the law carry out the letter of the charter and arrest the bearer. Now, however, the man who imports a small quantity of liquor for his own use breathes freer.

MAKES COMPLAINT.

F. S. Craig, former president of the Public Works Board, has protested to the City Commissioners against the further employment of Olmstead and Gillelen, consulting engineers, on the sewer system. He asks also that no further salary be given the engineers until they correct alleged errors in the sewer plans.

Craig charges the engineers with inefficiency and neglect of their work in not making provisions for Ys in the main sewer lines so that residents could connect therewith. He stated that the only means of connection with the sewer mains is through the manhole at each street intersection. The matter was taken under advisement by the commissioners.

SOMEWHAT FLUSTERED.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ahrens, a young bridal couple from Los Angeles, arrived at Hotel Virginia last night. Mrs. Ahrens was Miss Ione G. Campbell, well known in Los Angeles society, before her marriage. At the desk the groom, with a bored look, registered for himself only and hurried away.

The clerk sent a bellboy after him, and, when he blushingly returned, was requested to sign his wife's name also. The embarrassed bridegroom grasped the pen, dipped the wrong end into the ink and made a blot on the register trying to write. He apologized for his carelessness, and, using a fresh pen, hurriedly wrote his wife's name for the first time.

BEACH BRIEFS.

Thieves who take nothing but clothing have been bothering residents of the east side. Last night they entered the home of George L. Craig, No. 2035 East Ocean avenue, and made away with several costly women's garments. They had packed three suit cases with more apparel, but were frightened away. Mrs. M. H. Kuhn, No. 1235 East Ocean avenue, reported that probably the same burglar entered her place and got away with three overcoats, a woman's fur coat and two men's English coats.

The aeroplane with which Aviator Cal Rogers, now deceased, finished his flight across the continent, the flying ending at Long Beach, has been bought by the Cal Rogers Monument Association and presented to the city. The machine is now being installed in the sun parlor.

En route to Europe the steamer Navajo, owned and built here, stopped here while new propeller blades were installed. A huge United States flag is painted on her sides and the words, "United States," are seen in large letters on her hull. She will carry grain to England.

Robert Moody, wealthy resident of this city, 79 years old, died of apoplexy at Canadian, Tex., whence he had gone Wednesday morning on business. He was the owner of the Moody Block, at Pine and Ocean avenues, and much other realty in this city. He was stricken the first day of his arrival in Texas, and a message received by Edward S. McKinney, his son-in-law, told of his end.

The instruction ranged from needlework and psychology to gas engineering, Spanish and cooking. The total enrollment last year was 1175. Supt. Bennett believes that mark will be exceeded this year. The school will be held five nights a week for twenty-four weeks.

RANCHMAN DIES OF EXCITEMENT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, Sept. 29.—Silas Price, aged 63 years, died last night from excitement in a field not far from his house. Price, who was a brother of Anvadore Price, a bean grower in Mound, was taking care of the ranch in the absence of the brother. Yesterday he went to work in the field and on returning found that the house had been ransacked.

He immediately got a lantern and started across the field to get help from a neighbor, Joseph Daly. When he arrived at the Daly home he told that thieves had visited the house and he asked Daly to telephone for the Sheriff, which was done. Price at that time appeared to be much perturbed and Daly tried to get him to sit down and calm himself and rest a bit, but he started back to his own place evidently laboring under great excitement.

Later the officials went out to Price's place but could find nothing of him. While the house showed it had been ransacked, Price was nowhere near to tell them what had been stolen. The officers then started out to hunt him, going towards the Daly house. On the way they found the man lying face downward in the plowed ground, where he had fallen and expired. The extinguished lantern was found beside him.

Price was a miner, prospector and carpenter and had been married but was living apart from his wife.

OXNARD, Sept. 29.—A fall fashion show, in which all merchants handling lines of women's apparel will participate, has been announced for October 7. The spring and fall fashion shows have been made annual events by the merchants, and have been very successful. The use of living models, elaborate decorations, and in some cases the serving of refreshments, have characterized previous shows.

Tell your musical friends Wolfe is coming!

and violin-playing are alike. When the sleighing is fine and you have your best girl by your side and with one hand are driving a lively stepper, your sleigh glides so smoothly that it seems to run itself; as a little girl who heard Ole Bull play his famous da Salo said: "His violin plays itself." But when your sleigh strikes the bare mud that is the new, unresponsive, iron-toned violin that an artist could enjoy playing on with an ax.

Many times have the great Italian violins that sell for $10,000 and up been taken apart in hopes of discovering the secret of their sweet tone. In violin publications makers explain different theories about the cause of that tone and many have tried to learn its secret. Mr. Wolfe would not give up experimenting until he understood that cause. He discovered that while there are many fine points in the making of a violin with the clear, rich, reedy, Italian tone, they all are capable of demonstration. That is if a rule is true on any point of violin-making, then to go opposite from that rule must mean failure in that point or quality of the instrument. Unless a rule or theory can in this way be proved true and its opposite false, it is only a guess. All that Mr. Wolfe has discovered about the violin can in this way be proved true. He has also discovered how an instrument can be so constructed as to make it responsive from the first day and yet have resistance so that it cannot play-out. He can demonstrate this with any new violin that has been properly constructed. No violins for sale and will not make any for sale. He will explain his ideas so as to get credit (glory) for his discoveries and any who wish can use them. Ladies can and have made violins for their own public use. Violin-lovers should be sure to hear Mr. Wolfe talk on violins.

ANTI-KAMNIA TABLETS FOR Locomotor Ataxia

In a very interesting article on Locomotor Ataxia, Dr. Henry C. Story says that drugs have practically no beneficial effect in these cases. He says that rest should be insisted upon, and there should be no worries or troubles. Plenty of fresh air and moderate exercise must be insisted upon, but overexertion is injurious. The use of tobacco and alcohol should be strictly forbidden, and over-eating is dangerous, especially when the food is poorly masticated. The food must be of the most nourishing kind, and the quantity and variety must be changed so that the patient will not lose his appetite. The most annoying symptom in these cases is the pain which at times is almost unbearable. Dr. Story says that he finds two Anti-kamnia Tablets repeated in an hour if necessary, gives prompt relief and rest to the patient. These Tablets can be obtained at all druggists in any quantity desired. Ask for A-K Tablets.

Also unexcelled for headaches, neuralgia and all Pain.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LANCASTER, Sept. 29.—Work on transforming the large Whidden warehouse into a modern exposition building for the Antelope Valley fair, to be held October 8-9, was begun today by a staff of men under the direction of J. E. Crane, chairman of the Exhibit Committee. Many entries have already been received and should they continue to pour in as they have the past week the capacity of the large building will be completely taxed, although it covers a space of 208x56 feet. Features of the fair will be lectures given on rice, sugar beets, dairying, etc., by specialists from the Berkeley University; on poultry, by one of the lecturers at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, and a talk on practical wheat raising by George H. Martin of Los Angeles.

WOMAN ACQUITTED.

NILAND, Sept. 29.—Mrs. T. M. Holland, wife of an eastern attorney, was today acquitted of a misdemeanor charge growing out of her having taken a rifle shot at a negro named Smith here some months ago for his refusal to keep Justice King's horse out of her onion patch. The charge was reduced from assault with intent to commit murder. One witness said Justice King had advised the negro to approach Mrs. Holland with a razor, another said King advised a wooden razor, but King testified he had never mentioned any razor to the negro.

WAR STOCKS AGAIN SOAR.

COMPLETION OF LOAN INCENTIVE TO GENERAL BUYING.

Later, However, Prices Begin to Tumble and Before the Closing Nearly Every Gain is Wiped Out and in Some Instances Losses Scored.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Completion of the preliminaries connected with flotation of the Anglo-French loan was used as a lever for another extravagant movement in special stocks today, but gains were largely, if not wholly, obliterated before the close, the weight of realizing sales overcoming absorptive capacity. All records of recent years as to activity, breadth and extent were surpassed in the first half of the session, at which time quotations were at highest levels. Trading slackened later with the general recession of prices, but to tal transactions again approximated the large total of 1,575,000 shares. A temporary rise of 1 to 2 points in railways and other issues, which once ruled as speculative favorites, was regarded as a cloak for liquidation in less stable quarters of the list. Specialties, especially those of the more direct war variety, derived some of today's added strength from the revival of rumors of new deals or mergers. Included among the specialties which broke all previous high records were Continental Can up 17¼ at 111, Lackawanna Steel 13 at 84¾, Crucible Steel 8¼ at 109¾, Tennessee Copper 7¾ at 68, and American Car and Foundry 4¼ at 83. Some of these maximums were reduced by 8 to 9 points, while other active specialties closed at actual losses. Foreign exchange reflected by its strength the settlement of the details of the international loan, but offerings of bills on London and Paris were relatively light. Bonds were irregular, with some selling of high-grade issues in the later dealings. Total sales, par value, aggregated $6,750,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Oil Issues Dominate Trading—Home Telephone Preferred Weaker—Mining Securities Inactive.

High-priced securities dominated the trading on the stock exchange yesterday and the oil issues were in heavy demand. Union showed weakness when twenty shares changed hands at 57.87½, and Provident was rather unsteady at 57.00, closing off at 56.87½. Amalgamated, on the contrary, was very strong and twenty shares were transferred off board at 78.50 a share. Associated held its market at 50.25 and United was in some demand at 18. Considerable interest was exhibited in Home Telephone common, over 100 shares selling at the firm quotation of 20.00. The preferred stock, however, developed weakness in the afternoon and sold down with each sale. There was little activity among the mining offerings, a few shares of Big Jim selling on an unchanged market. Los Angeles Investment has shown increased strength during the past few days and was a fair trader yesterday at the consistent price of 39 a share. An informal sale of four Home Telephone refunding 5's was recorded at 82, a gain of one-quarter of a point over the previous day's close.

NEWS FROM WAR AFFECTS WHEAT.

OPENING IS STRONG BUT THE CLOSE IS LOWER.

Reports the Dardanelles May Soon Fall and Larger Receipts in the Northwest Cause General Selling with a Consequent Loss of Nearly a Cent and a Half.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Wheat underwent a bearish reaction today, largely in consequence of reports which suggested a growing likelihood of the opening of the Dardanelles. The market closed unsettled, 1 to 1¾ net lower, with December at 94⅝@94¾ and May at 97¼@97⅝. Corn lost ⅛@¼ and oats a shade to 1¼. In provisions the result ranged from 7½ decline to a rise of 2½. Heaviness, which prevailed in the wheat market during most of the day was in decided contrast with strength shown at the outset. In the early trade wet weather Northwest and forecast of more had seemed to threaten delay to the spring crop, and there were advices of higher prices at Liverpool on account of difficulty in obtaining adequate supplies. The consequent upturn in quotations here, however, proved brief. Notices that receipts in the Northwest showed material enlargement instead of a falling off was followed by a renewal of gossip that the Canadian duty on wheat might be abolished for six months by an order in council, as in 1912. Then came word that foreigners at the seaboard were reselling domestic spring wheat and taking in exchange equal amounts of Manitoba. Attention to the possibility of the Dardanelles being again opened to Russia's vast supply of stored wheat finally resulted in a majority of dealers turning decidedly to the bear side. There was a rush by longs to unload and by shorts to reinstate lines. Subsequently rallies were slight. Corn sagged under the influence of talk about Argentine competition and because of the downturn in wheat. Cold weather and predictions of frost failed to have any lasting bullish effect. Oats merely reflected the weakness of other grain. Trade was light. Packers' buying relieved provisions. The market at first was in hands of the bears, owing to a temporary decline in the hog market.

THEOSOPHY GETS THE SPOTLIGHT.

TWO LETTERS INJECT IT INTO DIVORCE ACTION.

Advice About Marriage Relation is in Subject Matter of Both Missives, Though Wife Denies One was Ever Sent—Sister Involved in Action May Testify Today.

Theosophy and the name of Mrs. Tingley were injected yesterday into the divorce suit of Mrs. Mary Peirce Burns against Dr. Ralph Ellis Burns, on trial before Judge Monroe. Mrs. Burns had declared that the cause of her domestic trouble was the affection of her husband for her sister, Sue Pierce. Dr. Burns, she said, became cold and indifferent.

Dr. Burns, denying that he held for the sister other than a brotherly affection, asserted the real cause of unhappiness was his wife's desire to join the Point Loma institution and to put their son, Robert, there. This desire he characterized as an hallucination.

Dr. Burns had brought into court copies of leters which he was anxious to introduce. One in particular appeared to show his wife's attitude toward the marriage relation. The letters were marked for identification, and yesterday the court read two of them. One was apparently the copy of a letter written by Mrs. Burns's sister, Alice, who is at Point Loma. Mrs. Burns while on a visit to San Diego asked her sister's advice, but this, she declared, was not in relation to a pending divorce action.

The sister put at the bottom of her letter the injunction to "burn it." It was evident the injunction miscarried, for Dr. Burns made a copy of the letter.

The other letter was the copy of a note to Mrs. Tingley. It was denied the original was ever sent. Mrs. Burns declared emphatically she did not seek Mrs. Tingley's advice on the marriage relation.

In effect, in this letter Mrs. Burns stated she was writing "about my case." She said she wanted to be fair to her husband and to herself. At that time they had been married five years, and, she said, were never particularly happy. Dr. Burns, she asserted, had polished manners, which attracted her to him. He was kind. She said she left home against his wishes.

"I stepped into married life blindly," the letter declares, "as far as these relations are concerned."

"Why did you go to Mrs. Tingley for that arvice?" the court asked Mrs. Burns.

"I was a member of the society," was the answer. "My sister Alice was there."

Dr. Burns testified they had quarreled about Mrs. Tingley. He said he did not like the idea of his wife sending money to Point Loma.

"She believed it proper to take a child, even an infant, and put it at Point Loma," he declared.

"If I do grant a decree," stated the court, "the child won't go there."

A considerable portion of the afternoon was consumed in learning facts about an attack on Mrs. Burns at Palms. She said a thug struck her on the back of the head, producing paralysis. Dr. Burns testified he could find no marks of violence. It was apparent from the drift of the testimony that the doctor was skeptical.

Miss Sue Pierce will probably go on the stand today, when the case will be concluded. In passing, however, Judge Monroe made it plain that after Mrs. Burns had directed her sister to leave the house because of the too great show of affection between Dr. Burns and the young woman, the proper thing for both the latter to do was to let each other alone.

CLAIMS ESTATE.

TWO TRAGEDIES INVOLVED.

Basing her claim to a $30,000 estate on grounds of blood relationship, Mrs. Jessie Clark Newton of New Haven, Ct., filed a petition through an attorney here yesterday, and a contest is expected. The estate was left by Mrs. Margaret T. Clark, who was the widow of Frank E. Clark. Mrs. Newton declares Mr. Clark was her brother, and that he received the property in question from their mother.

Mrs. Margaret Clark committed suicide in 1914, and Frank E. Clark died by his own hand four years ago, according to the records of the Coroner's office.

When Mrs. Clark died she apparently left no heirs. The estate was taken in charge by Public Administrator Bryson and in course of time would have escheated to the State.

Mrs. Newton's claim will be opposed by Mr. Bryson, on the ground that evidence in his possession shows it was acquired by Mr. and Mrs. Clark after their marriage.

MUCH BACK OF DIVORCE.

ROMANCE AND MYSTERY SHIP.

Judge Myers called the divorce suit of Tomlinson against Tomlinson yesterday, heard the testimony of Mrs. Tomlinson and corroborative witnesses, and granted a decree, and did not learn that the suit was the climax of a romance, unfortunate business ventures and a mystery ship.

Mrs. Fannie W. Tomlinson charged Adiel B. Tomlinson with desertion, neglect to provide for her, idleness, profligacy and dissipation. Briefly, her testimony was that she furnished her husband with a considerable sum of money and refused to supply additional sums. He left her, saying, she asserted:

"I won't come back; not in a million years."

The romance took shape when Mr. Tomlinson, a one-time deputy sheriff and later private detective, was employed by Mrs. J. Atkins, the widow of the founder of the Bristol Brass Company of Bristol, Ct., and of the First National Bank of New Haven. Mrs. Atkins came to Los Angeles with her daughter, Fannie, after the death of Mr. Atkins, and fearing burglars, she decided to engage a private watchman.

When fortune came knocking at Mr. Tomlinson's door he was there to open it. It led him to the Atkins home. He became acquainted with Fannie and, friendship ripening into love, they were married in San Diego April 12, 1906. Shortly afterward Mrs. Atkins died, and Mrs. Tomlinson found herself wealthy, inheriting not only the estate left by her father, but the fortune, as well, of her grandmother. Her interests were worth approximately $300,000.

Wealth was not consistent with daily labor. Having ambition to rank among business men, Mr. Tomlinson, according to his wife, sought help from her to embark in a venture. She said he induced her to give him securities worth $75,000. He invested the proceeds and was unfortunate.

The story goes that Mr. Tomlinson left home on a mission and, upon his return, he told a strange story of a trip to Alaska, the sinking of the ship on which he was a passenger and his miraculous preservation, but the loss of all his possessions. His earnest desire was to rehabilitate his fortunes, but at this point, Mrs. Tomlinson objected. So Mr. Tomlinson left home, putting a million-year limit on his return.

Mr. Tomlinson was represented in court, by former Judge York, but made no defense. In his answer he denied all of his wife's allegations. Oscar Lawler was counsel for Mrs. Tomlinson. She owns a splendid country home at Arcadia, and a house in the city. Mr. Tomlinson, according to his counsel, bears an excellent character.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

STAGE FRIGHT CURE. Observing that A. B. Gettleman, a grocer, was apparently stage struck when he was called to tell what he knew of the domestic troubles of a couple seeking divorce, Judge Finlayson yesterday advised him to try the simple rule of "talking to me just as you would to your wife when you are relating the gossip of the day." Mr. Gettleman followed the advice and recovered his composure amazingly.

FILES ANOTHER SUIT. Charged with wrongfully withholding $719 from the Laborers' Fraternal Protective Association, F. A. Dean, former treasurer of the association, was made defendant in a suit filed by Robert T. Hale, W. L. Martin, and other members yesterday. Mr. Dean was charged with embezzlement in the justice's court recently, but he was discharged, the court holding he had not used the money for his own benefit. The evidence showed there was a split in the association and the money was disbursed to one faction. The members are laborers for the street and park departments of the city.

ASSUMES LIABILITY. Admitting liability and absolving the Santa Fe, the Pacific Electric, through Attorney Gortner, moved in Judge Wood's court yesterday to dismiss the $10,000 damage suit of Dean Kline against the Santa Fe. The suit went to trial with the Pacific Electric as the sole defendant. Dean Kline, 18 years old, was one of those injured in a collision between a Pacific Electric car and a Santa Fe train at Aliso street recently. It was shown he had been married two weeks previously. The jury awarded him $1000 damages.

TECHNICAL MATTER. In order that the transfer may be complete, a petition for the dissolution of the Los Angeles Title and Trust Company, now the Los Angeles Title Insurance Company, was filed yesterday. The petition will be heard November 3.

INCORPORATIONS. Green Farms, Inc., incorporators, Wesley C. Green, F. M. Green, W. G. Aldenhagen, B. Holbrook and E. A. Land; capital stock, $20,000; subscribed, $500. The Woman's Order of Esoteric Masonry, incorporators, Emil E. Land, J. H. Eberhard and E. S. Gardner; no capital stock. Bates Steele Mule Company of California, incorporators, F. H. Cole, Harry A. Goodin and Charlotte O. Ferrand; capital stock, $25,000; subscribed, $300; Hebron Bible School Association, incorporators, G. M. Eldridge, H. K. Needham, T. A. Merritt, Amy Rice and Jessie Herrington; no capital stock.

TROUBLE FOR TWO. Deputy Sheriffs Strong and Wright, assisted by a posse of citizens, yesterday arrested Manuel Cota on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that Cota stole several horses from San Gabriel, Montebello and adjacent districts. Louis Abanecia, who is alleged to have held up John Brown and to have robbed him at his oil supply station at Rose Hill, was arrested yesterday on Main street by Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda.

ONE COUNTY PROPOSAL. When the Board of Supervisors met yesterday morning, it was informed by Registrar of Voters McAleer that he had been notified by the City Clerk that the city will submit no proposals to go on the ballot for the October election jointly with the State and county propositions. Proofs of the sample ballot were submitted. There will be but one county proposition—that of the proposed road bonds. The sample ballots are now being printed.

ON ROBBERY CHARGE. Cecil Murray, George Nudson, Louis Abanecia and Joe Galella were arraigned before Justice Brown yesterday on the charge of robbery, and were held, under $5000 bail for each, to appear next Tuesday. It is alleged these four men September 8 robbed M. M. Best of a watch, silver cigarette case, match case and $8 in money.

CHARGE IS DISMISSED. Justice Brown yesterday dismissed the charge against A. E. Gay, who was alleged to have forged the signature of Mrs. Lolo B. Ewoldt to a check for $50.76, given to her by N. H. Middletown. The troubles grew out of complications connected with Mrs. Ewoldt's purchase of a feather business established by Mr. Gay.

NO HEARING FOR HAAS. The petition of "Rev." Oscar Haas, convicted in Judge Houser's court of swindling, for a hearing in the State Supreme Court has been denied. The District Court of Appeal heard the case and affirmed the judgment of the lower court. Haas was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at San Quentin.

CITY MAY CALL BOND ELECTION.

COUNCIL TURNS FOR AID TO FREEHOLDER BOARD.

Indications that Charter Makers will Ask for Vote on Their Work at Special Poll, and then Bond Propositions and Initiatives go on Ballot—Maybe.

The question of holding a special election at which the five proposed city bond questions will be voted on rests largely with the Board of Freeholders. Preliminary steps were taken yesterday to pass the buck to the charter makers and then tack on the other municipal questions to the charter ballots. Even the members of the Council who have been most ardent supporters of some or all of the bond propositions were noncommital on the question of ordering a special vote at a cost of $30,000, but there were numerous inquiries concerning the status of the charter and the attitude of the Freeholders on the question.

Chairman Wheeler of the Finance Committee addressed a letter to City Attorney Stephens asking for a written opinion as to whether the Council will be required by the charter to call a special election on the charter now in course of construction and whether, in the event a charter election is called the municipal bond propositions and the initiative ordinances already filed may be placed on the ballot.

The charter provision regarding the work of the Board of Freeholders and submission of the new charter says that the Board of Freeholders must file their charter with the City Council and it must be published within fifteen days thereafter. The new charter is to be voted upon at a special election on a date to be designated by the Freeholders, not less than sixty days after completion of publication, or else it goes over until the next general election.

The Board of Freeholders has been working on the theory that the charter question could be tacked on the ballots at the county primary election in 1916 and that, if adopted, it would therefore come before the Legislature which meets in January, 1917. It was argued yesterday, however, that this plan is impossible, from a legal point of view and if the citizens of Los Angeles have an opportunity to vote on the new charter before June, 1917, it must be voted on at a special election to be called by the Freeholders.

No action with reference to a special election is expected in the Council until after a reply to Councilman Wheeler's letter is received from the City Attorney.

The Council yesterday instructed the City Clerk to write the County Supervisors, thanking them for reserving space on the ballots for the city propositions and informing them that the city will not need the space.

VIADUCT WANTED.

TAKE TIME TO PLAN.

Action on the report of the Public Works Committee, recommending a grade crossing over the Pacific Electric tracks at Sherman drive and Sixteenth streets, was postponed four weeks by the Council yesterday. In the meantime efforts will be made to finance the construction of a viaduct. Residents of the neighborhood, who are seeking connection with the city, argued in favor of immediate action towards opening the street at grade. President Betkouski and Councilman Wheeler pointed out that because of the great danger of a grade crossing the Pacific Electric may be expected to fight such a proposition, and, therefore, it would take at least two years to institute and complete condemnation proceedings to open the street. On the other hand, Mr. Wheeler said, it is likely that the construction of a viaduct can be arranged for, so that the work may be done in a few months.

Members of the Public Works Committee assented to the motion to delay action for a month, and representatives of the petitioners living in Lafayette Square again agreed to assist in carrying out plans for building a viaduct instead of a grade crossing. President Betkouski, who visited the site of the proposed crossing Monday, said he believes a grade crossing would be one of the worst in the city because the view of the track is obstructed both ways by high banks.

Contractor on the Carpet.

H. W. Hawley, contractor, who is improving the Arroyo Seco district, was haled before the Council yesterday to explain why he has not made more rapid progress in filling up behind the retaining walls along the bed of the stream. Councilman Roberts was not satisfied with his explanation, and the question was referred to him as a committee of one to report later in the week. Incidentally, Mrs. Lindsey asked the contractor about the noise from the rock crusher near the Loretta-street school. Mr. Hawley said he supposed the noise had been reduced to a point where it was not annoying, but if necessary he will immediately enclose the machinery by constructing a building.

For a Public Defender.

Chairman Roberts of the special committee, appointed by the Council to draft an ordinance creating the position of City Public Defender, will present a report today with an ordinance recommending that the appointment be made by the Mayor subject to confirmation by the Council. The ordinance will provide that the defender shall be an attorney, although at one time it was thought that this provision would be omitted. The enactment of such an ordinance was recommended by Mayor Sebastian, and provision for a salary of $125 a month has been made by the Budget Committee.

Services are Offered.

Dr. Johnson, president of the Municipal Charities Commission, protested to the Council yesterday against that body's action in making appropriations to charitable institutions or individuals without referring the requests to the Charities Commission for investigation and report. He was assured by Chairman Wheeler of the Finance Committee that no appropriations will be made in the future without consulting the Charities Commission.

Bridge Bids are High.

The Board of Public Works reported to the Council yesterday that the lowest bid for repairing the First-street bridge over the Los Angeles River is $250 higher than the $3000 appropriation made by the Council for this work. The board informs the Council, however, that the City Engineer saved $500 on repairs to the Hyperion sewer outlet, and the Council is asked to appropriate half of the saving for the First-street bridge.

LONG CHASE FOR ARSON SUSPECT.

MOTOR CAR PURSUIT LEADS TO REDLANDS AND BACK BUT QUARRY IS TAKEN.

Another step was taken yesterday to disclose the operations of the alleged "arson trust," when W. O. Truax was arrested by Police Detective Bean, at Main and Twenty-ninth streets, after a long chase in automobiles.

Truax formerly was in the jewelry business at San Pedro, but more recently has been conducting a hotel at Calexico. He came from Imperial Valley to Los Angeles several days ago, and stated yesterday that he knew the officers were after him but he had made no special effort to escape arrest.

The fact remains, however, that there was a lively chase yesterday before Truax was arrested. Detective Burns learned that Truax had gone to Redlands. He followed in an auto, arriving at Redlands shortly after Truax. The latter eluded the detective and started on the return trip. He was followed and the two machines raced along, the officers keeping close to that of the man wanted, but not coming up to it until Twenty-ninth and Main streets were reached.

An effort to save his wife in connection with the arson charges which both now face in Oakland will be made by Charles Lester Burright, alleged head of the "arson ring," according to intimations made at the preliminary hearing before Judge Weinman there yesterday. Burright, through his attorney, asked that he be allowed the opportunity to testify as to her innocence, with a stipulation that testimony to that end shall not be used against him. Damaging testimony to show that Mrs. Burright used the name "Mrs. Jeannette Barnes" and secured a $1000 insurance policy on the home burned in Oakland in December, 1914, was introduced, according to Associated Press dispatches. With her at the time, it was said, was a man introduced as "Barnes," declared by witnesses not to be Burright.

COLLAPSES AFTER STORY OF SMASH.

WOMAN WITNESS OF MOTOR CAR FATALITY WRACKED IN COURT HEARING.

K. E. Ahlberg, a capitalist, charged with manslaughter, was before Justice Brown yesterday for his preliminary hearing. This was not completed because of the inability of an important witness to be present, owing to injuries received in the accident on which the case rests. The hearing will be concluded October 14.

The prosecution was in charge of Deputy District Attorney Shelly. It is alleged Ahlberg was drunk and drove an auto at the rate of seventy miles an hour. Besides himself there were in the automobile Miss Louise Murray, a San Bernardino telephone operator; Miss Esther Grace Richmond and George Brown.

It is alleged the car crashed into a sandpile on Wilshire boulevard, August 28, and overturned. Miss Richmond received injuries from which she died within a few hours. Brown was also seriously injured, it was because of his inability to testify that the hearing was continued.

Miss Murray was subpoenaed to testify cross-examination yesterday and collapsed at its conclusion. A statement she made to Police Lieutenant Johnson, and which was read at the Coroner's inquest, declared Ahlberg was driving at high speed, that she begged him to slow down, but he would not, and that the speed was something awful." Yesterday she testified she believed the machine was not going faster than thirty-five miles an hour, but the lack of a windshield made the speed seem greater.

GOVERNMENT BOAT PROVES A FLYER

NEW SMUGGLER CHASER MAKES HIGH SPEED IN TEST; GOES TONIGHT.

The gasoline launch Ellington, recently completed by the Pacific Yacht and Launch Company at Wilmington for the Immigration Service was given a trial trip yesterday, with the most satisfactory results. The run was from the breakwater to Catalina, thence to Bird Rock and back to the breakwater. A speed of twenty miles an hour was maintained.

Later on, to verify the test, the vessel was sent from the breakwater to Long Beach, and the same speed was maintained. The requirements of the contract were for but eighteen miles an hour.

Aboard the Ellington were Capt. Dan Kuykendall, who is to be in command of the craft, and Inspectors Bliss, Scott, Garrity, Cusack and Calley.

The Ellington is now ready for service and it is understood she will put out tonight for a trip down the coast as far as Ensenada.
